Paris Willing to Accept Former Terms of German Chancellor; Refutes Curzon Charges

BY VINCENT SHEEHAN
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, Aug. 13.—Definitely abandoned by its Allies of yesterday, France today turned to Germany for a solution of the reparations problem.

The Foreign Office spent the day preparing epitaphs for the defunct Entente, which served England and France so well for two decades. The first of these epitaphs is the "yellow book" published at 8 o'clock tonight, and containing every note, letter, telegram, conversation and memorandum exchanged by the Allies in London, Paris, Rome, Berlin and Washington during the whole course of negotiations since May 2 which brought the Entente to the present disaster.

But the French government no longer keeps illusions of Great Britain's stand, and negotiations with Germany will be opened as soon as Chancellor Gustav Stresemann makes his anticipated acceptable terms.

The Foreign Office today both publicly and in private conversations with officials declared that France expects much from Herr Stresemann and is willing to accept the terms he proposed last March if he abandons the passive resistance in the Ruhr. But such negotiations must begin within a month, or at the most two months, because the French now see England is swinging into an alliance with Germany which will definitely bar France's way to any understanding with any nation.

It is also suggested that the passive resistance is now so rapidly disappearing with large numbers of Germans working under the French and with thousands paying taxes that in a month Herr Stresemann will not even be obliged to

POLICEMAN IS SHOT BY SUSPECTS

Officer Anderson Wounded by Gunmen Intercepted on East Fourth Street

Attempting to stop two men whom he found in possession of burglary tools, Patrolman J. W. Anderson was shot in the jaw and painfully wounded late last night as he was walking his beat near Fourth and Wall streets. Police Surgeon Dodge said the officer's wound would not prove fatal.

According to the officer's story, he spied the men walking in an alley carrying a sack. He stopped them and examined the contents. The bag contained only ropes, but stuck on the belts of one of the men was an auger, a bit and a jimmy.

When the officer announced his intention of taking them to the Police Station for further examination one of the men pulled a gun and shoved it into the face of Anderson.

"Oh, no; we don't go to the station," the man declared. When the officer made an attempt to draw his gun the thug fired, the bullet entering Anderson's jaw and ranging along the cheek, coming out above his nose.

Anderson returned the fire, but in doing so narrowly missed D. W. Wilson of 226 East Fourth street, whom a few minutes previously he had engaged in conversation. Both Wilson and Anderson gave detectives a good description of the assailants. Squads of officers were searching for the men early today.

Anderson has been a policeman for five years. He is married and lives at 336 South Humphreys avenue.

SISQUOC FOREST FIRE NOW UNDER CONTROL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 13.—The Santa Barbara National Forest fire line extending from Cachama Creek to Grapevine Creek in the Sisquoc region has been at a standstill for almost forty-eight hours, and the stubborn fire which has resisted efforts of 200 fire fighters for two weeks was believed to be under control tonight.

Great clouds of smoke which have been visible for miles were absent today and the rain of ashes which has fallen on Santa Barbara streets for a week had ceased. Reports from forestry officials at the scene of the fire today stated that the entire force of rangers and conscripted men had been moved from Sisquoc River and have been concentrated in the Manzana game refuge where the greatest danger of the fire starting anew existed.

ENGLAND TO ACT ALONE

Assessment Next Step in Plan

None Doubts Entente Ended; Other Allies Sounded as to Procedure

Hope Persists French Will Give Way When Debt Figures Appear

BY JOHN STEELE
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1923, by the Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Aug. 13.—What is the next step? This question is being asked today by everybody in England with regard to the England-France situation. That the Entente is at an end no one doubts. Moreover, no one doubts that England must soon act alone to find some solution for the European mess. The question is, how and how soon?

So far as I can learn action is not likely to be long delayed. Nothing, of course, can be done until France and Belgium reply to Saturday's note but it is not expected that they will delay long about that and it is also expected that their reply will be anything but a blank negative. In anticipation of this Prime Minister Baldwin will return to London from his home on Wednesday or Thursday and a gathering of the Ministers if not a formal Cabinet meeting is almost certain to be held before the end of the week.

If, as it is expected, France and Belgium decline to meet the British views at all, the next step will be to sound out the other Allies and neutrals about the appointment of a commission to assess Germany's capacity to pay and to determine the most convenient method of paying.

SUPPORT FOUND

It is certain that Italy and Japan will agree with Great Britain on this plan and most of the northern neutrals as well. It is hoped that America and some nations of the Little Entente will agre, and all hope is not gone that Belgium may still tire of being tied to the tail of the French military kite.

In any case the British argue that they are now committed to investigate the Germans' capacity to pay. They have declared to France that they only want from France and Germany together enough to pay the American debt. The amount of the American debt is known. When they determine what they can expect to get from Germany they will be able to fix the amount which they are determined France shall pay.

There is still some hope that France will see reason when the matter is presented in terms of dollars and cents and she realizes that the more she wrecks Germany the more Great Britain will demand from her. Until Mr. Baldwin's note was published today few in Great Britain realized how much money France owed Great Britain or that she would make no attempt to pay. It is poined out today that the Britons who went into the war to save France from destruction, and who incurred the American debt in order to be able to finance France, today are being taxed about £16 ($70) per head annually while the French are being taxed only about £8 sterling, 10s.

It is also pointed out that there is no more reason for Great Britain to forgive the French debt than for America to forgive the British debt, the British relations to the French being much the same as that of the Allies to America.

PRESS APPROVES

With the exception of Lord Rothermere's Daily Mail and Lady Bathurst's Morning Post, the English press today is unanimous in its praise of the strength of Mr. Baldwin's note, and demand that it be followed by equally strong action. There is a large school of opinion demanding the immediate withdrawal of the British troops from Cologne, but there is at least an equally large school holding that this would be turning over to France the only security England has for her share of reparations. At any rate this is not likely until an independent commission, which is now almost certain to be set up, has been reported.

A further step which is likely

ALLIES TO ASK DEBT PLAN

French "Yellow Book" Reveals United States Will Be Sounded on Total Repayment Expected

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, Aug. 13.—A "yellow book" of diplomatic documents issued tonight by the French government brings out clearly that the United States ultimately will be asked by the Allies how much of the inter-Allied debts she expects to be paid.

The book contains thirty-seven telegrams and letters, most of them between Premier Poincare and French ambassadors. They are dated from May 2 to August 7, and deal with the Ruhr situation, reparations, debts and the British questionnaire.

WORRIED BY DEBTS

Premier Poincare puts his position plainly in a message on June 12 to the French Ambassador in London. He instructs the Ambassador, among other things, to tell Lord Curzon, the British Foreign Secretary, that "it is the problem of inter-Allied debts which prevents us from telling Germany now the exact amount she owes us."

The message adds:

"The solution of this problem is in the hands of England, first of all, and the United States afterward. The latter can be approached in a common accord by the Allies when they have agreed upon a formula and it has become evident everything depends only upon the attitude of the government at Washington."

REPLY TO BRITISH

The yellow book was issued as a reply to the British action in announcing that the world would be called upon to judge the present situation with regard to Germany. The documents, which hitherto had not been published, consist mostly of instructions to the ambassadors on how to present the French viewpoint on the situation.

They set out in great detail and often in the exact language, declarations already made by the Premier publicly and emphasize M. Poincare's absolute conviction that Germany can pay, must pay and will pay, because France will follow a policy of making it easier to pay than to stand the pressure in the Ruhr.

RUHR NOTE OF BRITAIN INTOLERABLE TO PARIS

France to Make No More Sacrifices, Officials Declare; London Awaits American Verdict

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, Aug. 13.—In spite of the extreme reserve in official circles as to the possible consequences of the British note, conversations with Premier Poincare and his collaborators at the Quai d'Orsay today made it quite clear that little hope is entertained of saving the Entente.

All idea of coming to an agreement with London on the essential features of the reparations problem was long ago abandoned, but it was still thought, until the receipt of the last note, that the British government would give France further opportunity to see what could be done toward forcing Germany to pay. Now, however, it appears to French officials concerned with the reparations question that Great Britain stakes the like of the Entente upon conditions intolerable for France.

NO MORE SACRIFICES

Great Britain's activities in the reparations discussions, said a high official today, have all been in the nature of proposals for sacrifices on the part of France. There is only one more sacrifice, he said, that France is willing to make—she will abandon all claims to reparations payments on account of pensions if Great Britain will do the same. But the British Cabinet, he added, has shown little disposition to take even that small part in concessions to ease the burden on Germany.

The question was raised at the Quai d'Orsay today whether Great Britain was chafing by Germany with proposing arbitration by the International Court at The Hague. Doubts were expressed, however, whether the government of the Reichs would give its approval to such procedure or to a proposal to hand the reparation problem over to the League of Nations.

WORLD OPINION AWAITED

LONDON, Aug. 13.—Great Britain, having drawn aside the heavy curtain of diplomatic secrecy that has shrouded the Allied negotiations regarding the Ruhr and reparations questions in recent months, is expectantly awaiting the effect upon the world.

It is stated that mobilisation of world opinion upon the European issues involved in these questions was one of the chief purposes behind the publication last night of the British Blue Book.

Downing street was obliged to endure but scant suspense in awaiting the reaction to the British note in France, for its came through press channels quickly in the form of no uncertain expressions of anger and disappointment.

However, it is the American reaction that is awaited with particular interest here for it is admitted by government spokesmen that the success of, or failure of any plan for any international commission to determine Germany's paying capacity depends largely upon the participation, either officially or unofficially of the American experts.

It is recalled that Secretary Hughes's suggestion for such a commission was only upon the basis of an invitation from the unified Allies, and, while the British consider such joint action still possible, it is highly improbable, and the present trend of official opinion seems to favor an independent move by the British if, after several weeks, a satisfactory reply has not been received from France.

GASOLINE ON TOBOGGAN

Standard Makes Sweeping Cut

South Dakota Governor's War on Prices Starts Reduction

Midwest Consumers Enjoy Discount of 6.6 Cents Per Gallon

That the gasoline price war in the East would have no effect on the price of "gas" in Los Angeles sold by the Standard Oil Company was the declaration made last night by J. E. Balsley, local manager for the company.

"The price of gasoline in the East, a few cents one way or the other, would hardly effect us out here," said Mr. Balsley. He added that so far as is known at the present time the Standard company is not contemplating another cut in price locally.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, August 13.—The Standard Oil Company of Indiana announced tonight that it will reduce the price of gasoline 6 6-10 cents a gallon throughout its entire territory, effective tomorrow morning. At the same time L. V. Nicholas, head of the National Petroleum Marketers' Association, announced he had notified the independents to reduce prices 5 cents a gallon. The territory affected includes Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Kansas, Missouri and part of Oklahoma. The cut is already effective in South Dakota.

"I notified independents to reduce the price 5 cents," Mr. Nicholas said. "A cut of more than 5 cents is unfair and ruinous. A cut of 6 6-10 cents is as much out of line one way as the present price is the other."

GAS BELOW COST

The new prices were characterized by the Standard Oil Company of Indiana in its announcement as "far below the cost of production and distribution." The Standard Oil Company said in its statement that it had no wish to injure competitors, but was inspired in making the reduction to meet the competition started by Gov. W. H. McMaster of South Dakota and now extending to other State executives.

"The Standard Oil Company of Indiana announces an immediate reduction in the price of gasoline of 6 6-10 cents per gallon, applicable throughout the entire territory in which it does business," the announcement said. "It asserts that the retail prices as made are below the cost of production and distribution.

"The Governor of the State of South Dakota, buying distress gasoline below the cost of production and charging against the State no adequate cost for distribution, is selling gasoline to the public in the State of South Dakota at 16 cents per gallon.

STANDARD MEETS CUT

"The Standard Oil Company of Indiana, operating on its established policy that the customers who purchase its goods should never be compelled to pay a higher price than that maintained and fixed by any competitor, quality and service being considered, has met this price.

"Other State executives and officers of municipalities are suggesting that the South Dakota price be made applicable in their States. Competitors in other States and communities over the territory, also buying distress gasoline below cost of production, have also cut the prices hitherto established and maintained in substantial amounts.

"In establishing the above price the Standard Oil Company of Indiana is not endeavoring to injure any of its competitors in any way.

"It deprecates the stand taken by some of its competitors that the Standard Oil Company of Indiana is endeavoring, by reason of meeting these cuts in prices and these demands for lower prices, to put its competitors out of business.

"The Standard Oil Company of Indiana does not wish to put any competitor out of business, because it feels that competitors are necessary to the successful conduct of its business. It will welcome a change of attitude on the part of all parties concerned resulting in a reasonable price for gasoline which will enable not only it but

COAL HEADS SUMMONED

Coolidge Would Avert Strike

Commission, With Approval of President, Asks Both Sides to Meet

Operators and Workers to Confer in New York on Wednesday

BY ROBERT SMITH
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—The administration today took its first step toward intervention in the anthracite wage agreement controversy.

With the approval of President Coolidge, the Coal Commission sent identical telegrams to John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, and D. Warriner, head of the Anthracite Operators' Committee, requesting that the miners and the operators meet with the commission at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Pennsylvania Hotel in New York.

The stated purpose is to obtain at first hand the latest information as to the likelihood of reaching a wage agreement before the 31st inst., when the present agreement expires. Following the conference the commission will report to President Coolidge as to the possibility of a strike.

In the event that operators and miners show no disposition to resume their negotiations which were broken off some time ago, administration officials then will seek to bring pressure to bear to force a compromise between the contending parties.

NO COMPROMISE PLAN

It is expected that a general conference with the miners and operators and members of the commission in attendance will take place, although it is possible that the commission will decide to confer separately with the two groups before calling them into a general meeting. It is stated that the commission has no compromise proposal to make to the operators and miners at this time. White members of the commission undoubtedly will impress upon them the seriousness of the situation, they are not expected to offer any advice as to what concession should be made by one side or the other. The impression prevails that the commission at no time is likely to ask the operators to agree to the demand of the miners for complete abolishment of the anthracite industry and adoption of the check-off. The commission would approve, it is believed, a renewal of the present wage agreement with some slight increases in wages for certain classes of workers.

Members of the commission have continued to be hopeful up to this time that no strike will take place. They have referred that the operators and miners should get together without governmental intervention. They believe that both sides have been waiting for the government to take a hand in the situation and that something likely was to be worked out before the end of the month.

SEES COOLIDGE FIRST

The telegram was sent to Mr. Lewis and Mr. Warriner following a conference between President Coolidge and George Otis Smith, a member of the Coal Commission. Mr. Smith conferred with the President on Saturday and that night left for Gloucester, Mass., where he consulted yesterday with Chairman Hammond of the commission. Returning to Washington this morning Mr. Smith again saw the President and shortly afterward the telegram was dispatched from the officers of the commission. No announcement on the subject was made from the White House.

President Coolidge discussed the coal situation with others of his advisers during the day. He was closeted with Secretary of Commerce Hoover for a time during the morning and again during the afternoon. Secretary Hoover took

FACES CABINET TODAY

President Coolidge Will Sit in First Session With Official Family

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—From the foot to the head of the big mahogany table in the Cabinet room of the White House, Calvin Coolidge will walk tomorrow.

His progress from the place where he sat as Vice-President through courtesy, to the President's seat will be marked by the same unassuming poise as when he walked to his place in the Massachusetts Legislature or to the Mayor's desk in Northhampton. He has a job to do and he is prepared to go about doing it to the best of his ability, and with a minimum of noise.

Matters of importance press for consideration at Mr. Coolidge's first Cabinet session. There is Mexico, a new statement of policy now being imminent. There is the Ruhr. There are administrative readjustments. There is the growing agitation of the "farm bloc" for a special session of Congress.

From his Cabinet council Mr. Coolidge will go to his first ordeal with several hundred Washington correspondents. He will have to submit to an avalanche of inquiries covering every subject from his favorite breakfast food to his views on the World Court. The President's reputation for reticence must not mislead anyone into believing he will not be as free and frank with information as his editor-President predecessor. He is prepared to meet all questions. He has a conviction the American people have a right to know what the President is doing and thinking. He will answer these questions he believes related properly to his official duty.

"Give Coolidge a chance" is the slogan heard in worth-while circles of the capital. He has impressed everyone most favorably and the tendency of all those not seeking selfish advantage is to permit this quiet unassuming man to have every opportunity to "make good." He has the confidence and good will of the great valuable majority, who have no misgivings about his being able to take care of himself in any circumstances.

GETS PRIZE FOR COTTON

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

YUMA (Ariz.) Aug. 13.—F. A. Stafford, a Gadsden farmer who raised the first bale of cotton of the season, brought the bale to Yuma and sold it at auction. It was bought by Tom Jordan, cotton agent, who paid 26 cents a pound for the 420-pound bale. Mr. Stafford also received a prize of $107 offered by Yuma business men for the first bale.

GREAT VICTORY FOR SOUTHLAND

Government Gives Up Fight Against Espee

Present Control of Central Pacific to Continue

Central Pacific under present leasing provisions. Federal Judges Sanborn, Lewis and Kenyon, in a decision last June in the court at St. Paul, sustained this position of the commission, and held that the Transportation Act conferred on the commission the authority to consent to such a lease and stock ownership.

The Federal government had to decide whether to appeal the case to the Supreme Court of the United States, and delay a final decision for perhaps two more years, or determine to accept the decision of the Federal court at St. Paul and let the Southern Pacific management proceed with its improvements and plans without delaying until after the case could go through the waiting necessary to a Supreme Court review.

In the interests of the entire Coast, the general distribution system served by these lines, and the desire of the administration to stabilize and encourage improvement in commerce and distribution, Mr. Daugherty studied the whole matter and took the papers with him on the western trip to settle the matter while on the west coast.

The death of President Harding made that impracticable and, therefore, the decision is now announced as soon as possible.

DAUGHERTY'S STATEMENT

The statement issued this evening follows:

"Following several conferences with President Coolidge, at which were discussed exhaustively the various administrative questions involved, Atty.-Gen. Daugherty today announced that the government would not take an appeal from the recent decision of the United States court at St. Paul in the Southern Pacific-Central Pacific railroad case.

"In the proceedings last June in the United States court to enforce the mandate of the Supreme Court of the United States that the Southern Pacific be required to surrender its ownership of lease and stock in the Central Pacific system, Judges Sanborn, Lewis and Kenyon decided that the Interstate Commerce Commission had authority to consent to the lease and stock ownership contended for by the Southern Pacific under the provisions of the Transportation Act passed subsequent to the bringing of the original suit by the government.

"The President and the Attorney-General gave considerable study to the various phases of the litigation, the broad policies involved and the necessity for definite action.

"Mr. Daugherty was of the opinion, he explained, that the contentions of the Southern Pacific, the ruling of theInterstate Commerce Commission and the decision of Judges Sanborn, Lewis and Kenyon at St. Paul were well founded, and that the Transportation Act authorizes a transaction of this character between railroads when consented to and approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission after exhaustive hearings at which all interests are heard.

PUBLIC SAFEGUARDED

"Mr. Daugherty also explained that it should be remembered that the Interstate Commerce Commission, which body he regarded as one of the most important and powerful of the administrative agencies of the government, attached definite and positive conditions to its approval and consent in the Southern Pacific-Central Pacific case, which conditions in his judgment, he added, safeguarded the public interest and if not complied with subjected the lease and stock ownership to termination.

"The Attorney-General was of the opinion, he said, that the issue was one of great administrative importance to the country, particularly to that section of the West traversed by the two great railroad systems involved in the litigation. And with the opinion of the Interstate Commerce Commission before him, he added, he had reached the conclusion that it was his duty to end the litigation, and not pray for an appeal to the United States Supreme Court.

"It was a beneficial victory, he further stated, when the government won the case in the Supreme Court, adding that had the government not been successful and acquirement of the character then being urged by the Southern Pacific, without any conditions, probably would have worked a hardship to the community served by the two great rail systems."

DIFFICULTIES TOLD

Mr. Daugherty further explained that "had it not been for the fact that the Interstate Commerce Commission, and such eminent jurists as Judges Sanborn, Lewis andKenyon, had given the fullest and most intelligent consideration to testimony offered by all the interests involved in the case," and that he himself and his colleagues in the Department of Justice had carefully and analytically gone over every phase of the matter from legal and national policy viewpoints until there seemingly remained but one clear-cut course of action compatible with the public interest he probably would have adopted a course of insisting upon an appeal to the Supreme Court. This latter course would have enabled the Supreme Court to take into consideration the question as to whether the Transportation Act, as applicable to the railroads, authorizes the Interstate Commerce Commission to give its approval and consent in cases which, but for the provisions of the Transportation Act, might be held to be in violation of the Sherman Act.

Mr. Daugherty was of the opinion, however, he stated, that Congress in effect by the passage of the Transportation Act and by the enactment of paragraph 2, Section 5, and the enactment of Section 8 amendatory to the Interstate Commerce Act, changed the policy of the government in regard to transactions of this character, and authorized such transactions under governmental authority, observation and control. Prior to the enactment of the Transportation Act, he added, there was no authority for transactions of this character, and such transactions were therefore in violation of the Sherman Act as construed by the United States Supreme Court; and the case at issue originally was presented to the Supreme Court on the law as it stood before the passage of the Transportation Act.

WAS ONLY CAUSE

The Attorney-General was of the opinion that the course taken by the government was the only one that could be observed in the public interest in view of the findings by the court and the Interstate Commerce Commission and the opinions arrived at by himself and his associates in the department especially after he had completed a careful and painstaking survey of conditions in the States of California, Utah, Nevada, Oregon, Colorado, Wyoming, Idaho and Nebraska, traversed by the two great rail systems and the sentiment in those States for a termination of the long drawn-out litigation.

Mr. Daugherty pointed out that the Southern Pacific, in view of the action determined upon by the government, will, according to its declaration to the Interstate Commerce Commission, begin at once the construction of the so-called Natron cut-off line in the State of Oregon at an expenditure of approximately $10,000,000 and that this construction work will be of tremendous value to that State.

FURTHER REASONS

The Attorney-General stated also that the Interstate Commerce Commission had found that to separate the Southern Pacific from the Central Pacific would:

(a) Disturb traffic conditions on the whole Pacific Coast and among the intermountain States.

(b) Increase traffic rates by causing two-line hauls instead of one-line haul in practically the same territory;

(c) leave the Central Pacific without sufficient equipment and without sufficient credit to obtain such equipment (thus creating a car shortage throughout the territory served by the Central Pacific);

(d) Disturb some $240,000,000 of bonds and securities issued or guaranteed by the Southern Pacific and pledged as collateral security.

STAGE LINE IS GIVEN HEARING IN OREGON

PICKWICK OFFICIALS SEEK TO SHOW DRIVERS ARE CAUTIOUS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SALEM (Or.) Aug. 13.—The Pickwick Stages of San Francisco were given a hearing before the Oregon Public Service Commission today on the basis of unofficial complaints against the company, alleging negligence.

The stage company introduced testimony to show that drivers had been cautioned repeatedly to observe State traffic laws, while the State on the other hand introduced testimony to show that two of the company's drivers had been arrested for speeding. An accident near Shedd, Or., where one stage passenger was killed when one of the stages was run down by a train, was recalled.

The commission took the case under advisement.

Herr Fuchs has been provisional president of the Rhineland and Herr Von Raumer is closely identified with industrialist activities. He held the post of Minister of Finance in the Feherenach Cabinet in 1920.

Dr. Otto Gessler, Rudolph Oeser, Dr. Luther and Herr Brauns are holdovers from the Cuno Cabinet, while Herr Radbruch, Herr Giesberts and Herr Schmidt were members of the Wirth Cabinet.

PAYMENT SUSPENDED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PARIS, Aug. 13.—Germany formally notified the Reparations Commission in a letter dated last Saturday and just published today, that all reparation deliveries in kind would cease after that date because of the great expense involved, which it was believed, might jeopardise the pending German gold loan and tax reforms.

Germany announced she had no intention of permanently discontinuing these deliveries, but said her burden must be lightened to "avoid a complete breakdown of the German economic and financial system."

The cessation affects principally those countries that did not participate in the occupation of the Ruhr as such deliveries to France and Belgium ceased soon after the troops entered Essen.

The letter says that the financing of these deliveries "is largely responsible for the budget deficit and inflation," adding:

"Deliveries undertaken up to the present and not yet paid for alone necessitate at the present rate of the mark, an expenditure estimated at 300,000,000,000 marks."

The promise is made that the deliveries will be resumed "as soon as the finances and currency of the Reich are on a firm basis."

CALLS MEETING OF COAL HEADS

a prominent part in the efforts of the administration to settle the coal strike last year and is believed to have gone into the situation with the President at length.

The coal situation undoubtedly will be a leading topic of discussion at tomorrow's Cabinet meeting. Secretary of Labor Davis, who participated in the attempts to settle the strike of last year, is expected to be in attendance at tomorrow's meeting.

POWER IS LIMITED

While President Coolidge has made no statements relative to his program in dealing with the coal situation, those who have talked with him say that he expresses a determination to prevent a strike. No one professes to know exactly what his move would be if all conciliatory efforts prove futile. It is conceded that the President has little actual power in dealing with the situation. He would be able to call a special session of Congress to enact legislation giving executive power to take over the coal mines in times of a strike. Under this program, however, action could not be taken quickly enough to avert a strike.

The coal situation was the principal subject occupying the attention of the President today. Among those who discussed other matters with him were H. M. Lord, director of the budget, Secretary of War Weeks and Speaker Gillette.

The President reappointed James C. Davis as Director-General of Railroads.

LEGION DENIES PART IN BERGDOLL AFFAIR

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Emphatic denial was made today by Col. Calvin Owsley, national commander of the American Legion, that the Legion has any connection with the attempted kidnaping of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll. In an interview last night Bergdoll said the Legion was back of the attempt, and his mother rejoiced that he had killed one of the would-be kidnapers. "I am interested like everyone, in seeing Bergdoll brought back to the United States to complete his punishment," said Col Owsley, but to attempt to abduct him is wrong and un-American. No one connected with the Legion has been authorized to take such a step, and so long as I am commander no one will be."

ARIZONA WOMAN DIES IN BOAT'S STATEROOM

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13.—Mrs. Margaret Gay Ellingston of Tempe, Ariz., died in her stateroom aboard the coastwise liner Harvard, last night, apparently of heart failure it was announced when the Harvard arrived today from Los Angeles Harbor. While changing an oil burner on the Harvard, a few hours before she reached port, Victor Leak and Ray Field, firemen, were severely burned by a furnace flare-back. They were taken to the Marine Hospital here.

HEAVY PACIFIC NAVAL BUDGET

West Coast Gets 67 Per Cent of Appropriations

Experts Decide on Spending Money on Bases

Air Stations Provided for in Reports

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Recognition of the strategic importance of the Pacific was seen today in the approval by the Navy Department of recommendations for a naval board for development of American shore stations.

More than 67 per cent of all appropriations for bases and naval depots and air stations during the next twenty years will go to the erection of first and second lines of support for the Navy in the Pacific under the provisions of the report, which, through the signature of Acting Secretary Roosevelt, became the basic policy of the department.

The board of experts which prepared the plan was headed by Capt. W. L. Willard and was ordered to lay down a definite program which would carry out the precept enunciated by the Rodman board in 1922.

EXPENDITURES OUTLINED

Among the important projects to which the board and the department have given formal approval were:

Naval base, Honolulu, $42,528,000; naval base, San Francisco, $26,529,000; naval base Puget Sound, $23,605,000; naval base, Canal Zone, $1,815,000; naval base, San Diego, $17,101,000.

These projects covering the Western Coast approaches, contemplate the expenditure of about $111,000,000 of the $155,486,000 aggregate of the entire program. Restrained by the five-power naval treaty from further development in the Philippines, Guam and Samoa, the board allotted only a small sum to these points for necessary repair and recommended the concentration of defensive preparations in the Pacific to Hawaii, with the immediate focus of development at Pearl Harbor. The experts agreed that completion of the program for Pearl Harbor was the most pressing now in view and set aside $2,000,000 for this one development.

AIR DEPOTS IN HAWAII

The program for naval air stations, outlined in a supplemental report, called for expenditure of an additional $16,458,000 to be provided in twenty equal annual installments. This report also has been definitely approved by the department. It gave prominent place to air depots in the Hawaiian group, recommending the department to ask for $266,000 in the next appropriation bill as the first installment. The Hawaii main project would be given $2,062,000 in the next budget, and annual allotments of about $3,000,000 for each year between 1923 and 1938 when the work would be completed.

When the commissioners have concluded their work; the conclusions reached will be submitted to the two governments for approval. In the meantime officials here decline to discuss the subject in any way beyond expressing gratification at the progress made toward an agreement.

FIVE KILLED IN COLORADO TRAIN CRASH

Sixteen Are Injured; Two Companies Use the Same Track Due to Washout

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PUEBLO (Colo.) Aug. 13.—Five men were killed and sixteen injured when Colorado and Southern passenger train No. 609 and Santa Fe passenger train No. 6 collided head on at the western outskirts of Fowler, thirty-five miles east of here, at 4:30 a.m. today. All of the dead were trainmen. Passengers on both trains escaped with minor cuts and bruises. The dead are:

A. H. HANSON, La Junta, Colo., engineer.

T. J. PEARSON, La Junta, Colo., fireman.

E. B. KING, Kansas City, Mo., baggageman.

F. H. SCHMANKE, La Junta, engineer.

G. H. Gray, Denver, engineer.

Four of the dead were killed outright. King, the baggageman, died while being rushed to the hospital at La Junta.

Owing to a washout on the Colorado and Southern tracks between Pueblo and Trinidad, the Colorado and Southern train was being detoured over Santa Fe tracks from Pueblo. It is said that the trains were given orders to pass at Hamlet, a small place four miles west of Fowler, and that Engineer Schmanke, on the Colorado and Southern train, went past the meeting place. Schmanke is a Santa Fe engineer and had been placed in charge of the Colorado and Southern train because its engineer was not familiar with the road.

TREE SOUGHT FOR HARDING MEMORIAL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 13.—Steps were taken today by the Chamber of Commerce acting through the governor's office, to obtain a tree from the home of the late President Harding in Ohio for Memorial Grove in Capitol Park. A letter requesting a tree, which would be planted as a perpetual memorial to the late President, was sent through the Governor's office to Harding's brother.

"It is exceedingly fitting," said Irvin Engler, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, "that a tree from President Harding's home be planted in Memorial Grove where services in his memory were conducted on the day he was buried in Marion, O. There are already in the grove trees from almost every battleground of the Civil War and trees from President Mc Kinley's home and the site of Garfield's tomb."

GASOLINE PRICE HITS TOBOGGAN

all of its competitors to enjoy a reasonable profit.

"It realizes that the majority of its competitors are fine business men, entitled to the nicest treatment both by the public and by this company."

The prices in the territory affected will not be uniform as a result of the cut, just as they are not now uniform, because of the varying freight rates. The Chicago price would be 15.4 cents.

GOVERNMENT AROUSED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—The Department of Justice is investigating gasoline prices in various Central and Western States where a price war has developed.

The department's inquiry, it was learned today, was begun after twenty-five oil refineries in the midcontinent field were alleged to have shut down for the month of August. The government, officials said, was seeking to determine whether there had been combination in restraint of trade in interstate commerce.

PRODUCTNON HEAVY

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—"Due to the influx of California oil and gasoline in large shipments through the Panama Canal to Atlantic ports, the refineries east of the Rockies have been forced to sell below cost of production and are in consequence in danger of going out of business," Aubrey G. Maguire, president of the Bartles-Maguire Oil Company, declared.

George F. O'Neil, president of the O'Neil Oil and Paint Company, in a statement said that "at the present time many refineries in Oklahoma are closing down for thirty days and a large number of smaller refineries are on the verge of bankruptcy." Unless they can be protected and can set a price that will equal the cost of producing oil, an important source of the nation's supply would be closed, he said.

He declared it is the elaborate equipment for serving the public that gasoline companies must maintain in order to compete that is responsible for the apparent high cost of gasoline. Statistics show that over the entire country service stations average 300 gallons a day the year 'round in sales.

"Estimating expense of maintenance of each of these stations at $25 a day, there is an expense of 8 cents a gallon which must be paid by the consumer," he said.

ENVOYS IN MEXICO TO END LABOR

Warren and Payne to Bear Basis of New Treaty to Washington Today

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Commissioners Warren and Payne, who are engaged in formulating the basis of a new treaty with Mexico which will lead to a resumption of complete, friendly relations with the United States, are expected to leave Mexico City for Washington with the tentative draft of an agreement not later than tomorrow.

This agreement must be submitted to both governments for formal acceptance before the work of drafting a treaty can be begun.

The two governments have been in the closest touch with the present negotations from the beginning, so that there is little work necessary to a complete understanding of the terms of the agreement or as to the subsequent steps to be taken. However, the formal process will have to be carried out.

WHEAT PURCHASING CORPORATION SOUGHT

NORTHWESTERN GROWERS URGE ESTABLISHMENT OF FEDERAL BODY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SPOKANE (Wash.) Aug. 13.—Immediate formation of a Federal wheat-purchasing corporation, to be organized by a special session of Congress and capitalized at $500,000,000 was asked in a resolution passed by the special meeting of wheat growers from the Pacific Northwestern States here today. The meeting was attended by nearly 200 farmers, legislators and others interested in the wheat situation.

The resolution as passed also asked licensing and regulation by the proposed corporation of all wheat dealers of the United States. It was passed unanimously after it had been read by J. P. Simpson of Ephrata, Wash., vice-chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee. Another resolution passed requests Secretary Henry Wallace of the Department of Agriculture to conduct Pacific Coast hearings on wheat scaling and grading.

A basic price of $1.75 a bushel could be maintained by the purchasing corporation, the resolution suggests.

MRS. HARDING TO LIVE IN E. B. McLEAN HOME

WILL REMAIN THERE UNTIL GOING TO MARION TO SETTLE ESTATE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Mrs. Harding will leave the White House tomorrow or Wednesday to reside temporarily at the home on the outskirts of Washington, of Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. McLean, it was announced today by George B. Christian, Jr., secretary to the late President Harding.

Mrs. Harding spent today directing the packing of furnishings which she will remove from the White House, and sorting the personal effects of Mr. Harding.

Brig.-Gen. Sawyer, personal physician to the late President, was the only caller at the executive mansion. He reported Mrs. Harding in excellent physical condition.

Although no definite plans have been made for the future, it is understood Mrs. Harding will remain here until her presence is required in Marion in connevtion with the closing of the estate of Mr. Harding.

FRANCE TURNS TO STRESEMANN

Poincare Sees Hope in New German Chancellor

Relinquishes All Hope of Help From Britain

Paris Denies Her War Debts Will be Repudiated

abandon the resistance because it will already have disappeared.

The Yellowbook, like the Yellowbook issued after the declaration of war by Germany in 1914, presents a verbatim report of all negotiations leading to the present situation.

The most startling thing the Yellowbook shows is that Lord Curzon secretly advanced the idea that the occupation of the Ruhr was illegal as long ago as June 12, but upon Premier Poincare's pointing out that the British government was not authorized to pronounce on the legality of an operation which was legalized by the majority of the Reparations Commission, Lord Curzon withdrew the point.

Poincare's instructions to Ambassador Comte De St. Aulaire on June 29, as published in the Yellowbook, were as follows:

"It is necessary to all events that London and Washington as well as Brussels realize the great principles on which we stand. France has no desire for conquest or hegemony in Europe but wishes protection against a new offensive by Germany, as well economically as militarily. She wishes reconstruction of her devastated regions, at which she has had to proceed almost entirely unaided. France is ready to repay the debts contracted during the war, and even though, as already indicated, they are far different in nature from Germany's debt, France is willing to give Germany every concession given France."

France now intends to answer Great Britain's note in detail but without expectation of further conversations. England's next step is expected to be to open negotiations direct with Germany, as according to high authority tonight France intends to use language just as strong as Lord Curzon's language yesterday.

It is pointed out that the terms which Great Britain suggests are more severe than any that Germany ever dared propose in its own daring moments. It amounts to a reduction of France's total reparations to 7,000,000,000 gold marks, ($1,700,000,000,) for devastations which already have cost France nearly ten times that sum—with aid from the American committee—partially to rebuild. Lord Curzon arrived at this solution by limiting France's total to $4,000,000,000 gold marks ($35,500,000,000,) from which he wishes to take 27,000,000,000 gold marks, ($6,750,000,000,) for England and America.

It also is pointed out that Great Britain maintains her devastations were sunken ships and cargoes and the amount was "not less than one-third of France's devastations." France's answer to this is to point out that Great Britain got back at least four times the value of her total shipping losses in Germany's merchant fleet, from which France got nothing.

"From now on no doubt remains that France can depend on nobody but herself to get compensation for her ruined provinces and crippled economic life," was the opinion of one official. "But if our friends become our enemies perhaps our enemies will become our friends. We can at least say that Germany never used language or methods toward France half as unjust as England's language and methods today."

Empie Expected to Recover; Has Fractured Back

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ANAHEIM, Aug. 13.—Hopes for the recovery of Attorney B. Empie, 2036 Moss avenue, Los Angeles, were brightened here this afternoon when an X-ray examination revealed the extent of his injuries received when the airplane he was piloting crashed to the earth near Olive, Sunday afternoon.

The examination revealed that Empie's back was broken and that he suffered from severe internal injuries. Although his spine is broken, it is not crushed and Empie has never lost consciousness.

Empie, accompanied by Walter M. Smith of Redlands, was flying from Redlands to Long Beach at an altitude of 2500 feet when engine trouble developed and the plane went into a nose dive. Smith jumped to safety just before the plane crashed.

FIVE OF WOMAN'S SIX MATES ACCOUNTED FOR

LAST IS SOUGHT IN EFFORT TO HAVE ESTATE SETTLED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Five of Mrs. Minnie Geasnek's six husbands were accounted for today when efforts were made to probate her estate. She died the 2nd inst., leaving no will and her daughter by the second husband, bearing the name of the third husband, managed to get the estate admitted to probate.

Mrs. Geasnek's first husband was John Klaus. She divorced him, but it is not known whether he is dead or living. George Dugdale was No. 2 and she had two children by him. She then divorced him and he died. Adolph Kurth was the third and he was speedily divorced. Then came Frank Diederich, who also was disposed of via the divorce route.

No. 5 was a Mr. Krueger, who also was divorced and is believed to be living. The last husband, Adam Geasnek, has disappeared and his whereabouts are unknown, but efforts are being made to locate him, as he has a dower interest in the estate.

TULSA NOW UNDER RULE OF MILITARY

Gov. Walton Sends Troops Following Flogging of Man Last Friday

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

OKLAHOMA CITY (Okla.) Aug. 13.—Gov. Walton late today issued a proclamation placing the city of Tulsa under martial law. The city goes under the rule at 6 a.m., tomorrow. Guard units from Oklahoma City and Okmulgee were immediately ordered to proceed to Tulsa. Issuance of the proclamation followed flogging of Nathan Hantman of Tulsa last Friday night.

All civilians must be off the streets by 11 o'clock at night and may not appear again until 6 a.m., without special permit from the military authorities it was announced.

The order will not affect the courts or other departments of the civil government, with the exception of the police and the Sheriff's office, Counselor Blake said.

BERGDOLL NO WORRY TO BERLIN

Germans Too Busy With Internal Troubles to Push Kidnaping Case

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH] [Copyright, 1923, Public Ledger]

BERLIN, Aug. 13.—German public opinion is too absorbed in the change of government and the Communist outbreaks to show much indignation over the "violation of German sovereignty" involved in the new attempt to kidnap Grover Bergdoll. The news, however, created a flurry among officials familiar with the condition under which the American detectives, arrested and sentenced for the first kidnaping plot several years ago, were released by the Germans.

Gen. Allen then sent a high officer of his staff from Coblenz to Berlin to negotiate with the German government for mild treatment for the two arrested men, and, according to the Germans, then pledged his honor and that of the army that no more attempts would be made to seize Bergdoll on German soil if the two men were permitted to leave Germany under suspension of sentence.

Germans contend that the pledge has been violated by the organizers of the present attempt and this will make it difficult to obtain mitigation of punishment for the four men, two of them Americans now under arrest for the second attempt to capture Bergdoll, although the German government probably is too anxious now as then, to cultivate American public opinion, to go the full limit of the law against the two Americans.

STATE FARMS' FUND PROGRAM OUTLINED

AGRICULTURAL COUNCIL TO SPEND $727,000 IN FISCAL YEAR

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 13.—James Mills of Hamilton City, chairman of the agricultural council of the State Department of Agriculture, issued a statement here today showing that provisions have been made for expenditures aggregating $727,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1924.

The statement follows:

The regular budget of the State Department of Agriculture for the period, July 1, last, to June 30, 1924, as filed with the State Board of Control, calls for $702,014.50, which is the amount appropriated by the Legislature for the seventy-fifth fiscal year. In addition to this amount, a special budget for $25,000 was filed for predatory animal control work, as this function is covered by special appropriations.

Through an agreement with the Board of Control by the agricultural advisory council, the department has been assured that additional funds for self-supporting functions will be provided when the need arises, provided the income is sufficient and there is necessity for increased expenditures.

The functions which are self-supporting and to which this applies are as follows:

Division of chemistry, meat inspection service, cattle protection service, apple inspection service, shipping point inspection service.

With additional funds for the self-supporting functions and restorations also agreed on for livestock sanitary service, bureau of plant and pest control and markets, the total expenditures are placed at approximately $827,000 for the year ending June 30, 1924.

It is perhaps pertinent to state that for quarantine work, the present budget is $19,000 greater than for the last fiscal year.

When consideration is given to all angles, it is felt that the State Department of Agriculture is in excellent financial condition, and with its continued practice of economy it will be able to cope with its problems in a satisfactory manner.

SPAIN TO START NEW CAMPAIGN IN MOROCCO

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MADRID, Aug. 13.—A new campaign in Morocco to restore Spanish power over the entire Rif territory will begin within twenty days. Gen. Weyler, heading a special commission from the general staff, leaves for Melilla tomorrow to decide an exact plan of campaign which will amount to a new war in Spain's one remaining dependency after one year of troubled peace.

MRS. HARDING BUSY PACKING

She Starts Cleaning Out of President's Desk

Pictures, Gifts and All Have Associative Memories

To Quit White House for E. B. McLean Home

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Fortified by two days of rest and seclusion, Mrs. Harding today entered upon the task of going over the papers and other personal belongings of the late President and deciding their disposition.

It was a trying ordeal. Assisted by George Christian, Jr., her husband's secretary, Mrs. Harding went first to the Executive office, which will be occupied tomorrow by President Coolidge, and made sure that all personal belongings had been removed. She then went through the papers in the President's desk and pointed out photographs and pictures in the Executive office and the library on the second floor which were her own or had been gifts of her husband.

ASSOCIATIVE MEMORIES

With nearly everything she touched were associates and stirring memories which brought home to her more keenly than ever her loss, and all that it will mean to her in the days to come. But Mrs. Harding came through the day with undiminished courage and fortitude. She showed no signs of breaking down, and her physicians and Miss Powderly, the navy nurse, who has been with her through and since her own severe illness and since the late President's death, feel assured now that the physical collapse they feared has ben averted, largely through the exercise of Mrs. Harding's will.

So much progress was made today that, acording to Mr. Christian, Mrs. Harding will complete the work of packing by tomorrow or Wednesday, after which she will accept the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Beale McLean to occupy for a time "Friendship," their summer home near Washington. The McLeans will return to Bar Harbor where they were when news of the death of President Harding brought them hurriedly to Washington.

READY FOR PRESIDENCY

So far as Mrs. Harding is concerned the White House will then be ready for the President and Mrs. Coolidge whenever they choose to take possession. It is quite possible, however, that they will not occupy the residence until September 1 or even later.

It is their wish that Mrs. Harding take all the time she may require in preparing to make her departure, and that the White House and every one in it shall remain at her disposal as long as she may prefer.

There are also to be completed numerous repairs to the building which were uder way during the absence of President and Mrs. Harding.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BUCKEYE (Ariz.) Aug. 13.—F. E. Walkins, owner of a local garage, fixed up a neat little home and then went to Prescott, where he married Miss Minnie Piper. The couple returned by auto, after a mountain honeymoon, to find their new home had been destroyed by fire. Luckily energetic neighbors had saved much of the furniture.

NASHVILLE MAN NEW PIGGLY WIGGLY HEAD

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) Aug. 13.—J. C. Bradford, Nashville financier, tonight was in charge of Piggly Wiggly Stores, Inc., as executive officer, a position surrendered today by Clarence Saunders, founder of Piggly Wiggly and storm center of a financial tempest which has raged for six months as a sequel to Piggly Wiggly's venture into Wall street last April. Saunders, however, is holding his desk as president of the Piggly Wiggly Corporation, the parent organization and holder of the patents under which Piggly Wiggly stores operate.

BRUSH FIRE NEAR VISALIA CONTROLLED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

VISALIA, Aug. 13.—A big brush fire which has been burning in the Kaweah River region sixteen miles northeast of Visalia for the past two days, was reported under control today. More than 2000 acres have been burned over and dry feed valued at several thousand dollars destroyed. Several small orchards and homesteads were threatened for a time. The fire fighters worked in day and night shifts.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13.—Three dead and sixteen injured were yesterday's toll of automobile pleasure seekers of the cities about San Francisco Bay. Those killed were James Ross Curran of San Mateo, Robert Kurpinsky of San Francisco and Annie Milton of San Francisco. The accidents occurred in or near San Francisco and were due to collisions and machines overturning.

GRIFFITH AND COLLINS CENOTAPH IS UNVEILED

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

DUBLIN, Aug. 13.—A temporary cenotaph to the memory of Arthur Griffith and Michael Collins was unveiled on Leinster Lawn, adjoining the government buildings in Merrion street, today, in the presence of Gov.-Gen. Healy, government ministers, Deputies, Senators, army chiefs, distinguished foreign visitors and representatives of the professions and of trade and commerce.

VETERANS GOING ABROAD

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 13.—A delegation of American Legion officials headed by National Commander Owsley will attend the annual conference of the Federation Interallies des Anciens Combatants, commonly known as the "Fidac," to convene at Brussels, Belgium, early in September. The delegation will sail on the Levithan Saturday. The representatives expect to visit the Ruhr, and also plan to be in Paris.

EXCHANGE STILL BARS STUTZ LIST

Officials Insist Motor Shares Must Have Wider Public Distribution

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—The application of the Stutz Motor Company to re-list its stock on the New York Stock Exchange has been denied, it was learned late today. While no official statement could be obtained from Stock Exchange officials it was said that the reason given was "insufficient division of the stock." Stutz stock was stricken from the lists in 1920 when Alan a Ryan "cornered the market."

Control of the company now is in the hands of Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the board of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, who became the leading factor in its affairs after the failure of Mr. Ryan which occurred after the Stutz corner.

It was understood the company's application again to list the stock was formally rejected last week at the meeting of the Board of Governors of the Stock Exchange.

Following its usual practice of making no announcement on such matters, however, nothing was known of the action until today when it was learned that officials of the Stutz company had received a communication from the Stock Exchange suggesting that the application be suspended until the corporation's stock is distributed more widely.

It was stated that the application to list the 28,000 shares outstanding would be renewed at the end of six months when officers of the company expected the stock would be better distributed.

Stock Exchange officials, in confirming its failure to admit the stock to the lists at this time, made it clear that the action should not be construed as a reflection on the company's management or its earning position. The rules of the Exchange require, however, that stocks listed thereon have a wide public distribution.

ARIZONA CONVICTS RUN FLOUR MILL

PRISON OFFICIAL HOPES SOON TO SUPPLY OTHER STATE INSTITUTIONS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

FLORENCE (Ariz.) Aug. 13.—Supt. R. B. Sims of the State penitentiary has installed a fifteen-barrel flouring mill, operated by convicts and fed largely by wheat that has been grown on the prison farm. He hopes to be able soon to supply flour to other State institutions and thus to cut down the cost of administration materially.

Mr. Sims deplores the fact that little work can be found for his 400 charges since their withdrawal from highway work, and states his belief that, with machinery operated by convict labor, the roads could be kept in shape and new paving done at much lower cost than at present.

A new improvement is a water-softening plant, installed by a Los Angeles firm. Removal of lime and alkali from the well water is of large value in saving boiler flues and in the laundry work.

YUCATAN PLANS TO RECEIVE TOURISTS

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PROGRESO (Mex.) Aug. 13.—The State of Yucatan has completed twenty-five miles of modern stone road, connecting the railways with the famous Maya ruins of Chicen Itza. A large tourist trade is expected in the early fall. In order to take care of this traffic the United Railways of Yucatan will operate auto busses in connection with their service.

Other stone roads, totaling about sixty miles, have been constructed as a result of the present government program, and others are being built. These highways are expected to offer an inducement for the railways to establish passenger and freight services.

VICTIM OF THIEVES

Scout Executive's Auto Robbed and Dog Stolen

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

HUNTINGTON PARK, Aug. 13. O. B. Mathews, executive of the San Antonio district of the Boy Scout organizations, can not quite understand why he has been picked out as a victim for thieves. Two or three nights ago, he parked his machine in front of one of the local theaters and when he returned, the battery was missing. Just a few evenings before, the extra tire was stolen from the machine and a few weeks ago, someone visited his home while he was away, and stole his dog.

OPERA SINGER FIGHTS FOR WIFE'S ESTATE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) Aug. 13.—Attorneys for George Westlain Davies, opera singer, and fourth husband of the late Mrs. Julia Woods Davies, today asked the Kansas City Court of Appeals to set aside a recent decision of the Circuit Court at Liberty, Mo., under which would be admitted to probate the will of Mrs. Woods making Harry L. Zeitung of London, Eng., chief beneficiary of her $200,000 estate.

MEXICAN INDUSTRY SLUMPS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MONTEREY (Mex.) Aug. 13.—The production of the Mexican textile industry declined during 1922, largely as a result of the shortage of domestic cotton and the excessive cost of importing American cotton. A second adverse factor was labor trouble, the year having been marked by a succession of strikes. The consumption of cotton is said not to be more than 7000 bales per month, as compared with a former rate of from 12,000 to 14,000 bales per month.

¶ An examination of your eyes, a pair of spherical glasses, in a frame, complete for $2.90. One week only.

¶ Gold or shell frames, torics, fancy shapes and double vision glasses correspondingly low.

¶ So many people think as soon as their eyes trouble them it is a sign that they WILL HAVE TO WEAR GLASSES; this is not so. Many are wearing glasses that never did need them or never did fit them. Properly fitting the eye is the first essential. Good glasses are not a luxury, they are a necessity and properly fitting the eye calls for sound brain work.

¶ My method of fitting is so easy and scientific.

¶ I always try to be reasonable in my charges. No "drops" used. Some of your neighbors are wearing glasses I fitted.

TRAIL BLAZER ANSWERS CALL

Rev. Philip Moxom Dies in Seventy-sixth Year

Long Career as Minister and Fighter is Ended

Foresaw Plans of Kaiser to Crush France

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE]

SPRINGFIELD (Mass.) Aug. 13.—Rev. Dr. Philip Stafford Moxom, pastor emeritus of South Congregational Church, died today in a hospital following a recent breakdown in health. He observed his seventy-fifth birthday last Friday.

Few men in the Christian ministry have had a more active career than Dr. Philip Stafford Moxom. In the pulpit for forty-six years in Ohio and Massachusetts, he was called to many duties outside of his immediate parishes. As lecturer, college preacher and delegate to national and international gatherings, he was widely known. In addition he wrote several books on religious and literary subjects.

Dr. Moxom was most closely identified with the city of Springfield, Mass., where he held the pastorate of the South Congregational Church from 1894 to 1917 and thereafter was pastor emeritus. His earlier pastorates were at Cleveland and Boston.

BORN IN ONTARIO

He was born of English parents at Markham, Ont., on August 10, 1848, his father being a soldier in the British army who came to Canada and later entered the ministry. The family moved to Illinois and the boy, Philip, went into the Civil War as an attendant to a captain in the fifty-eighth Illinois Infantry. He enlisted in the seventeenth Illinois Cavalry when 15 years old and served for the rest of the war.

After the war he studied at Kalamazoo, Mich., College, Shurtleff College, Alton, Ill., and the Rochester Theological Seminary. Meanwhile he taught school one winter and studied law for a time. He was ordained to the ministry in 1871. Brown University gave him the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity in 1892.

Dr. Moxom was university preacher at Harvard from 1894 to 1897 and later was preacher at Yale, Cornell, Vassar and several other colleges.

DENOUNCES KAISER

He was a delegate to several international peace congresses. In 1914 he was a member of the Ecumenical Council in Baden which was broken up by the beginning of the World War. On his return to America he was vigorous in his denunciation of Emperor William.

"If Emperor William says that he had no belligerent intentions against France before the outbreak of the war, he lies," Dr. Moxom declared shortly after landing in Boston. "I was at Constance before the first declaration of war was made. For a week before hostilities started the Germans were preparing for the invasion of France. I am convinced that the Kaiser is carrying out well-matured plans and deliberately invaded Belgium and France for purposes which can be called nothing other than piracy."

MARRIED TWICE

Dr. Moxom was twice married. His first wife was Isabel Elliott of Battle Creek, Mich. She died some years ago and in June, 1920, when he was 72 years old, he was married to Mrs. Jessie B. Daggett of La Grange, Ind., whom he had known for forty years.

He was always active in civic affairs. His interest in outdoor life was shown by his life membership in the Appalachian Mountain Club of Boston, of which he was president for two years. He was enthusiastic over poetry, particularly that of Browning, and after being president of the Boston Browning Society for three years was made an honorary vice-president for life. He was also a member of the National Arts Club of New York and the Arts Club of Washington.

IOWA BANK BANDITS SOUGHT BY POSSES

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE]

REDDING (Iowa) Aug. 13.—Authorities of all Southern Iowa and Northern Missouri counties today joined in a search for five bandits who blew open the safe of the Redding Savings Bank at midnight last night and escaped after a pistol fight with a posse, with about $5000 in cash, bonds and other papers. A number of shots were fired at the bandits as they left the village but it was not ascertained whether members of the party had been wounded. They returned the fire without effect.

NOTAS LOCALES

Detienen Aquí a un Supuesto Timador

Fué arrestado ayer en un hotelito de la Avenida Grand, donde vivía con el nombre de Howard Greason, un individuo que dicen ser Lem Gleason, timador conocido internacionalmente, y a quien las autoridades del Estado de Georgia han estado buscando desde noviembre de 1920, habiendo hecho pesquisas por todo el territorio de cuatro estados. Burt Donaldson, Inspector de la Oficina del Abogado General de Atlanta, fué quien practicó la detención, ayudado por el Teniente Sheriff Sweesy y el Inspector Riemer, del personal del Fiscal. Manifestó el Inspector Donaldson que había pendientes en Atlanta, varios cargos de hurto mayor contra Gleason, existiendo también consignaciones federales contra el mismo individuo, en las que se le acusa de haber usado el correo para estafas. Agregó el Inspector que estaba acusado Gleason de haber defraudado $14,000 por medio de una combinación de correos. Pertenece a un círculo de timadores que acaba de ser disuelto por autoridades federales y locales de Atlanta.

Se Halla Enferma Marjorie Rambeau

Marjorie Rambeau, estrella de las tablas que estaba anunciada para estrenar anoche en el Teatro Majestic su último triunfo de la escena, intitulado "The Goldfish" (El Pez de Colores), se halla enferma en el hospital de San Vicente y se cree sea apendicitis el mal de que sufre. La Srita. Rambeau, en completa salud aparente, salió de San Francisco la noche del domingo con su compañía, y en el curso de esa misma noche le vinieron crueles dolores. Se puso a Los Angeles un mensaje telegráfico pidiendo una ambulancia, la que ayer en la mañana, a la llegada del tren, llevó rápidamente al hospital a la Srita. Rambeau.

DEPORTES

Golf

El nuevo campo de golf del parque Griffith que se abrió el sábado con las debidas ceremonias de inauguración, es de las mejores pistas de Sudcalifornia, tanto por su belleza, como por sus condiciones deportivas. Lo proyectó George C. Thomas, Jr., y no hay ningún otro campo municipal en este país que le supere. Los jugadores de golf de aquí pueden estar orgullosos de esta pista que pueden llamar la suya propia. Ha quedado ya abierta para todo el público, al que cordialmente se invita a jugar allí. Se paga $1 por hacer uso del nuevo campo.

Tennis

Las americanas hicieron chuza en los matches de tennis internacionales que se jugaron ayer en Forest Hills, Nueva York. La Srita. Eleanor Coss, al derrotar a la Sra. Geraldine Beamish, de Inglaterra, en el cuarto match de la serie, logró los honores para América. La anotación fué de 6-2, 0-6, 7-5. La Srita. Wills, joven jugadora de Berkeley, venció a la Sra. Clayton en series seguidas por 6-2, 6-3. La Sra. Mallory y la Srita. Wills ganaron los matches de parejas por 6-3, 6-2, y la Sra. Mallory ganó los nones finales por 6-2, 6-3.

Yates

Centenares de yates se reunirán en San Francisco a fines de este mes para la regata anual de campeonato de la costa del Pacífico. Promete esta prueba ser aun más lucida que la de Santa Bárbara, que tanto éxito tuvo el mes último. Los Angeles está enviando muchos yates al puerto del norte, para que tomen parte en las varias pruebas.

BUY ACREAGE

An Irrigated Farm, Planted to Profitable Juice Grapes or Fruit Orchards, Two Hours from Los Angeles, Can be Bought for

The Price of a Suburban Lot

The last Federal census showed that for the decade ending in 1920 the population of Southern California had increased 81 per cent, of the San Joaquin Valley 56 per cent, and of the Sacramento Valley 23 per cent. That is an amazing showing for the territory tributary to Los Angeles, but it promises to be exceeded in this ten years. The tide of new population flows in ever-increasing volumn into this region.

Southern California Land is King

The basis of permanent prosperity in this great agricultural State is the land. The dependable investment—the safest and surest from the standpoint of income and increased value—is the fruit orchard, grove or vineyard located close to Los Angeles; land that is easily reached by paved boulevards and electric lines and that is fertile and watered by a first-class irrigation system.

Other realty values may fluctuate as local or national conditions change, but productive, irrigated acreage close to a great metropolis cannot but increase steadily and surely in value. Success awaits the man with vision to buy the right kind of land at the right price near Los Angeles.

Most Unusual Bargain in Acreage

The Fontana Estate, 2 hours from the business center of Los Angeles, is the largest, diversified farm in the world and a great coming fruit and poultry center of the Southwest, on which 17 years and $6,000,000 have been spent in development. We are offering tracts of irrigated, highly cultivated vineyard land of 5 acres or more on this famous property at only $500 per acre on easy terms over a 5-year period. A cash payment of only $125 per acre is required; then $25 per acre each year for 3 years; $125 per acre the 4th year $175 per acre the 5th year. We take complete cultural care of your vineyard for the first 3 years absolutely free to you. The price of the land includes full water rights.

There is not, we believe, another irrigated land bargain like this in Southern California. Let us show you these wonderfully productive grape lands, our great irrigation plant costing $1,500,000, our famous White Leghorn poultry farm. Investigate this chance today, for the remaining tracts will soon be off the market. Call, telephone or mail the coupon.

Call at our ground floor display room at 623 Olive Street and see interesting pictorial collection and free moving picture of the Fontana Estate.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Danny Edwards, the California bantamweight and A. Goldstein are down for a twelve-round canter at Long Island City tomorrow night. Edwards showed great form against Frankey Jerome at the New York Velodrome last week and when he finishes Goldstein plans to coax Joe Lynch or Pancho Villa into a little setto.

It has been some time since Benny Valgar showed around the local clubs. But Wednesday night he goes in for a ten-round scramble with Ever Hammer of Chica-

DANNY KRAMER IS OUTPOINTED BY ALEX HART

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 13.—Nate Goldman, product of the Marine Corps, outpointed Bobby Barrett, Philadelphia lightweight, tonight in the first eight-round preliminary to the no-decision engagement between Luis Angel Firpo of the Argentine and Charley Weinert of Newark, N. J., in the opinion of a majority of newspaper men at the ringside. A large crowd was in the National League baseball park to see the contests.

Jeff Smith, Bayonne, N. J., middleweight, outpointed Andy "Kid" Palmer, Philadelphia, in eight rounds, in the opinion of the boxing writers.

Danny Kramer, the left-handed junior lightweight of San Francisco, was outpointed in the eight-round semifinal by Alex Hart of Cleveland, in the opinion of the writers. Hart was five pounds heavier than the Californian. Kramer suffered from a cut over his left eye, made by a glancing right in the first round.

YANKS MAKE CLEAN SWEEP IN INTERNATIONAL TENNIS

RECORD OF COURSE IS SHATTERED

Peter Manning, Champion Trotter, Sets New Mark at Toledo Track

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

TOLEDO (O.) Aug. 13.—Peter Manning, world's champion trotter, and on his record of 1:56 ¼, the fastest harness horse in training, this afternoon broke the track record of 1:58 ¼ made by Nedda last year, trotting the mile in 1:58 ¾, driven by Thomas W. Murphy.

The exhibition was witnessed by I. W. Gleason of Williamsport, Pa., owner of Peter Manning, and W. M. Wright, of Chicago, who bred the champion, and still owns Glendora G., the dam.

The News Bee 2:08 pace, carrying a purse of $3000 feature race of the card went four heats before a decision was reached. Hal Bee took the first heat Merriman, the second and Miss Ellen Todd, the third. Heat winners met in the fourth heat which Miss Ellen Todd took in a furious driving finish in 2:05 1-4.

Just David with Valentine up, took the 2:09 trot by winning all three heats. Diamond Arworthy was second and The Consequence third. The best time for the race was 2:06 1-4.

The 2:14 trot went to Count Bugle, who also took all three heats. Seaguilla took second place and The Great Lullwater third.

Cigarette won the 2:18 pace by winning the first two heats.

FINE POLO TEAM FOR RIVERSIDE

Quartet to be Much Stronger Than Last Year; Stars in the Line-up

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

RIVERSIDE, Aug. 13.—Although Riverside last season placed a quartet in the field which proved its capability of trouncing every polo team aspiring to Pacific Coast honors, other fours of the western loop this coming season will face an even more powerful Riverside team.

Such was the information received here today from Maj. Allan Pinkerton, millionaire sportsman who is expected to return soon from New York, where he has made final arrangements for the appearance on the Pacific Coast this winter of several of the country's fastest polo players.

Among those who this winter will ride under Riverside's colors are Harry East, rated by the national association as one of the highest goal men in the United States and who will captain the Riverside team again this season; Malcolm Stephenson, who already has a brilliant record for his performances in Southern California during past years; Max Fleischmann, the famous Cincinnati star; and Ralph Brooks and J. A. Vickers, two brilliant players who figured in last year's competitions.

Fred Roe, who furnished brilliant opposition last year in many of the contests in which Riverside was represented, already has signified his willingness to hold down No. 3 again.

The Riverside Polo Club this year will have two tournament fields at its Victoria-avenue headquarters, as well as a three-quarter field for practice games and another field at Chemawa Park. Two of these turfs were completed several weeks ago.

AMERICAN WOMEN ROUT BRITISH; ANNEX TROPHY

Helen Wills in Feature Match of Cup Classic

BY FRED HAWTHORNE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FOREST HILLS (L. I. Aug. 13.—Showing again the splendid brand of tennis that had given the United States defending team a clean sweep of three matches on the opening day of play last Saturday, in the international team-match between American and English women, the American players defeated their British cousins this afternoon in the last four matches of the series on the turf courts of the new tennis stadium of the West Side Tennis Club at Forest Hills.

The prediction that this country would set the English team down without the solace of even one match to compensate the fair visitors for their long journey across the Atlantic would have been received with derision, yet that is just what our women players have done, and by decisive margins in a majority of the matches.

MISS GOSS DROPS SET

Miss Eleanor Goss, of the West Side Tennis Club, was the only one of the defending team to drop a set in the singles, which she did in defeating Mrs. Beamish of England by a score of 6-2, 6-4, 7-5 in the first match played today. The English women won one set in the first doubles match played on Saturday but those two sets are the total sum of their victories in the two days' play.

Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, the national champion repeated the triumphs she gained over Miss Kathleen McKane, British champion at Seabright ten days ago, when she conquered the English girl by a score of 6-2, 6-3 today, in the third singles match of the day.

Miss Helen Wills flashed another brilliant performance in vanquishing Mrs. R. C. Clayton of England by a score of 6-2, 6-3, and in the doubles match, Mrs. Mallory and Miss Wills scored without being seriously extended over Mrs. Beamish and Mrs. Clayton, the sets going at 6-3, 6-2 in a match that

Snodgrass Is Victorious at Newport Nets

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEWPORT (R. I.) Aug. 13.—Seeded players and favorites with one exception, swept through their opposition in the early rounds of the seventh renewal of the men's invitation tennis tournament which opened on the Casino courts here today. The exception was S. Howard Voshell, Brooklyn player ranked sixteenth in the United States last year, who was beaten by Philip Vandeventer of Plainfield, N. J., in a long drawn-out struggle, 10-8, 4-6, 8-6.

R. Norris Williams II romped through his match with G. P. Gardiner of Boston, winning 6-3, 6-0. Robert and Howard Kinsey, Pacific Coast stars; Lucien Williams, former intercollegiate champion; Walter Wesbrook of Detroit; Harvey Snodgrass and Manuel Alonso all entered the third round by early round victories.

CALIFORNIANS WIN

Of the three English college players entered only one, C. F. Kingsley, remained in the tournament at the end of the day's play. Amos Wilder and J. N. Lowry both being eliminated in the second round. B. I. C. Norton, South Africa player, easily disposed of W. W. Ingraham of Harvard, 6-4, 6-0, and entered the third round.

Wallace J. Bates, University of California, and Phil Neer, Stanford University, both won their second round matches.

The defeat of Voshell came as a surprise. The Brooklyn player's overhead smashes were conspicuous by their absence. Vandeventer, his conqueror, was tired, however, by the pace set in the match with Voshell, and fell a comparatively easy victim to Arnold W. Jones, 6-4, 6-4.

The match between Lucien Williams and Davies developed early into a deep driving duel. After Davies had captured the first set, 6-3, he became erratic and lost the second set, 6-1 on errors.

Williams's consistent deep forehand drives which landed within

BASEBALL NOTES

And now Charley Deal is on the suspended list. Bill Essick's mandate putting him in that position last Sunday night. The temperamental Deal would probably have joined the Tigers had Essick agreed to make him a free agent at the end of the season. This, the Bengal leader refused to do. Charley is muchly needed by Vernon and would fill in nicely at third. The stubborn veteran will probably see the error of his way shortly and "want in." In the meantime he is in a pretty mix-up as to just where he is going to get the back salary that he claims is due him.

Pitcher Foster, Carl Sawyer and Infielder Gordon Slade were left behind when the Tigers entrained for Salt Lake City last Sunday night.

Johnny Sisto, southpaw pitcher of the Knights of Columbus has been promised a tryout with the Angels this week.

Owing to the long jump from Seattle here, the Angels and Siwashes will be unable to play the opening game of this week's series until tomorrow afternoon.

Shortstop Barney Kearns, who has been with the Mormons since the beginning of the season has been dropped by Manager Duffy Lewis. Marty McGaffigan formerly of Oakland and George Drew a semipro shortstop have been signed up by Lewis.

STATE OF YUCATAN ALL FOR BASEBALL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PROGRESCO, YUCATAN (Mex.) Aug. 13.—The State of Yucatan has gone in strong for baseball and teams have been formed in every city, town and village. Yucatan recently imported 260 baseball outfits for the use of the Socialist Resistance League, which is maintaining several baseball leagues throughout the State. The government printing office in Merida, has translated and printed, in Spanish, American baseball rules, and a physical director has been sent to the United States to qualify himself to supervise baseball instruction in Yucatan.

STAGE REGATTA IN NORTH

Southern California Yachts to Vie With Rivals in San Francisco Event This Month

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13.—Hundreds of yachts, mingling the colors of Los Angeles, Santa Barbara, San Diego and cities of the Northwest, with the burgee of the San Francisco Yacht Club and the pennants of six other clubs on the bay, will race for a score of trophies during the week of August 25 to September 3. The course will be off the San Francisco waterfront, starting and finishing at the Marina, former site of the Panama-Pacific Exposition.

Motor boats, probably including crafts from the Willamette, Sacramento and San Joaquin Rivers, from Los Angeles Harbor and Catalina, will cut the waters of the bay in swift contests. Events will be staged for power boats, sculls, model yachts, fishing boats, navy cutters and any other type that can be rigged up to give a race.

The occasion for this activity will be the Pacific Coast Championship Yachting Regatta and Aquatic Carnival, under the auspices of the Pacific Inter-Club Yachting Association. It will be the third large regatta on the Coast this year and the last and largest meet of the season. The championship races have been sanctioned by the Pacific Coast Yacht Association and winning yachts will be known as the champions of their class. Each will be awarded a trophy engraved "Pacific Coast Champion for 1922."

A stirring feature will be the challenge race between the "California" of the Southern California Yacht Club, and a speedy selection from the R. class fleet of the Corinthian Yacht Club for the perpetual challenge trophy. This will bring a goodly crowd of southern yachtmen to the meet.

Here is a synopsis of the program for the Pacific Coast championship regatta:

Saturday, August 25: Registration of yachtsmen at headquarters, San Francisco Yacht Club. Stag entertainment at Corinthian Yacht Club.

Sunday, August 26: Parade of yachts off San Francisco waterfront. Aquatic sports at Aquatic Park, San Francisco.

Monday, August 27: Yacht races, all classes. Cub class, Star class, S.B.O.P.N. classes; schooner class, yawl class. Handicaps for yachts in four classes, twenty-five to forty feet, are scheduled.

Tuesday, August 28: Motorboat races, all classes.

FISHERMAN'S MOTORBOAT RACE

Wednesday, August 29: Yacht races, all classes. (Same as Monday.)

Thursday, August 30: Rowing and swimming races in Oakland Estuary. 7 p.m., dinner at Fairmont for yachtsmen and their friends.

Friday, August 31: Yacht races, all classes.

Saturday, September 1: Cruises around bay in motorboats for yachtsmen and their friends. Evening: Night in Venice at Belvedere Cove. Illumination of yachts and motorboats for prize. Illuminated floats and barges. Fireworks. Presentation of trophies.

Sunday, September 2: Cruise to Paradise Cove.

Monday, September 3: Return to headquarters.

COLLEGE NET STARS RANKED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Carl H. Fischer, winner of the national intercollegiate lawn tennis championship singles, a student of the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy, has received the ranking of number 1 on the national intercollegiate list. Louis White and Louis Thalheimer, University of Texas, were ranked number 1 in the doubles.

The order for the 1923 intercollegiate singles ranking include:

No. 3, Phil Neer, Leland Stanford; No. 5, Phil Bettens, University of California; No. 8, Wallace Bates, University of California; No. 11, James Davies, Leland Stanford.

The assignment of doubles teams include:

No. 3, Phil Neer-James Davies, Leland Stanford; No. 4, Wallace Bates-Phil Bettens, California.

JOCKEY MEETS DEATH

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

COLUMBUS (O.) Aug. 13.—Jockey Arvin was killed and Jockeys Eames and Byrne were seriously injured in the fifth race at Beulah Park here today when the three horses stumbled and fell.

DAVIS HUNT WINS SOUTHERN TENNIS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) Aug. 13.—Jefferson Davis Hunt of Atlanta, defeated Ed Pfeiffer of Louisville, in the southern tennis championship tournament here today, 6-4, 6-4, 3-6, 6-2.

Miss Ethlyn Legendre of New Orleans, lost her crown as southern women's champion to Mrs. Mary Harding of Louisville, who won the finals in the women's singles, 6-3, 6-4. Miss Legendre has been the South's woman champion for five years.

DINERS WILL DANCE FOR OLDFIELD CUP

Tomorrow night is Barney Oldfield night at the Sunset Inn. At this time merrymakers in the weekly photoplayers' frolic will compete for a trophy which the famous automobile racing driver has donated.

Cliff Durant donated the trophy last Wednesday night, the attendance setting a new record for this popular cafe. The management expects Barney Oldfield night to be a still bigger night.

PETER KLYO WINS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN JOSE, Aug. 13.—Covering the second heat of the 2:10-pace at the local fair grounds this afternoon in 2:07 1-4, Peter Klyo, owned by G. G. Angevine of San Jose, and driven by J. P. Quinn, set what is said to be a new State record for a half-mile track. Klyo took the first heat in 2:09 1-4 and was third in the third heat winning the event.

Thousands of ambitious gridiron stars are doing their stuff in preparation for the start of the season September 22. Some spend their time in lumber camps, others on farms, others try stoking ships, all striving to keep in shape for the coaches' call.

"Pop" Geers has a real racing trotter in My Rosebud, 2:05 3-4, a full sister to Bogalusa, 2:04 1-4, and, like her brother, she can go over any sort of track.

America's First Straight Eight

DUESENBERG

Introduction of the Duesenberg "Eight-in-a-Row" passenger car, equipped with Duesenberg Four-Wheel Hydraulic brakes was the sensation of the Automotive Industry because of the radical departure in design and equipment which marked this quality car.

That was three years ago. Today the Duesenberg Straight Eight is an acknowledged leader among fine cars. The "radical" changes in design that evoked criticism and comment have proved their unqualified worth in the hands of owners, and "Duesenberg" is a name to "conjure with" where, performance, power and appearance are considered.

Break Ground Thursday for Southern California Athletic Club

HOME TO COST TWO MILLION

Impressive Program Marks Construction Start

Eighteen Hundred Members and Friends to Attend

Handsome Structure Largest of Kind in America

At 3 o'clock Thursday will occur ground-breaking exercises for the new $2,000,000 building of the Southern California Athletic and Country Club on Wilshire between Carondelet and Coronado. It will be an event that will go down in history of Los Angeles as marking the beginning of the largest and most ornate club building in America.

An impressive program has been prepared by the board of directors and the speakers, representative of the best interests of Southern California, consist of:

C. S. Reed, president Southern California Athletic and Country Club; Dr. R. B. Von KleinSmid, president University of Southern California; Will G. Farrell, representing the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce; D. W. Pontius, vice-president Pacific Electric Railway Company; Frank Keenan, actor and playwright.

Not only the present 1900 club members are expected to be present, but their friends will be welcome. A battery af news and movie cameras will record the big event for press and screen. A band will enliven the entertainment and the grounds will be well policed and arrangements made that there be no congestion from the parking of automobiles.

This handsome structure will be of class A construction and contain thirteen floors and basement. Lumber is already on the site and preparations being carried out for definite building activities immediately following the day of ground breaking.

COAST GAMES WON AND LOST

Pacific Coast League clubs today enter upon the twentieth week of the 1923 season. Vernon plays at Salt Lake, Oakland at Sacramento, Seattle at San Francisco; Portland and Los Angeles play here, starting tomorrow. DONZA AND RUBIDOUX IN VENICE MAIN GO

Donza and Rubidoux, principals in a main event recently that had the fans clamoring for a return match, will be seen tomorrow evening in the headliner of the Venice American Legion post scraps. If the work being done by both boys in the gymnasium is any criterion then the fans are in for witnessing a whirlwind scrap as both are working like beavers for this event.

The semi-wind-up will give the main event a very close rub for being a wildcat affair. Eddie Randall and "Sailor" Reaume are both clever and hard hitters which means that the battle is liable to terminate on short notice. The balance of the card is composed of very good boys, who are as follows:

Cliff Ramies vs. Manuel Vasquez, 155 pounds.

Jack Spencer vs. "Kid" Louis, 122 pounds.

Pancho Palma vs. Mike Lamar, 118 pounds.

Stanley Shimkus vs. Carl King, 175 pounds.

JOHNNY SCHIFF TO MANAGE FAST PAIR

Johnny Schiff, former local featherweight boxer, has taken under his management George Solis, Salt Lake 126-pounder, and Soldier Brown of Phoenix, Ariz., a classy 128-pound star. Solis has been fighting with wonderful success up north, holding his own with such Boys as Bud Ridey, Tod Morgan, California Joe Lynch and many other topnotchers. Both boys will be seen in action shortly at Vernon or Hollywood rings.

TAPS AT OLD ARENA TONIGHT

Classy Card Puts Finis on Famous Pavilion

Hoppe and Brown to Slug at Jack Doyle's

Frankies, Fighting Demons, in Semi-Wind-up

When the crowd files out of Jack Doyle's historic Vernon fight arena tonight, they will have witnessed the last boxing show to be held in the stadium that has nursed the four-round game to its present healthy state in Southern California. In 1914, Doyle staged his first program of four-round bouts. The fans were slow to take to the new sport, but as the quality of the cards improved the followers of the game increased, and now comes the new Vernon arena, one of the finest fistic stadiums in the country.

Dick Hoppe and Young Brown, popular local lightweights, have been matched in the main event at Vernon tonight. The pair have previously battled twice to a draw, and Matchmaker Wad Wadhams, realizing the popular demand for a rematch, has signed the boys. Hoppe is determined to score a decisive victory tonight, and Brown is equally anxious to come out on the desirable end of the works. Enough to say that both boxers are in excellent shape and should furnish a good scrap.

OH, YOU FRANKIES!

Frankie Novie and Frankie Pico, who several weeks ago fought one of the best slugging matches ever seen at Vernon, have been rematched in the semi-wind-up. Novie earned the decision after four of the toughest rounds he ever stepped through. Pico's supporters are confident that their boy can reverse the tables tonight, and not by a shade, but by a decisive victory. This pair should unfurl a scrap easily the equal of the main event.

Louis Garcia and Jerry Monohan will clash in the feature preliminary. Other bouts on the card as announced by Wad Wadhams are: Red Williams vs. Ernie Owens, 150 pounds; Packey McMullin vs. Paul Wilkins, 128 pounds; Billy Harold vs. Dick Dixon, 118; and Teddy Beller vs. Joe Jico, 128 pounds.

FOHL STILL AFTER AN EXPLANATION

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Lee Fohl, deposed manager of the St. Louis Browns, conferred with President Ban Johnson of the American League today, presumably over the statement made by Phil Ball, president of the St. Louis club, that Fohl was "dismissed for the good of the game."

Since his discharge, Fohl persistently has declared that he wanted an explanation from President Ball what he meant by the statement. Fohl believed it was a reflection on his character.

Neither President Johnson nor the deposed Browns' manager would discuss the result of their conference.

DE PALMA RECOVERING FROM AUTO INJURIES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—A dozen rail birds knocked from their perch by Ralph De Palma's racing car in the twenty-five-mile automobile race on the Hawthorne dirt track yesterday and De Palma himself were recovering today from cuts and bruises suffered when the racing machine crashed through the fence at the west turn.

Howard Wilcox won the race.

Who Makes the Big Money in Oil?

NOT the man who takes the risk—the producer who sinks the expensive well and who deals in crude oil only.

True enough, he sometimes makes a profit. But how do these profits compare with other profits made in the oil industry?

What is the most profitable oil company in the world?

Yet this gigantic corporation actually produces only about forty percent of the oil it refines and markets.

The big companies play safe—just as the banks, the insurance companies and other sound, conservative and stable institutions play safe.

So the big companies go in for that end of the oil industry which is the sure end, based upon sound, fundamental business economics.

They buy at a certain figure, expend so much per barrel and sell the refined product at a considerable profit.

The hazards, the guess work, the producing end, they leave to others! The big, sure profits in oil are made by refining and marketing.

An independent oil company in Southern California, which has operated under the same management for 20 years has built up a business capitalized at $4,000,000.00 in refining, marketing and exporting. The production of crude has been in well balanced proportion. The business has been highly profitable.

This company is in the sure and safe and big profit end of the oil industry.

The position of this Company is such that it can be made one of the largest independent companies in America.

This is the first of a series of messages of interest to careful investors.

ANDY KERR IS ON JOB AGAIN

Stanford Mentor Optimistic Over Cards' Chances

Must Build an Entirely New Backfield This Year

Six Line Veterans to Return to Cardinal Fold

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Aug. 13.—Coach Andrew Kerr, director of all gridiron affairs at Stanford, who yesterday re-established headquarters at the gymnasium here, this afternoon produced a list of fifty-seven most likely candidates for his football squad this fall, six of which there are names of only six veterans, all linemen. Kerr will devote the time from the present until September 15 figuring ways and means for building around the six a team which may make a respectable showing through the tough schedule of conference and nonconference teams which Stanford has mapped out for 1923. His problem, in three words, is this: To find a center to replace Capt. Dudley De Groot; to build reserve strength for the line; and to produce an entirely new backfield.

The six linemen are: Faville and Lidecke, guards; Lidecke and Shipkey, tackles; Dole and Mertz, ends. Many, experienced and aggressive, of the 200-pound guards are considered among the most effective on the Pacific Coast.

Kerr's list adds to the above Hall, Armour, Rogers, Sholes and Whitney, all inexperienced and unknown quantities; to the tackles, Reynolds, Neill, and Potts; and to the ends McDermott, Middleton, Roberts, D. Fuller, F. Fuller and Bauer. Middleton is a light player who hails from Phoenix, who has been very effective despite his weight. McDermott, another Stockton athlete, who played with the 1922 freshmen, is believed to have great possibility.

George Baker ably substituted for De Groot at center in several games last fall, and he has a slight edge for the position over the former freshman, Bob Hunt of Santa Barbara. Hunt is the heavier, weighing 200 pounds, and he could be used somewhere in the line if not over the ball. Van Dusen and Harris are also competitors for this position.

From the above-named players Kerr must develop the new Stanford line as well as its reserve strength.

Unless Bud Woodward, quarterback, returns to college, there will not be a veteran in the Cardinal backfield. And even if Woodward should return, since "Scotchie" Campbell has been elected to lead the 1924 varsity, and since he is of the same type and size required by the Warner system at the key position, he probably will get first chance at calling the plays. Campbell, though captain, is not a veteran, as he started very few games during last season.

Nick Lawson, former Long Beach quarterback, is expected to report at Stanford suit for the first time this fall, and many figure him to be a good bet. Nick Kerwin of Los Angeles and Howard Mitchell, former captain of the championship Berkeley High School eleven, and of the 1922 freshmen, are also in the race. Gilbert Wheat, who has been plugging away for several years, may be another to show his mettle at calling the plays.

SNORT SHRAPNEL

By HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Somewhat battered, by no means a new sensation for them, the Angels are coasting down from Seattle. Neither is the coasting an innovation for them.

Vernon's no less battered Bengals are wearily dragging their lacerated carcasses to Salt Lake. Both symbolize the morning glory at noonday. They looked good and beautiful in the spring.

And another spring will be here with surprising suddenness. Six months from now the clubs will be in their camps. We will hear the same stuff and respond to the same hopes. The latter is what makes life worth while. This year the Coast League race entered the sear and yellow early. With the exception of two or three clubs the returns seem to be about all in.

Still, if the teams not in the race play good ball and show that they are trying, there will be crowds, not in the sense of crowding, but crowds nevertheless. Under certain conditions three are said to constitute a crowd. But in this town you will see fairly large gatherings down to the last day, win or lose. Los Angeles has quite a leisure class; also it is prosperous and the ball park is convenient.

Motoring, which for years inflicted so cruel a thrust on the attendance at baseball games, particularly on Saturday and Sunday, soon will bring a reaction to the great national pastime. The backwash is due as motoring approaches its crest.

Crowded, overtaxed highways on Sundays will not discourage the new motorist, but many to whom the purr of a motor is no longer a novelty, will seek other diversions, including baseball.

Between October and March there should be much interesting reading for the fans. Deals, trades, sales and purchases should pop with machine gun-like regularity. Los Angeles will support a loser probably better than any other city in the circuit. But it loves a winner no less.

Both the Angels and Vernon must be completely overhauled. Never have two teams needed a more complete rehabilitation. They were good old wagons once, and are older now. The addition of a man here or there will not suffice. A complete breaking up of these machines, even though it resulted in no immediate improvement, would be preferable to the present comatose condition.

Each club will need at least ten new men. This is going to cost money, and a lot of it. And there is only one way to obtain the needed talent. That is to renew friendly relations with the majors who control the player market and will for many years to come.

This season the owners have had ample opportunity to prove their contention that they can build from the sandlots and bushes. The results have been merely fantastic. At 75 cents a throw the fans have been given an article of baseball inferior to that for which they formerly paid two-bits. This policy, if continued, will prove expensive economy. Patrons will not continue to pay fancy prices to see inexperienced performers learn to play ball. They can see the same thing for nothing elsewhere.

Los Angeles and Vernon have much business to transact between now and next April. Everybody was fooled last April, including the owners, managers and public. Experience is valuable only when you profit by it.

RUSH THROUGH

In the opening set of the match between Howard Kinsey and Jose Alonso the Spaniard rushed through the opening games and captured the first set, 6-4. After that, however, Kinsey hit his stride and allowed the Spaniard but three of the following fifteen games.

Manuel Alonso and Nathaniel W. Niles, Boston veteran, met little opposition and both entered the fourth round. Watson Washburn and Vincent Richards drew byes in the first round and are scheduled to play their second round matches tomorrow. Carl Fischer of Philadelphia, intercollegiate champion, was forced to default on account of a heavy cold which he contracted at Southampton.

The summary:

FIRST ROUND

Lodius Vandeventer of Plainfield, N. J., defeated Raymond R. Bidwell of Brookline, Mass., 2-6, 6-3, 6-2; Harris D. Fisher of New Rochelle, N. Y., defeated H. T. Pirates Wake Up and Slam Cocky Dodgers

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Washington and Chicago divided a double-header today, the Nationals winning the opener, 5 to 4, and Chicago taking the second game, 3 to 2. Rice's heavy hitting gave Washington the edge in the first game. Sheely's home run in the eighth inning of the second contest with Mostil on base settled the issue, Washington falling one run short in a ninth-inning rally.

Willie Kamm, star third-baseman of the White Sox, was out in uniform today, but was unable to play because of an injury sustained in a game with Philadelphia.

HELEN WILLS IN FEATURE MATCH

STIRRING STRUGGLES

The first-round matches in the women's national singles also were played today on the outer courts, and although the international event largely overshadowed the championship struggles there were many stirring struggles in the opening round with some of the favorites being defeated and others seriously extended before they could come through.

The American and British international teams will take the courts tomorrow and play through two matches in order to catch up with the rest of the field.

The most spectacular tennis of the day, it seemed to me, came in the meeting between Miss Wills and Mrs. Clayton. The English woman was not as steady as she was against Mrs. Mallory on Saturday but this was partly due to the persistent forcing tactics of Miss Wills, who was attacking savagely with splendid forcing drives through deep court, and following for beautiful finishing volleys at the net, although she did not always take advantage of the openings her severe forehand drives made in the opposite court.

The California school girl went on the court with an air of quiet confidence that has not always been her distinguishing characteristic. Her triumph over Miss McKane on Saturday had evidently had a beneficial effect and today she showed us some of the possibilities of her wonderfully versatile style of play.

FORCES DEFENSIVE

Mrs. Clayton, forced on the defensive by Mrs. Willis's relentless attack, was compelled to hurry her own shots, thus losing much of the deadly accuracy of her deep court driving. But do not be misled into thinking that the English girl did not put up a worthy struggle before going down to defeat. More than once she engaged in dazzling driving duels with her American opponent, and came forth with flying colors, but she could not maintain this pace consistently, and each time she faltered, the fair-haired girl from the Pacific Coast advanced a step further on the road that led to victory.

Miss Goss in defeating Mrs. Beamish played unevenly and for a short period in the third and final set her ultimate triumph was in some doubt, after the English woman had squared the match at 5-all. At this point, however, when the danger was greatest the tall American girl steadied beautifully, courageously and battered her way to victory by a magnificent exhibition of tennis in the last two games.

Miss Goss literally took the bit in her teeth at the start of the crucial eleventh game of the set, rushing the net with truly masculine power and overwhelming Mrs. Beamish by smothering volleying shots that sent the ball spinning across forecourt and out of reach of the other. In the last game she stuck to her task tenaciously in the face of Mrs. Beamish's desperate efforts to save herself, broke through service after trailing at 40-30 and ended the match with a dazzling overhand volley to the sideline, and close to the net, for the final point. Mrs. Beamish, who had been forced back to her baseline by a deep swift drive to the corner of side and baseline, was fifteen feet away from the ball when it dropped into court and could not get within reaching distance. An idea of the closeness of this match may be gained when I say that each player won thirteen games, and the points read 80 to 74 in favor of Miss Goss.

EARNS PRAISE

Mrs. Mallory demonstrated once again today, if demonstration were needed, that she is fully worthy of the highest praises that have ever been spoken or written as to her qualities as champion. Again she brought to bear these remarkable characteristics of grim, relentless determination, backed up by splendid court covering and a spirit that would never allow her to admit herself beaten by any shot until the ball was actually out of play.

Within the last ten days Mrs. Mallory has defeated Miss McKane twice in straight sets; Mrs. Clayton twice, by the same margin, and Miss Wills once in a three-set match. Such a record of achievement would be hard to equal by any champion. In the doubles the national singles champion distinguished herself through the two brillintaly fought sets, doing the major share of the work on her side of the net, giving volley for volley, driving with splendid pace and control and forcing many of the openings through which Miss Wills sent the finishing shots with unerring skill.

The English woman fought with courage and with brilliance, but from the start they were fighting a defensive battle with the Americans always attacking from forecourt and the net game triumphed over the back court tactics as was to be expected.

LACKS BEST FORM

Miss McKane has plainly not yet done herself justice since coming to the United States. Whether this is due to climatic difference between this country and her native land, combined with the American ball, which differs in weight and size, from those to which she is accustomed, or the brilliant English girl is not feeling physically fit for a real test of her powers as a player, I am unable to say, but the impression I have gained from watching her play is that Miss McKane at her best is at the least the equal to any woman player in the world with the single exception of Suzanne Lenglen. It is to be hoped that she will yet be able to show us what she is really capable of before she leaves for England.

The results of the national tourney follow:

Mrs. M. R. Huff, Washington, defeated Mrs. Edward Raymond Hartsdale, N. Y., 6-2, 5-7, 7-5.
Mrs. Stuart Green, Ardsley, N. Y. defeated Mrs. B. F. Briggs, Feltham, N. Y., 3-6, 6-2, 6-4.
Miss Edith Sigourney, Boston, defeated Mrs. Katherine Gardner, Boston, 6-4, 7-5.
Miss Mayme MacDonald, Seattle, defeated Mrs. G. B. Stanwix, New York, 6-0, 4-6.
Miss Helen Hooker, Greenwich, Ct., defeated Mrs. E. M. Leachman, San Francisco, 6-3, 8-6, 6-4.
Miss Agnes Sherwood, Rye, N. Y., defeated Miss Florence Sheldon, Montclair, N. J., 6-1, 6-4.
Miss Helen G. Lockhorn, Mamaroneck, N. Y., defeated Mrs. J. S. Taylor, Montclair, N. J., 6-2, 6-2.
Miss Phillis Walsh, Philadelphia, defeated Miss Mary Case, Englewood, N. J., 6-2, 6-3.
Mrs. Percy Wilbourne, New York, defeated Mrs. Nathaniel Dale Noe, 6-1, 6-3.
Mrs. Robert Leroy, New York, defeated Miss Beasie Holden, New York, 6-1 6-0.
Mrs. J. D. Gardiner, Boston, defeated Mrs. Theodore Scott, New York, 6-2, 6-2.

The thirty-eighth renewal of the $10,000 race for 2:12-trotters will occur at Hartford September 6. It is forty years since the Charter Oak purse was first offered, but no races occurred in 1895, 1896 or 1897.

PREVENTION OF DISEASE

Unnatural Living Causes All Ailments, Says Barclay L. Severns in Health Talk

BY BARCLAY L. SEVERNS
Article LXII

It is astonishing how many learned men have given their lives to the study of how to cure diseases; and how few have devoted their time in trying to educate people to the art of preventing disease.

As far back in history as we have any record, concoctions have been made for the cure of disease.

In olden times herbs were used principally; and are still in use by many tribes who have not as yet reached the civilized stage. In remote sections of the country where drug stores are unknown, the simple home remedies are resorted to in case of sickness. But sickness is not so noticeable among such people, as they live nearer to nature. Yet through ignorance of hygiene or sanitary laws; combined with the lack of knowledge regarding food combinations, the effect of their natural out-door life is often lost; and many of those die before their time.

GET THE MONEY

As people became civilized and educated, the spirit of commercialism grew with them. So the concoctions fell into the hands of people who were more interested in making money than they were in curing disease. Therefore, a great many remedies have been manufactured and placed on the market, put up in attractive packages for the sole purpose of making money. However, there have been honest men who have studied and experienced for a life time in the interest of science; and have placed many valuable formulas in the hands of physicians, relieving a great deal of sickness throughout the world.

It would be hard to find a person who could not suggest a remedy and a sure cure for most any ailment you might mention. But if you are sick, go to your physician, don't take the advice of one who knows probably less than yourself.

There are hundreds of remedies on the market to remove surplus fat; others to put on fat. How to rid the system of gas. Cures for indigestion, sour stomach, sick headache, neuralgia, rheumatism, and many others.

BOON TO PUBLIC

If people insist on living in a way to bring on these different ailments, it is a blessing for the masses no doubt, that some one was willing to spend his time working out a formula that would relieve suffering humanity. It is necessary to take drugs when you are in distress; there is no question about that! But it is not necessary to get in that condition.

If you were to use the same lack of common-sense methods to run your business, as that used by most people in running the human body, there would be more business failures in prosperous times than there is during a panic.

People are continually on the lookout for some new discovery that will cure their ailments. If one appears, and the advertisement reads well, they use that familiar phrase, "Well, I am willing to try most anything once." The new discovery may be all that is claimed for it, but the fact still remains the same, the cause has not been eliminated.

DISEASE UNNATURAL

Remember this! All disease is unnatural; and the cause is unnatural living.

A man in my presence today made the statement that he had been on a raw food diet for three weeks. He said his system was cleaned out, and he was free of all gases from which he had suffered continually during the past year; and certainly felt fine; but was glad he could go back to the old beef steak, mashed potatoes and gravy. He could live once like a human being.

"What fools we mortals be," is a wise old saying, and certainly applies to the average person when it comes to eating.

If a proper diet will cleanse the system and eliminate the poisons would it not be more sensible to live on a proper diet every day; and keep the poison out of the system? A proper diet does not mean fasting. A person in perfect health should be able to eat any kind of food in the right combinations.

AUTO AN EXAMPLE

But the automobile will run farther and better with pure gasoline than it will with impure gasoline. The engine will run better with pure oil than impure. If the engine is kept clean in place of waiting until it refuses to run from neglect, the engine will last longer, and give better service.

Why should we give the human engine less attention in the way of fuel than the automobile. That is just what you do when you eat the wrong foods.

As I stated in my article of August 7, nature has provided foods for every condition; for every season of the year; that the body may be kept cool in hot weather and warm in cold weather with the proper diet; also the body may be cleansed in a natural way.

Business firms spend thousands of dollars for efficiency systems and have them installed by experts, for the sole purpose of preventing loss and failure; also to bring in a larger return for the money invested. The same men who make that investment for efficiency in their business refuse to install a system of proper eating and right living for the firm of Heart-Liver & Stomach Co., of which they are president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer.

NOT A JOKE

It is said of a certain car that you can buy small parts at the 5 and 10 cents stores; while for the higher-priced cars you are often compelled to send to the factory for certain parts. But you can get the parts some p'ace. You put your liver or any other vital organ out of commission and there is no factory on the face of this earth that can replace it. When that time arrives in one's life it fails to be a joke; the thumbs drop from the armpits of the vest, the puffed-out chest flattens, and that braggadiocio person who had said a few days previously, "I'm all right," changes his attitude, and the air of fear creeps in and the brave man of yesterday becomes the coward of today through the lack of prevention nd common-sense living.

DANNY KRAMER IS OUTPOINTED

go. Joe Tiplitz, the Philadelphia plugger and Elino Flores are the headliners of the program with Valgar and Hammer.

Most of those fans who are figuring on Johnny Wilson beating Harry Greb when they clash in a fifteen-round battle at the Polo Grounds, August 31, are stringing along on the theory that Greb cannot make the middleweight limit of 160 pounds and still be strong. However, the Pittsburger says it will be a cinch for him to make the weight and remain strong enough to take Wilson's title.

TO GET AUTOMATIC PHONE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 13.—One of the telephone companies in Mexico City has obtained permission from the Department of Communications and Public Works to install automatic telephones. The new equipment is expected about the first of next year.

The tenth national recreation congress will be held at Springfield, Ill., October 8 to 12.

Taylor and Bowen After First Place

Ol' Cy Taylor and Johnny Bowen proved the star team in the fifth round of play in the Southern California doubles championship tourney played last week at the Angelus by climbing to within a fraction of a point of first place.

Phelps and Mitchell are leading with 131.98, while Taylor and Bowen are second with 131.52. The sixth round to be held tomorrow night should be hard fought. The twelve teams are competing for the title and the B. H. Dyas Company gold medals.

Late standings follow:

Phelps and Mitchell, 131.98; Taylor and J. Bowen, 131.52; Grubbing and Lundy, 127.86; Hiuss and Bengast, 126.35; Scott and Warner, 124.44; Paulding and P. Bowen, 121.06; Shay and Turner, 120.76; Hershey and Greer, 119.14; McCubbins and Pettiller, 119.02; Krueger and Rasmussen, 114.75; McKenzie and McKinley, 112.19, and Meador and Torping, 111.04.

BABY AT SAN DIEGO IS NAMED COOLIDGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 13.—San Diego is today believed to bear the distinction of producing the first baby named after Calvin Coolidge, new President of the United States. Samuel Coolidge Yamaguchi is the full name of this distinguished youngster, and he comes of Japanese parentage. The proud father is Yatora Yamaguchi, a truck gardener. The baby was born on the 11th inst., soon after Coolidge took the oath of office. The name of Samuel Coolidge Yamaguchi was officially recorded at the city health department yesterday. The Samuel part of the name is said to have been taken from "Uncle Sam."

Mountaineers Prepare for Tough Season

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MORGANTOWN (W. Va.) Aug. 13.—Dr. C. W. Spears and his West Virginia University football squad are in for a tough season. Last year the Mountaineer eleven went through a hard campaign without a defeat, but this fall the schedule is more difficult and even the team's most ardent supporters do not look for a repetition of 1922 successes.

Although the card contains nine games, three contests are regarded as more important than the others and Coach Spears will "point" his warriors for these battles. Pitt, Penn State and Washington and Jefferson are West Virginia's major opponents this fall and all three games will test the strength and all-round ability of the Mountaineers.

The complete schedule follows:

September 29—West Virginia Wesleyan College at Fairmont, W. Va.
October 6—Allegheny College at Meadville, Pa.
October 13—University of Pittsburg at Pittsburg, Pa.
October 20—Marshall College at Morgantown, W. Va.
October 27—Penn State College at Taylors Landing, New York.
November 3—Rutger's College at Pol

AUSTRIANS PUT FAITH IN KRONE

Feeling of Nation's Stability Found Growing Steadily

Money Formerly Invested Abroad is Returning

Bear Tactics Now Giving Way to Bull Movement

BY DOROTHY THOMPSON
[Copyright, 1923, Public Ledger.]

VIENNA, Aug. 13.—The League of Nations loan of 650,000,000 gold kronen ($115,000,000) to Austria, has, contrary to the prophecies of calamity howlers, been fully subscribed. Indeed, its course upon the world's markets was extremely surprising. In England, where it was first floated, it was several times oversubscribed in the first twenty minutes. In America it was five times oversubscribed almost immediately. In Switzerland it was twenty times oversubscribed.

The part of the loan which Austria agreed to raise internally did not have so satisfactory a history. The loan campaign closed a few days ago; of course, it was subscribed, because the Austrian banks had agreed to take it up fully, but individual private investors fell short, if not of expectations, at least of hopes.

The reason for this, however, does not lie in Austrian doubts; it cannot be interpreted to mean that while foreign nations have a firm belief in the comeback of Austria, Austrians are skeptical. It is true that during the last three years the state of pessimism in Austria has been unrivaled by any country in the world. But this attitude has changed in the most amazing way in the last half year. It is the purpose of this series of articles to describe why it has changed, and what justification there is for the present optimism which prevails everywhere.

OPTIMISM PREVAILS

Optimism does prevail inside Austria today; optimism and faith; and the reason why Austrian private investors did not rally as smartly as might have been hoped to the League of Nations loan was only because so many other Austrian investments offered more tempting returns.

Everywhere, in banks, industries, electric projects, municipal bonds, the market is rising. When J. Pierpont Morgan, together with the English banker Schroeder, obtained 10 per cent of the shares of the Vienna bank Bodenkredit, the value of those shares rose with leaps and bounds; in a month they doubled, and today, from being worth almost nothing figured in a "good" currency, they are worth 70 per cent of their prewar quotation in gold.

Bodenkredit is only one example. Anglo-bank shares have been constantly rising; indeed, it is fair to say that bank shares, almost without exception, have proved money makers for investors during the last six months. If Austrian investors were not anxious to lend money to the Austrian government it was because Austrian private concerns were making a higher bid for Austrian money.

RISE IN AUSTRIAN SHARES

The following table shows the rise in Austrian shares between March and June, 1923, the figures being constructed from an index:

	March	April	May	June
Banks	124	203	309	708
Transport	1,020	1,178	1,445	1,811
Metals	420	465	744	927
Mining industries	17,000	23,344	23,847	28,155
Paper	853	1,186	1,370	1,451
Miscellaneous	571	758	883	1,098

This, then, is the first thing that one observes about Austrian reconstruction, the return of Austrian money to Austria. Up until a year ago there was a consistent, continual flight from Austrian money and Austrian investments. Those people who were making money in Austria turned it as rapidly as possible into foreign values, and invested it elsewhere. Austrian capital went into all the surrounding countries. There was such a money shortage eight months ago that a person with a few thousand dollars could put it out at an enormous weekly interest and live in luxury off the returns. There was a time when as high as 5 per cent per week was paid for money in private transactions in Vienna.

GROWTH OF DEPOSITS

The following table indicates the return of faith in Austria by recording the savings deposited in Vienna savings banks between January, 1922, and April, 1923.

	Milliards Paper kronen	Millions gold kronen
September, 1922	31	8
October	40	5
November	74	8
December	119	11
January, 1923	156	13
February	193	15
March	224	17
April	261	"

In Austria the scriptural observation is strikingly fulfilled that says "To him that hath shall be given."

Another proverb, not scriptural, but equally applicable to the case of Austria, is, "It's an ill wind that blows nobody good." Austria's own ill wind taught her bankers all there is to know about exchanges, and Germany's ill wind gave them an opportunity to use that knowledge.

Two years ago Austrians were threatening to pogrom Jews from Galician Poland who were making fortunes by speculations on the Austrian exchange. It was well-known that the "bearing" of the Austrian krone assisted it in its precipitous downward course, and those speculators who bet on the Austrian decline were roundly cursed.

At this moment it is a sad commentary on the incorrigibility of human nature to have to record that the worst—or, to avoid moralizing, let us say the most successful—speculators on the fall of the German mark are Austrians.

PUSHING DOWN THE MARK

Thus do the Austrians now help the German mark on its downward course by bear speculations. To be sure, many of the millions made in this way have been made by the same emigrants who came to Austria a few years ago from Polan1, and now control many of the banks. What is important, however, from the point of view of Austrian reconstruction, is that the "bear" movement no longer exists here.

The critics of the present situation, those who say that the present boom will not last, find that Austria has borrowed the money at an exceedingly high rate, and foresee that when the time comes that it is necessary to repay, the country will again face catastrophe. Such a critic is Mr. Nathaniel Peffer, who wrote recently about Austria in the New Republic. It should be known, however, that as a matter of fact, the Austrian Republic, which a year ago was self-admittedly bankrupt, actually obtained rather better terms for her loan than the rich Czecho-Slovakian republic did last autumn.

CHILD DIES OF SNAKE BITE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

KEOKUK (Iowa) Aug. 13.—Minnie Alberta Woodward, 12 years of age, living near Farmington, Iowa, died early yesterday of a rattlesnake bite. Another snake crawled through a room where a neighbor was sitting up with the body of the child, and was killed. The Woodward house is believed to be the home of a den of the snakes.

STUDENT CRITICISES WOOD

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WILLIAMSTOWN (Mass.) Aug. 13.—Criticism of Gov.-Gen. Leonard Wood of the Philippines was voiced at the Institute of Politics today in a round-table address by P. M. Blanco, native of the Philippines and a graduate student at Columbia University. He said he was in accord with the request of the Philippine Commission of Independence for the recal of Gen. Wood.

The Governor-General, he continued, had acted within his legal rights but had aroused opposition by his aggressive and independent method of procedure. He asserted that Gen. Wood had sought suppression of the popular will and to place his own will above the majesty of the law and had sought to denationalize national economic organizations, "accepting advice from those American interests that want to exploit our resources on a large scale."

Mr. Blanco expressed the admiration of residents of the Philippines for the United States but contended that the Filipinos now were full grown and capable of steering their own ship of state.

HARDING RETIREMENT PLAN TOLD BY FRIEND

LATE PRESIDENT HAD DECIDED TO ACCEPT OFFER FOR EDITORIAL WORK

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

Washington, Aug. 13.—When death overtook him in San Francisco, President Harding, although apparently confident of his re-election, already had begun to formulate plans against the time when he finally should retire from the White House.

At a private luncheon in a western city before he went to Alaska he told some of his close friends the reasons which had impelled him to dispose of his control in the Marion Star and discussed the part he expected to take in other fields of activity after his public service was over.

As the story was told here today by those who took part in the conversation Mr. Harding said that in all probability he would accept an offer of $25,000 a year made by one of the leading newspapers of the country for editorial contributions. This, he said, would give him a much-desired opportunity of getting his views before the people and assisting in solving national and international problems.

He had also open, he added, an offer of $750 for each speech he might deliver after the expiration of his term as President.

These two offers had caused him to feel that he would be able after leaving the White House to give little personal attention to the editorial management of the Star. He said also that he had sold the Star "because he could not afford to reject the offer" made him, explaining, it was said, that he was to receive for the property in the neighborhood of $500,000.

While it had been earning about $30,000 a year, Mr. Harding suggested it was not probable that he would again receive such an advantageous offer.

OPERATOR CONNECTS KICKER WITH SHERIFF

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SANTA ROSA, Aug. 13.—Because the Sheriff was secretly cut in on the line while Rudolph H. Beache, a Santa Rosa baker, was "cussing down" a telephone operator for poor service Sunday, Beache was sentenced to ten days in jail for disturbing the peace. Beache put in a long-distance call after having experienced an automobile accident yesterday. The exchange was a bit slow and Beache proceeded to tell the operator so in heated words. The operator switched Beache over to the Sheriff.

UNION PACIFIC WILL EXTEND LINE TO BOISE

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

OMAHA, Aug. 13.—Officials of the Union Pacific Railroad system today announced that plans for extension of the company's main line from Orchard to Boise, Idaho, had been completed. For ten years the people of Boise, it was stated, have been requesting that the main line touch Boise instead of cutting across Idaho to the south, leaving that city accessible only by a branch line. Another extension is to be laid from the end of the Rogerson branch in South Idaho to a point 100 miles directly south, where the extension will meet the Southern Pacific in Nevada.

CUBAN RAIL COMBINE IS UNDER FIRE

Hughes Busy Since Sugar Planters Say Merger Law Will be Confiscatory

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Conditions in Cuba were discussed by Secretary Hughes today with Ambassador Crowder, who was called home from Havana for that purpose. The Ambassador spent half an hour in Mr. Hughes's office. No announcement was forthcoming afterward beyond the statement the American government had requested the Cuban government to delay final action on the railway consolidation bill pending in the Cuban Congress until the views of American interests involved could be presented.

Assurance given in Havana today by the Cuban Foreign Minister that the bill would not be voted on in the Senate until such a hearing had been given appeared to pave the way for a full discussion of the measure's effect on American-owned properties in Cuba. While no detailed information has been made available here as to the nature of protests received from American citizens, the question of continued operation of the private railroads of American sugar interests is understood to be the chief matter under discussion. It was said at the State Department that the railway bill was receiving "very careful consideration."

Presumably the contentions of American sugar planters or others who claim that the bill is confiscatory in its application to their property will be fully examined before the State Department takes further action. Should it be found that the proposed law vitiates titles legally acquired, there is ample ground to believe that the Washington government will itself take the matter up and not act merely as the agency through which the arguments of American interests are presented to the Cuban government.

verse, we try to make everything work according to the laws of that intelligence. To study the movements of the planets, belongs to the law of education and experience. To tell why they are here and for what purpose, what makes them travel in their course around the sun, belongs to another mind, which some day we may develop.

Thanks to Sid Grauman

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 10.—[To the Editor of The Times:] As one of the common everyday citizens of Los Angeles, just one of the "folks," I want to publicly thank Mr. Sid Grauman for the inspiring unapproachable memorial service held this noon day in his beautiful temple. I say unapproachable. I have attended three memorial services for Presidents. I was privileged to take part (the committee having assigned me to read the New Testament lessons) in the McKinley memorial service in Delaware-avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, Buffalo. I attended a Roosevelt memorial service at which 7000 people heard eulogies of the fearless President, but today's service in the majestic Metropolitan far surpassed these in pathetic utterance, in soul-stirring music, as well as in interior decorations. Those who are familiar with the splendors of this temple of art can imagine the harmonious setting of the stage, with its added electrically lighted green and golden branches, emblematic of immortality and perfection of manhood as represented by God's nobleman. With this as a background encircling a lifelike portrait of the beloved President, the excellent program of services heartily rendered, the chiming of the bells, the symphony of the great orchestra, the three admirable addresses, the perfect rendition of the late President's favorite hymns, the glorious solo singing of "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth," the quartet of angels near the dome singing "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," and last, but not least, the loud swelling prayer, "Nearer My God to Thee," sung by 4000 devout worshipers, this inspirational service will never be forgotten by those privileged to participate. Mr. Grauman has paid a worthy tribute to a great and good man, and I know I voice the gratitude of the great audience in opening "wide the doors of the temple" to the people. It was a people's service. Personally, it was the most sacred hour I have spent in many years, and I said, "Surely this is the house of God, the fate of heaven."

J. M. WILKINSON.

Notable Anniversary

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 11.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Don't forget that next Monday, the 13th inst., happens to be the twenty-fifth anniversary of the capture of the city of Manila. It was on that day that Admiral Von Dedricks made his supreme bluff by stripping his fleet for action, left his anchorage and faced our fleet in battle formation. Just as Dewey was to open the attack on the city, I might mention, too, that there was a small British fleet there, of which I remember the Powerful and Terrible, both considered to be whales in those days. They did come in on the flank of Von Dedricks. As if to say, Thee be careful, Heiny. He was. The Germans remained long enough to fire the salute at 2:30 that afternoon. It would be well to remind your readers that the armistice was signed on the 12th, which news did not reach Manila until August 15.

DAN SULLIVAN.

Be Good and Get Lonesome

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 5.—[To the Editor of The Times:] "The God of Things as They Ain't" must have an awfully good time amusing himself at the antics of us poor mortals and especially antinarcotic parades and their sponsors. In view of the noise that has been made lately anent narcotics and the dispensers thereof, this little incident may prove entertaining if not enlightening.

I am distantly related to a poor deluded mortal who is a pharmacist and the other night after he had closed the store where he is employed a woman came banging at the door demanding admittance. He told the boy not to open the door, but the boy evidently a dumbbell, promptly let her in. She asked for some laudanum and when the pharmacist told her he could not dispense it without a prescription she told him her prescription was at a competitor's drug store. He tried to make her understand she could not get it, that it was past closing time and he would like to leave the store. She stormed around at great length saying among other things, "A fine drug store where one cannot get medicine for a sick child."

The next morning the proprietor called the pharmacist and asked him if he knew whom he had insulted the night before, informing him the lady was the wife of a prominent minister of this city. The pharmacist was so appalled at the colossal ignorance of anyone demanding a narcotic without a prescription (unless a confirmed addict) that he could not believe it, so called the minister himself and asked if it really was his wife. The minister very curtly replied yes and added the information that they had the prescription now. Not a word of apology for their rude demand of the night before, but instead, in a rather aggrieved tone, regretted that he had not let them have it.

As everyone should know the narcotic laws are very stringent and to my knowledge there are no exemptions made in favor of ministers or their families, and I'll bet my last dollar if he had sold it and any harm had befallen from it that minister would have been the first to denounce him from the pulpit, for it has not been long since I heard this same minister deliver a forceful sermon on a man's duty to the community in which he lives.

To my certain knowledge this pharmacist is trying to be a good citizen for he lost a perfectly good position a while ago because he refused point blank to sell jamaica ginger to a clientele of canned-heat hounds and imported toilet-water guzzlers. So you see being a good citizen is a darned lonesome and thankless job as many of the chiefs of police of Los Angeles have learned to their sorrow.

Question: How can a polish for automobiles be made?

C. W. R.

Answer: A mixture of equal parts of boiled linseed oil and turpentine, applied sparingly with a soft cloth and rubbed till absolutely dry, gives a good polish.

Q.: Who was the first singer to sing "Home, Sweet Home?"

D. K. C.

A.: Miss Marie Tree first sang the song in the opera "Clari, or The Maid of Milan."

Q.: How many grains are there in a pound of wheat?

A. M. P.

A.: There are about 12,500 kernels in a pound of wheat.

Q.: What is the size of a steamer trunk?

F. K. O.

A.: The standard dimensions are 40x15x22 inches.

Q.: How did a frigate differ from other sailing vessels?

A. G.

A.: In the days of wooden war vessels a frigate was a full rigged ship with two decks, and so distinguished from a ship of the line, which had three decks. Frigates were classified according to the number of guns they carried.

Q.: What is Scott Fitzgerald's real name?

M. W. P.

A.: His full name is Francis Scott Key Fitzgerald.

Q.: Where are Gobelin tapestries made?

O. M. L.

A.: The Gobelin tapestry manufactory is in Paris, having been established by Colbert in 1667.

Q.: What is the difference between cutting and drawing cards in playing auction?

G. G. R.

A.: In the technical terminology of auction, drawing cards is the method of determining partners, choice of cards and seats and other questions to be settled by chance; cutting cards is the final operation before they are dealt, when the opponent to right of dealer divides the pack into two portions, the bottom portion being then placed on top by dealer. "Cutting for partners," an expression so frequently heard, is, strictly speaking, incorrect.

Q.: How large a building can be moved?

T. G. S.

A.: Engineers will not say that a limit has been reached in the size of buildings that may be moved. Five-story buildings weighing as much as 4000 tons have been moved.

Q.: Are freckles hereditary?

A. H. J.

A.: Authorities say that freckles are sometime heriditary, appearing soon after birth and continuing through life, or subsiding or vanishing altogether.

Q.: Were there many negroes in the United States before the Civil War who were not slaves?

W. G. H.

A.: At the beginning of the Civil War there were 487,970 free negroes to 3,953,760 slaves.

Q.: Have birds always gone south in winter and north in summer?

G. L. B.

A.: According to the "Outline of Science," migration is a very old habit, an inborn instinct which was developed ages ago, and which manifests itself year after year in a uniform manner and without any remarkably close conformity to the immediate conditions.

BROTHER IS ACCUSED OF CAUSING ARREST

MAN SENTENCED FOR ROBBERY IN KANSAS BLAMES POLICE RELATIVE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—George W. Finch, who said he was sentenced to death January 8, 1898, and was saved from hanging at Fort Scott (Kan.) penitentiary by former Gov. Hoch of Kansas, today was sentenced to prison for from three to twenty years for robbery and blamed a brother in San Diego for his latest arrest.

Finch was sentenced today for the robbery of a jewelry store owned by Jacob J. Genis, on May 8 last, when $35 and jewelry valued at $450 were stolen. He declared he went to San Diego where he has a brother who is a policeman and the latter at his request obtained a watch from pawn, but learning that it was stolen turned him over to the police and he was returned to Chicago.

Finch told the court he had attempted to rob a St. Louis bank in 1914 but was arrested and sentenced to prison for fifteen years and was paroled in 1922.

Finch told the police the man he killed was a farmer of the name of Swaba, who lived three miles from Fort Scott.

HARDING MEDALLIONS ARE OFFERED PUBLIC

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 13.—Medallions of the late President Harding will be mailed to the general public for $1.52 each, Freas Styer, Superintendent of the Mint, announced today. It is expected they will be ready about September 1. A likeness of the dead President will appear on one side, while the reverse side will bear the dates of President Harding's birth, inauguration and death.

ASSERTS NEWS GIVES WRONG IMPRESSION

GOVERNMENT SHOULD KEEP CHANNELS FREE, SAYS ADMIRAL RODGERS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WILLIAMSTOWN (Mass.) Aug 13.—Rear-Admiral W. L. Rodgers in an address at the Institute of Politics today said that local American news should not be permitted to go abroad except to American language newspapers because "local crimes and trifles sent abroad give a wrong impression of the United States."

Remarking that the control of the transportation of news was a most important interest of the foreign offices of all governments, he added:

"I do not mean to urge that the government itself should undertake to be the sole purveyor of news. That would result in the overthrow of the government by the people. But the government in the interest of its people must see to it that the channels of news are free; that they are not manipulated either by foreign powers or by special industries, particularly the news-gathering agencies, for the benefit of favored parties. The government having the interests of the whole people must see to it that the nation is not harmed through ignorance and misinformation."

He favored government control but not government operation of radio communication.

DAVIS URGES CONSULS SELECT IMMIGRANTS

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Careful selection of immigrants by American consular officers abroad and their enrollment and surveillance for a period after they have been admitted to America, were urged by Secretary of Labor Davis to prevent the alien from "alienizing America," upon his return from an immigration survey in Europe. Declaring he was for "selective immigration or none," Mr. Davis said that such a system not only would raise the desirability level of newcomers to America, but would end the immigration races and resultant deportation of many excess quota aliens which have grown out of the immigration quota law. He defended the quota law, declaring it was good so far as it went.

Is a Gland Operation Necessary?

By a new discovery the life giving gland substance which is sometimes administered by expensive operations may now be supplied in tablet form. This treatment is highly recommended by European and American scientists, who have proved that the internal administration of gland extracts has a very marked effect upon the corresponding glands of the human body, often rebuilding them to normal activity.

Such a treatment is now offered to the public in the form of Glandogen, a highly concentrated glandular tonic, in convenient tablet form, prepared from the glands of healthy young animals and compounded with other valuable ingredients. Glandogen is obtainable at the Henderson-Chambers Drug Co., 3rd and Main; Chambers Drug Co., 1st and Broadway; Blaney-Chambers Drug Co., 5th and Los Angeles; in Long Beach at the Oakford Drug Co., 211 Pine Ave. Mail orders given prompt attention. The Little Warrior

BY P. G. WODEHOUSE

"I didn't know Jill knew Mr. Mason," said Nelly, as they sat down at their table.

"No?" said Freddie, absently, running an experienced eye over the bill of fare. He gave an elaborate order. "What was that? Oh, absolutely! Jill and I and Wally were children together."

"How funny you should all be together like this."

"Yes. Oh, good Lord!"

"What's the matter?"

"It's nothing. I meant to send a cable to a pal of mine in England. I'll send it after lunch."

Freddie took out his handkerchief and tied a knot in it. He was slightly ashamed of the necessity of taking such precaution, but it was better to be on the safe side. His interview with Jill at the theater had left him with the conviction that there was only one thing for him to do, and that was to cable poor old Derek to forget impending elections and all the rest of it and pop over to America at once. He knew that he would never have the courage to reopen the matter with Jill himself. As an ambassador he was a spent force. If Jill was to be wooed from her mood of intractability, Derek was the only man to do it. Freddie was convinced that, seeing him in person, she would melt and fall into his arms. Too dashed absurd, Freddie felt, two loving hearts being separated like this, and all that sort of thing. He replaced his handkerchief in his pocket, relieved, and concentrated himself on the entertainment of Nelly. A simple task, for the longer he was with this girl, the easier did it seem to talk to her.

Jill, left alone in the lobby, was finding the moments pass quite pleasantly. She liked watching the people as they came in. One or two of the girls of the company fluttered in like birds, were swooped upon by their cavaliers and fluttered off to the grillroom. The red-headed Babe passed her with a genial nod, and shortly after, Lois Denham, the willowy recipient of sunbursts from her friend Izzy of the hat checks, came by in company with a sallow, hawk-faced young man with a furtive eye, whom Jill took—correctly—to be Izzy himself. Lois was looking pale and proud, and, from the few words which came to Jill's ears as they neared her, seemed to be annoyed at having been kept waiting.

It was immediately after this that the swing-doors revolved rather more violently than usual, and Mr. Goble burst into view.

There was a cloud upon Mr. Goble's brow, seeming to indicate that his grievance against life had not yet been satisfactorily adjusted; but it passed as he saw Jill, and he came up to her with what he would probably have claimed to be an ingratiating smile.

"Hello!" said Mr. Goble. "All alone?"

Jill was about to say that the condition was merely temporary when the manager went on:

"Come and have a bit of lunch."

"Thank you very much," said Jill, with the politeness of dislike, "but I'm waiting for someone."

"Chuck him!" advised Mr. Goble cordially.

"No, thanks, I couldn't really."

The cloud began to descend again upon Mr. Goble's brow. He was accustomed to having these invitations of his treated as royal commands.

"Come along!"

"I'm afraid it's impossible!"

Mr. Goble subjected her to a prolonged stare, seemed about to speak, changed his mind and swung off moodily in the direction of the grillroom. He was not used to this sort of treatment.

He had hardly gone when Wally appeared.

"What was he saying to you?" demanded Wally abruptly, without preliminary greeting.

"He was asking me to lunch."

Wally was silent for a moment. His good-natured face wore an unwonted scowl.

"He went in there, of course?" he said, pointing to the grillroom.

"Yes."

"Then let's go into the other room," said Wally. He regained his good humor. "It was awfully good of you to come. I didn't know whether you would be able to."

"It was very nice of you to invite me."

Wally grinned.

"How perfect our manners are! It's a treat to listen! How did you know that that was the one hat in New York I wanted you to wear?"

"Oh, these things get about. Do you like it?"

"It's wonderful! Let's take this table, shall we?"

SECTION 2

They sat down. The dim, tapestry-hung room soothed Jill. She was feeling a little tired after the rehearsal. At the far end of the room an orchestra was playing a tune that she remembered and liked. Her mind went back to the last occasion on which she and Wally had sat opposite each other at a restaurant. How long ago it seemed! She returned to the present to find Wally speaking to her.

"You left very suddenly the other night," said Wally.

"I didn't want to meet Freddie."

Wally looked at her commiseratingly.

"I don't want to spoil your lunch," he said, "but Freddie knows all. He has tracked you down. He met Nelly Bryant, whom he seems to have made friends with in London, and she told him where you were and what you were doing. For a girl who fled at his mere approach the night before last you don't seem very much agitated by the news," he said, as Jill burst into a peal of laughter.

"You haven't heard?"

"Heard what?"

"Freddie got Mr. Pilkington to put him in the chorus of the piece. He was rehearsing when I arrived at the theater this morning, and having a terrible time with Mr. Miller. And, later on, Mr. Goble had a quarrel with the man who was playing the Englishman, and the man threw up his part, and Mr. Goble said he could get anyone in the chorus to play it just as well, and he chose Freddie. So now Freddie is one of the principals, and bursting with pride."

Wally threw his head back and uttered a roar of appreciation which caused a luncher at a neighboring table to drop an oyster which he was poising in midair.

"Don't make such a noise!" said Jill severely. "Everyone's looking at you."

"I must. It's the most priceless thing I ever heard. I've always maintained and I always will maintain that for pure lunacy nothing can touch the musical comedy business. There isn't anything that can't happen in musical comedy. 'Alice in Wonderland' is nothing to it."

"Have you felt that, too? That's exactly how I feel. It's like a perpetual 'Mad Hatter's Tea Party.'"

"But what on earth made Freddie join the company at all?"

A sudden gravity descended upon Jill. The words had reminded her of the thing which she was perpetually striving to keep out of her thoughts.

"He said he wanted to be there to keep an eye on me."

Gravity is infectious. Wally's smile disappeared. He, too, had been recalled to thoughts which were not pleasant.

Wally crumbled his roll. There was a serious expression on his face.

"Freddy was quite right. I didn't think he had so much sense."

"Freddie was not right," flared Jill. The recollection of her conversation with that prominent artist still had the power to fire her independent soul. "I'm not a child. I can look after myself. What I do is my own business."

"I'm afraid you're going to find that your business is several people's business. I am interested in it myself. I don't like your being on the stage. Now bite my head off."

"It's very kind of you to bother about me . . ."

"I said 'bite my head off!' I didn't say 'freeze me!' I take the license of an old friend who in his time has put worms down your back and I repeat—I don't like your being on the stage."

"I shouldn't have thought you would have been so—" Jill sought for a devastating adjective—"so mid-Victorian."

"As far as you're concerned I'm the middest Victorian in existence. Mid is my middle name." Wally met her indignant gaze squarely. "I—do—not—like—your—being—on—the—stage! Especially in any company which Ike Goble is running."

"Why Mr. Goble particularly?"

"Because he is not the sort of man you ought to be coming in contact with."

"What nonsense!"

"It isn't nonsense at all. I suppose you've read a lot about the morals of theatrical managers."

"Yes. And it seemed to be exaggerated and silly."

ESPEE TO COMPLETE DOUBLE TRACKAGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

RENO (Nev.) Aug. 13. — The double-tracking of the Southern Pacific Company's system over the Sierra Nevada Mountains and as far into Nevada as arranged in the company's 1923 program will be completed in ten days, it was announced this morning by J. M. Fulton, assistant general freight and passenger agent. The new tracks will be in use by that time, he said. In the Sierras the 1923 program consisted of seventeen miles of double-track between Truckee and Blue Canyon, of which thirteen miles are now in operation. In Nevada it has involved thirty-two miles, between Wells and Monticello, but is not continuous, being constructed where heavy grades are encountered.

UNITY AMONG WHEAT GROWERS IS URGED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SPOKANE (Wash.) Aug. 13.—Unity of action by wheat growers of the United States in support of a definite plan of Congressional relief was urged by United States Senator Borah at a conference here today of wheat growers and marketing experts of the Pacific Northwestern States. Opening of foreign markets will prove the eventual solution of the wheat problem, Senator Borah declared, adding that there is no overproduction of wheat, but that all the present crop would be taken if it could be delivered to countries which want it.

SCHOOL MERGER FIGHT REOPENED

Sierra Madre Starts on New Set of Petitions

Waiting to Settle Matter Proves Fruitless

Four Weeks More Granted in Annexation Row

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SIERRA MADRE, Aug. 13.—With both factions of the Sierra Madre school annexation fight present at a meeting of the County Supervisors this morning where the matter of whether Sierra Madre schools would annex to Pasadena was to be definitely decided, the supervisors did the unexpected and instead of settling the disputs started it afresh.

After both sides had presented petitions, each containing several hundred names, the supervisors, with Prescott F. Cogswell the chairman, instructed both sides to destroy their petition, wipe the slate clean and start again. Their reason for this unexpected action was this:

BASIS FOR ACTION

The antiannexationists headed by F. R. D. Mocle, Henry Lannon and R. B. Wilson, declared that names contained on the petitions favoring annexation were obtained by misrepresentation. They declared that false promises of a new high school in Sierra Madre were offered if the district voted annex.

The proannexationists, on the other hand, declared that the same was true with the opposition. They stated that R. B. Wilson, a Pasadena capitalist now residing in Sierra Madre, had promised to build a whole high school in Sierra Madre and that they could withdraw from Pasadena entirely. The annexationists were represented by Atty. and Mrs. George Woodworth, W. W. Tarr and Mrs. Rose Bissell.

TO START ANEW

Upon hearing these two declarations, Supervisor Cogswell then directed both parties to circulate new petitions and make no changes. Then, he said, the side which obtained the majority of names of heads of families would receive the sanction of the Board of Supervisors.

Supervisors Keppel, county superintendent of schools, made a lengthy report to the supervisors. He favored the consolidation of the two school districts and asked that the merger be settled today. He failed to see, he said, what could be gained by circulating new petitions except considerable delay, work and a loss of time.

Four weeks were granted the two factions of the annexation movement for the petitions to be circulated. At the end of this time definite action will be taken one way or the other.

DROWNS AS FRIENDS TRY TO SAVE HIM

Oxnard Youth Becomes Exhausted After Going Out 100 Yards in Ocean

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

OXNARD, Aug. 13.—Theodore J. Westmeyer of Los Angeles was drowned yesterday afternoon while swimming about 200 yards from shore, about half a mile east of Hueneme Beach. He had become exhausted and was unable to get to shore. Being a good swimmer, no alarm was felt when he went out so far.

Westmeyer shouted to a friend for help and although he tried to reach him, the rip tide prevented assistance. Westmeyer was told to float until the friend could summon aid or a boat. Several men took a boat and went out to where Westmeyer was seen last, but no trace could be found of him. The body later was found washed up on the shore.

Youth Returns to Town While Search Is Made

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SIERRA MADRE, Aug. 13.—Searching parties spent nearly the entire day yesterday searching the hills and canyons surrounding the Mt. Wilson trail in an effort to find Y. Horsly, Sierra Madre youth reported to be lost in the mountains. The youth later appeared at Sierra Madre.

According to Horsly's compaion, Kenneth Allen, 36 East Central avenue, the two boys tramped up Mt. Wilson Saturday night with the intention of returning early Sunday morning.

Believing he could beat his friend to Sierra Madre by taking a short cut down Winter Creek, Horsly left Allen. Allen arrived home about 8 o'clock in the morning. When his friend failed to show up Allen became alarmed and notified acting Chief of Police Cox, who immediately sent out searching parties. Ranger Adam Mueller also joined in the hunt.

Late last night Horsly arrived home unhurt but badly scared and hungry. He said he became confused with the winding canyons and his yells for help were unheard. After walking numerous miles out of his way he finally reached Sierra Madre.

One Killed, Ten Hurt When Auto Leaves Highway

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 13.—Jose Posa, vineyard worker, was killed, his wife severely injured and nine other persons hurt last night at the horseshoe curve on the Ridge Route when a fruit truck in which they were riding from Santa Paula to Fresno left the road and ran head on into the embankment, throwing the occupants onto the road in front of an oncoming automobile.

PASADENA IS FINED

Pays for Pleasure of Pricking Acquaintance With Pitchfork

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Aug. 13.—For the pleasure of chasing an acquaintance out of his yard at the point of a pitchfork, George V. De Moore, 635 Palisade street, paid $25 in police court this morning. The charge was disturbing the peace. J. B. Zimmerman, 644 Del Monte street, was the complaining witness.

When asked by the court why he had struck the fleeing man with a fork, De Moore replied that he believed Zimmerman was about to draw a gun on him and that he wanted to keep the man so busy evading the fork thrusts that he would be unable to get at his weapon. Zimmerman was treated for injuries on his neck and arms.

WOMAN ACCUSES OFFICERS

Former San Diego Matron Tells Council Police Chief and Patrolmen Handled Her Roughly

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 13.—Asserting that she was brutally handled and abused at police headquarters, and naming Chief of Police James Patrick and Patrolmen Zimmerman and Hayes in her complaint, Mrs. Anna Wise, former police matron, made charges against these members of the police force before the City Council this morning.

She filed documents purporting to be physicians' affidavits regarding the extent of the asserted injuries she received.

The charges were that while she was being ejected from the City Attorney's office on orders of Chief Patrick, the policemen dragged her down a stairway, bruising her and twisting her limbs. These injuries, she declared, compelled her to spend several weeks in a hospital.

Mrs. Wise has been endeavoring to obtain a police pension and in presenting her petition for this, she made the charges against the chief and his two men. Councilman Fred Heilborn said he favored an investigation.

LAW VIOLATORS SURPRISED

Pasadena Judge Forces Speeders and Dry Law Breakers to Repeat Pledge to Flag

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Aug. 13.—"I pledge allegiance to my flag and to the republic for which it stands; one nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all." Such is the pledge that all Pasadena speeders or violators of the Wright Act must repeat, with right hand raised, when they appear before Judge Dunham in Police Court.

This unusual procedure was inaugurated today in an effort to curb the flow of speeders, drunks and bootleggers now appearing in local courts. Today three defendants convicted of violation of the prohibition law took the pledge. One youth, who had served as an American soldier during the World War, was driven to tears when he repeated the oath to his flag.

REAL REMINDER

"That will do this man more good than all the fines and imprisonment I could give him," declared Judge Dunham. "This reading of the oath of allegiance is just a little reminder that when they break these laws they are violating the Constitution of the United States."

This is the first time that law violators have been treated in such a manner. Other courts have made their defendants visit hospitals and morgues, but never before has it been known to put them entirely on their honor as is done in this case.

PECULIAR EFFECT

Taking the pledge has a peculiar effect on the law violators, the judge declares. Some of them are driven to tears others can only gulp out the words. It is a very serious and impressive procedure and the packed courtroom remains in a breathless silence.

Today A. Harris and Frank Orr of Pasadena and W. C. Vaughn of Los Angeles took the pledge.

TAG THIRTY AUTOISTS

Venice Police Number Angelenos Among Arrested Drivers

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, Aug. 13.—More than thirty asserted speed demons were arrested in the city over the week-end. This total has been exceeded on only one other occasion. Among those who will appear for trial before Police Judge Walter Rennie next Friday are H. Givens and L. P. Norris of Los Angeles, who were said by police to be racing their machines into Venice at the rate of forty-five miles per hour in the twenty-mile zone.

MORE HELP SOUGHT TO FIGHT FIRE

Blaze in Mountains Near Porterville Starts Anew, Threatening Timber

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PORTERVILLE, Aug. 13.—Brush fire in the mountains at Coffee Camp, twenty miles east of here, believed under control yesterday, has again broken away from the half hundred fighters guarding the fire breaks and is threatening to reach valuable timber lands in higher altitudes. Calls for additional help have been sent to this city.

A fresh breeze spread flames from a backfire causing a dangerous conflagration in a new direction of the threatened area. The fire is ranging in extremely difficult country and attempts to combat it are limited to back firing and clearing out old fire breaks.

Thirty-five hundred acres have been burned over.

J. D. Parsons, Pioneer, Dies at Santa Ana

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA ANA, Aug. 3. — Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow for John D. Parsons, pioneer business man of Santa Ana, who passed away this morning at the age of 76. Services will be conducted at the Smith & Tutjill chapel, followed by Masonic services at the grave in Fairhaven Cemetery.

Parsons came to Orange county from St. Louis in 1886, and located first in the Greenville region, then known as Gospel Swamp, and later traded the ranch there for a grocery and general store in Santa Ana, which he conducted many years. He was active in Masonry, a member of the Sunset Club and a stockholder in local banks and other enterprises. Fred and Joe Parsons of Santa Ana are nephews of the deceased; Miss Pauline Parsons of Santa Ana; Mrs. A. R. Hervey, Mrs. H. B. Woodill of Glendale and Mrs. Hervey W. Graham of Washington, D. C., are nieces. Mrs. Betty Garrett, a stepsister, lives at Riverside.

Orange to Vote Today on Sewer Bond Proposal

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ORANGE, Aug. 13.—With Orange's asserted growth at stake, citizens of this city will go to the polls tomorrow to vote on the $190,000 sewer bond project. If the bond issue is approved, the way will be cleared for participation in the $1,900,000 outfall sewer to the ocean in which Santa Ana, Anaheim and Fullerton are to participate.

All the other cities have voted bonds to cover their share of the cost.

The polls will open at 6 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. Automobiles are to be used to transport voters to and from the polls. The Chamber of Commerce and other organizations have issued statements supporting the proposed project.

The City Council has called attention to the fact that Orange's present system is inadequate, even to a point where the septic tanks have become a menace to health.

CHOICE RESIDENTIAL PROPERTY IS SOLD

FRESNO, Aug. 13.—One of the largest single deals in residential property consummated recently in Fresno was the sale of an apartment house and bungalow at Wishon and Brown avenues by George Boles to Mrs. Iola McPherson. The property is located in an exclusive district in the north part of the city.

PEACH AND FIG CANNING IS STARTED

More Care to be Taken in Preparation of 1923 Pack; Crop Normal

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

FRESNO, Aug. 13.—Canners of the California peach and fig growers at Dinuba, Figarden and Turlock started work on the 1923 pack today. Growers in these districts began the delivery of Kadotas for preserving and Calimyrnas for canning as syrup. The crop is just beginning to come in, having been retarded by cool weather. Reports from the field forecast a normal crop. The present crop will be followed by Adriatics and Black Missions. Missions are used only for the dried forms.

Association officials declare principles set forth in the "quality week conferences" will be strictly adhered to. J. E. Reeder, association manager, says growers have been instructed as to the quality of pack desired and that more care than ever will be taken to maintain the high quality of the pack. A session of the board will be conducted at the meeting of the association at 10 o'clock tomorrow.

GROWERS NAME AIDE

Former Revenue Collector Will Represent Olive Men

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

FRESNO, Aug. 13.—In line with organization work being carried on by the California Olive Growers, Inc., Justin Waddell, former collector of internal revenue for the first district of California, has been elected a member of the board of directors to represent the northern or third district of the association, C. E. Weikert, general manager of the association, announced today.

Organization is progressing rapidly, he reports. Successful meetings with the packers' organizations have been held in the last week in the north and today Weikert departed for the south to carry on similar work there. W. McKelvey, who has been in the south organizing the growers, is on his way back to Fresno.

ANTITUBERCULOSIS MARK SET BY HERD

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

OXNARD, Aug. 13.—The Beryl-wood herd of 170 cows passed a 100 per cent free tuberculin test for the seventh consecutive time. The tests are made every six months. This is considered a wonderful record and shows dairy cattle can be raised here free from tuberculosis. It is especially significant in view of the asserted fact that the record for the country shows 40 per cent of dairy cows are affected at one time or another with this dread disease. The Beryl-wood stock farm is to enter ten of its herd in the national dairy congress at Syracuse, New York, in October.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS IN MERGER REQUEST

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

FRESNO, Aug. 13.—Eight petitions for annexation of elementary school districts to the Fresno high school district are to be considered by the County Supervisors at their meeting Tuesday. All the districts are contingent to the high school district. The districts are Calwa, Easterby, Roeding, Fresno Colony, Scandinavian Colony, Teilman, Madison and Bullard.

SEEK TO BLOCK WEDDING

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

FRESNO, Aug. 13.—County authorities and the police here have been asked to arrest and prevent the issuance of a marriage license to Barbara Hughes, 15 years of age, of Visalia, and Gilbert Ray, 30, employee of a carnival company, who are believed to have eloped from Visalia Saturday night. Ray and the girl met while the carnival company was in Visalia last week and he did not appear with the company when it arrived at Reedley today, his employers said, according to word received here.

SUSPECT FOUND IN ATTACK CASE

Victim and Husband Identify Man Arrested on Track

Couple Tell of Night Visit and Entry by Ruse

Prisoner When Questioned Refuses to Talk

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

REDLANDS, Aug. 13.—Paul Hecker, 54 years of age, giving his home as Los Angeles, accused of attacking Mrs. P. M. Garcia while her husband, bound and blindfolded, lay near and heard her struggle, was captured near the Singelton ranch in San Timoteo Canyon this morning. Hecker, police said, was hiding along the main line of the Southern Pacific in the hope of getting one of the freights that pull slowly up the grade.

The attack took place at the Garcia home during the night. The Garcias live on the Hubbard ranch south of Smiley Heights in Redlands. According to the Garcias story they were awakened during the night by some one knocking at the door and demanding water. Garcia directed the speaker to the water barrel, but pretty soon the man returned and said he was ill and could not locate the barrel.

HUSBAND BOUND

Garcia then got up and opened the door. As he stepped out a gun was pressed against his side and he was ordered to lift his hands. He did so and a rawhide noose was slipped over them. He was then securely bound, blindfolded and shoved back into the room. Mrs. Garcia lay quietly in bed with her 6-months-old baby until the man had rifled the house and found $15. He then ordered her out of bed and when she started to fight, whipped out a knife, slit her night gown and then choked her until she was partly unconscious.

After attacking her he demanded more money, but when she moaned there was no more he went away.

The Garcias reported to the police here and several posses, including two from the Sheriff's office, began to comb the hills for the assailant. This morning County Motorcycle Officer Shaw and Redlands Officer Morrison and John Stocker caught Hecker near the Singleton ranch at El Casco.

PRISONER SULLEN

Hecker was accused of the crime, but became sullen and refused to talk. He was taken to the Garcia home and both Mr. and Mrs. Garcia identified him. He is an Austrian, it is believed, with a long mustache and dressed in canvas coat, riding breeches and leggins, with an army hat.

The officers rushed him in an automobile to San Bernardo, where he was placed in the County Jail.

Hecker, when caught, was following the highway carrying two packs on his back. As soon as he saw the automobile he dodged into some brush.

Burglars Strip Residence While Owner Is Absent

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA ANA, Aug. 13.—Returning from Saugus, where they had been since the 5th inst., while Preston supervised State highway construction there, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Preston returned to their home near Talbert to find it looted of everything of value.

Two bedsteads and a rifled trunk were the only possessions remaining. Thieves had taken everything else, including furniture, linens, clothing, dishes, silverware and jewelry.

Apparently the thieves had picked a lock on one of the doors and had covered their tracks completely so that officers detailed to the case were baffled. The Ellis home, in the same neighborhood, was looted in much the same manner, three months ago.

LIQUOR IN CAR IS COSTLY

Pomona Fines Los Angeles Man $300, Assesses Jail Penalty and Confiscates Car

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

POMONA, Aug. 13.—Because he neglected to switch on the tail light on his auto while driving through Pomona several nights ago, it cost Jay Buxton of Los Angeles a $300 fine, five days in jail and his light touring car was ordered confiscated.

Officer Phillips, who made the arrest, became suspicious when he stopped Buxton for the minor law infraction and upon investigation found liquor in the tonneau of the machine. It is said that Buxton purchased the moonshine near San Bernardino for a party in Los Angeles.

Buxton, who is a garage man, stated, after receiving his sentence today, that he intended to go back to repairing automobiles as soon as he was released, as it was more profitable in the long run. He is still being held until he raises the total amount of the fine and will not be released until final payment is made.

MEANEST THIEF IN ORANGE IS SOUGHT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ORANGE, Aug. 13.—The meanest thief in town was being sought by police here today following a robbery at the A. Norman home near Villa Park. After ransacking the house for valuables and obtaining only a silver watch and chain the intruder smashed a child's bank and took $1.17.

GLENDALE CONSIDERS BUS LINES

Permits Are Asked by Pacific Electric Company for Three Routes

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDALE, Aug. 13.—The inauguration of motor-bus transportation within the city of Glendale will form the subject of a public hearing by the City Council Tuesday night, when applications that have been received from the Pacific Electric and from the Verdugo Hills Transportation Company will be considered. The applications were referred first to the police department for investigation and will be taken up in the committee of the whole on Tuesday, when committees representing various civic associations will be present by request of the Council.

The Pacific Electric proposes to install a service over three routes, covering the greater part of the city and running in a thirty-minute schedule, with a promise that additional service will be supplied as needed. The fares in the city will be 6 cents, with books of tickets selling at the rate of 5 cents each, with half-fares for school children through the purchase of books of forty tickets at a time. Transfers between the bus lines and between busses and street cars would be issued and transfers would also be issued between the bus lines and the Los Angeles trains to points corresponding to fare limit points on rail lines. Three busses are now running in Glendale and it is proposed to install three more at once.

The Verdugo Hills Transportation Company also proposes to operate busses on three routes at 5-cent fares, with free transfers between the bus lines, which will run on a half-hour schedule and will connect with the through service now maintained between Los Angeles and Montrose.

Budget Figures for Long Beach Double in Year

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Aug. 13.—The city budget estimate for 1923 and 1924 is more than double that of the preceding year, it was revealed today by City Manager Charles H. Windham. The total proposed budget for the year is $5,532,199.53, as against a total last year of $2,438,286, the increase amounting to $3,093,193.

The outstanding item in this year's proposed budget is one for $2,500,000 for improvements in the city water department. The recommendations were laid before the City Council tonight and were considered in executive session.

The Council is expected to take official action on the estimates at the next meeting.

ORANGE LEGION WILL GIVE SHOW AT CAMP

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ORANGE, Aug. 13.—The American Legion musical comedy, "A Buck on Leave," which was given its farewell showing at the high-school auditorium Saturday night, will be presented for the benefit of disabled veterans at Camp Kearny, tomorrow afternoon, it was announced today. The troupe, seventy-five in all, will leave this city in automobiles at 7:30 a.m. tomorroew.

VENTURA MAYOR'S SON NEAR DEATH IN EAST

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

VENTURA, Aug. 13.—Mayor Rea's wife and little son are visiting this summer in West Virginia. Last week the Mayor left on a fishing trip, his destination being Inyo County. A telegram has just been received saying the son was near death and for his father to hurry East. Some twenty-four hours elapsed before the Mayor was located at Monmouth. He is now on his way to West Virginia.

SEVEN INJURED IN AUTO WRECK

Baby Believed Fatally Hurt as Result of Collision

Cars Virtually Demolished by Force of Crash

Accident Fourth in Little More Than Week

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ONTARIO, Aug. 13.—Seven persons were injured and one is believed dying as the result of a motor accident yesterday, the fourth of its kind in a little more than a week, at the intersection of the Ocean-to-Ocean Highway and Etiwanda avenue to the east of Ontario.

The injured include the 2-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Marques of Blythe, who is suffering from deep cuts about the head and concussion of the brain and not expected to live, Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Marquez, Mrs. L. K. Marquez and Miss Minnie Marquez, all of Blythe, A. C. Una and a companion, a Riverside man. The touring car carrying the Blythe party and driven by A. K. Marquez was reported to have been traveling east on the Ocean-to-Ocean Highway, while the Riverside machine, driven by A. C. Una, was going south on Etiwanda avenue. Both are said to have been traveling at high rates of speed and to have met with great force, virtually demolishing both cars.

Members of the Marquez party were rushed to the San Antonio Hospital here. A. K. Marquez was able to leave the hospital today and Mrs. L. K. Marquez and Miss Minnie Marquez were removed by ambulance this evening to Santa Monica, where they have friends. Mrs. A. K. Marquez and the infant remained at the hospital. Una's companion, whose name was not learned, was badly cut and bruised and is thought to have been injured internally. He was removed to the Riverside County County Hospital by ambulance, after Dr. S. A. Craig had administered first aid. Una escaped serious injury.

A. A. BAYLEY BURIAL TO BE AT GRAND VIEW

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDALE, Aug. 13.—Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday afternoon at the Jewel City Undertaking Parlors for Alcander A. Bayley, a native son, born in 1851 at Pilot Hill, Eldorado county. His parents were among the Forty-niners. With his wife, who was a native of Eureka, Bayley came to Los Angeles county thirty-eight years ago. They made their home at Wilmington for several years. Bayley had never suffered sickness until the death of his wife in June. Since then he has been ill at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Riley Proctor, 355 Salem street. Other children surviving are Maj. Alvin A. Bayley of Fort Benning, Ga.; Dr. Walter A. Bayley of Los Angeles and Edgar A. Bayley of 371 West California street, Glendale. Interment will be made at Grand View.

MINOR BAN HOLDS IN DANCES AT SAN DIEGO

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 13.—Minors, even if accompanied by parents or guardians, will not be permitted to attend public dances in this city. The Council today refused to amend the existing dance-hall ordinance to permit them to attend. The Women's Civic Center and the Welfare Commission both sent communications opposing the change. An amendment which would permit women to dance with their hats on, was also lost. Two of the Councilmen favored lifting the ban on hats but all were against the plan submitted by a dance hall proprietor to permit children to enter public halls.

JURY DECIDES DEATH IN RIVER ACCIDENTAL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SELMA, Aug. 13.—A Coroner's jury here today returned a verdict of accidental death by drowning in the case of Harold M. Anderson, who attempted to swim Kings River at Ward's park, near Centerville, Sunday and failed. The youth was pulled under when he struck a deep hole near the middle of the stream. His brother gave the alarm and an unidentified man attempted to save him, but was unable to do so because of the youth's struggles. The body was recovered soon after he sank and heroic efforts at resuscitation were made. The boy was the son of A. C. Anderson, a rancher near here.

COURT DEFIED BY WOBBLIES

Red Magazine and Literature Sold in Fresno by Agent Despite Sacramento Order

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, Aug. 13.—Defiance of the recent order of the Sacramento Superior Court outlawing the I.W.W., was seen here today when wobbly publications were sold in the courthouse park. Outstanding among the publications offered were Solidarity, the official organ; the Liberator, soviet propaganda magazine, and various I.W.W. pamphlets and papers.

This is the first direct indication of activity by the I.W.W. in Fresno in several months and immediately upon its discovery the District-Attorney's office announced an investigation had been started.

After a number of sales had been made, the agent denied that he had any for sale when approached by a newspaper man, although he carried a number of copies under his arm.

County authorities declared they were unaware of sales anywhere within the county. A close watch will be kept, they said, for any further activity.

Members of the District-Attorney's staff said today that while they knew of a campaign fostered by the National Defense Bureau of the I.W.W. to flood the San Joaquin Valley with men and literature, this is the first indication they have had that the program may be under way.

Prosecution of five members of the I.W.W. in the Fresno county courts, the Sacramento injunction and refusal of the Legislature to repeal the Criminal Syndicalism Act are responsible for the opening of the new campaign, officials declared.

RAILROADS AS AIDS TO STATE

Three Hundred Millions Paid in Taxes Last Year

Heavy Toll Collected From California Companies

New Securities Company is at Home in Hollywood

To illustrate the value of the railroads as a source of State and Federal taxes, H. M. Adams, vice-president, in charge of traffic of the Union Pacific System cites data showing that carriers paid the huge sums of $304,585,158 in State, Federal and company taxes in 1922, a sum, as he points out, which would largely be lost if the railroads should pass from the hands of private control to ownership and operation by the government.

Of this total, the Union Pacific System was taxed for $9,531,820.86 by the State through which the lines of the company run, and $3,419,750.56 by the Federal government, making a grand total of $13,251,551.42. The State of Idaho collected the largest portion of the State taxes, securing $2,086,566.69 from the Union Pacific. California levied a tax of $544,987.27 as its charge for the operation of the Union Pacific and the Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railway lines in the State.

Since 1900, when all taxes amounted to $1,256,839, the Union Pacific System has disbursed an amount increasing yearly until the $13,000,000 mark was passed in 1922. All carriers combined were responsible in 1900, for $48,332,273 in taxes, which has been increased to over $300,000,000 at the close of 1922.

OTHER COMPANIES

Corroborating the importance of the operation of industries by private enterprise, the balance sheets of other representative corporations testify to the enormous sums paid to State and Federal governments in taxes. The Pacific Gas and Electric Corporation in 1922 made provision for the satisfaction of tax claims amounting to $3,690,213.10, which represented 19.86 per cent of net income before the deduction of taxes, or about one-fifth of the net. The increase in five years of taxes has been 194 per cent.

The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe taxes amounted to $18,395,-511.61 for 1922, which was over half the net income of $34,382,-370.72.

Provision of taxes totaling $1,-411,491.53 was made by the Southern California Edison, which compares with a net profit for the year of $4,465,577.19. The Pacific Oil Company set up an account of $509,306.13 for possible Federal taxes, while the earnings of the company were $11,792,325.84.

The Union Oil Company of California provided for taxes and other contingencies to the extent of $650,000. Net profits were $10,-735,875.14.

SECURITIES COMPANY

Organization of the Taft Securities Company is announced by the interests controlling the Taft Land & Development Company, the Taft Realty Company, Taft Building Company, Taft Mining & Exploration Company and the Taft Building, Inc. The headquarters of the new corporation will be in Hollywood.

The Taft Securities Company is capitalized for $2,000,000, of which $1,000,000 is preferred stock carrying a dividend rate of 7 per cent and with cumulative features. The stock will participate in all profits until 15 per cent has been earned. The company is to conduct a general business in the financing of new buildings and the development of real property.

The officers of the Taft Securities Company are: Alfred Z. Taft, president; A. Z. Taft, Jr., first vice-president; B. Y. Taft, second vice-president; Mildred Taft Tinkham, secretary, Sarah Taft, Somers, treasurer; Harold O. Taft and Chester A. Taft, directors; George W. Zent, assistant secretary and treasurer.

CROP SITUATION IN TEXAS CAUSES ALARM

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Growing alarm over the Texas crop situation was the dominating factor in the cotton market during today's early trading. Notwithstanding the unfavorable European political news, Liverpool was higher on the reports of continued dry, hot weather in the Southwest, and the local market opened firm at an advance of 16 to 34 points. There was considerable realizing above the 24-cent level, but it was readily absorbed on slight setbacks, with October selling up to 24.54 and January to 24.26 during the early trading, or 50 to 59 points net higher, and at the highest prices touched since the last government report.

Realizing was heavier during the early afternoon and there were also reports on hedge selling on the reaction, which carried October off 23.95, or about 60 points from the best, and back to Saturday's closing quotations.

Spot cotton was quiet, 10 points decline, 25.15 for middling upland.

Southern markets, Galveston 24.65, unchanged; New Orleans, 24.25, 25 points advance; Savannah, 24.75, unchanged; Augusta, 24.50, 25 points decline; Memphis, 23.75, unchanged; Houston, 24.45, 10 points decline; Little Rock, 24, unchanged.

DAILY TRADE TALK

How Much is a Trillion? New Measure of World Currency; Our New Bucketshop Act

We are now getting the figures of paper money of certain countries in "trillions" of their respective units of currency. The latest reports quote the German circulation at nearly $2,000,000,000,000 marks; Austria over 5,000,000,000,000 crowns; Poland over 2,000,000,000,000 Polish marks, while soviet Russia has long since passed the trillion line, and the latest advices put the total of outstanding soviet currency at more than 4,000,000,000,000,000 paper rubles (4,482,800,000,000,000.)

But even if we disregard the soviet paper money which is no longer included in the statements of world currency issued from week to week in the financial reports of Europe, it is interesting to try to comprehend the meaning of the word "trillion," in which at least three European countries other than Russia regularly and officially state their outstanding paper currency. The latest reports from Germany put the note circulation at nearly 32,000,000,000,000 marks (31,824,820,863,000,) Austria over 5,000,000,000,000 crowns (5,017,632,861,000,) and nearly 2,000,000,000,000 Polish marks (2,317,359,476,000.)

What is a trillion? We know of course, says the Trade Record of the National City Bank of New York, that it is a thousand billions, and if we are able to measure in simple terms the real bigness of the billion, in which we are now every day measuring world currency and trade, it may be helpful in the attempt to grasp the meaning of this new unit in which we are now measuring the multiplied paper money of the countries whose currency totals have passed out of the billion class.

To measure even a single billion, is difficult, but can at least be illustrated by a very simple statement. We all know how rapidly the expert counter of coins will manipulate them. The treasury experts at Washington will count 4000 silver dollars in one hour, but that is their limit; working eight hours a day an expert will count 1,000,000 silver dollars in thirty-one working days, but that is only the beginning of the billion, and if this same counter were to go on counting the dollars at this rate eight hours in every working day of the year, he will require 100 years in which to count 1,000,000,000 of them, and when we further remember that the trillion is a thousand times as much as the billion we begin to get at least a dim comprehension of the quantitative bigness of the "trillion," in which the currencies of at least four countries are now being measured. If, to count 1,000,000,000 silver coins would require the continuous service of one man 100 years, to count a trillion coins would require the service of 1000 men 100 years.

NEW BUCKETSHOP ACT

California's new Bucketshop Act, passed by the recent Legislature, will go into effect on August 17.

"This new law will prohibit bucketing and bucketshopping in the State," declared Commissioner of Corporations Edwin M. Daugherty yesterday, "and will strengthen the effectiveness of the Corporate Securities Act and the State Corporation Department in supervision over brokers and others dealing in securities."

Under the new law it is the duty of every broker or person making contracts as a broker or agent for the purchase or sale of securities or commodities on any board of trade or exchange to cause to be kept at his office or place of business permanent records or books of account showing each transaction. the failure to keep such records shall be prima facie evidence that any such contract was bucketing or bucketshopping. These records shall be at all times open to the inspection of the Commissioner of Corporations.

Heretofore, brokers selling securities in California have not been required under any State law to keep records or books, although there is a provision in a Federal statute requiring such accounts to be kept.

One of the devices of the fraudulent operator to prevent the tracing of his crooked deals has been the failure to keep books or accounts. When examinations were made or reports called for no trace could be obtained of operations alleged to be shady or crooked.

It is also provided that, upon the written demand of a customer or principal for whom such persons have executed any order for the purchase or sale of securities or commodities, a written statement shall be furnished showing the name of the person from whom the property was bought or to whom it was sold, and the time, place and price. The refusal to furnish such statement within forty-eight hours after demand shall be prima facie evidence that the transaction was bucketing or bucketshopping.

The Legislature, in passing the Bucketshop Act, put teeth in it by providing that persons who are making or offering to make any contract prohibited by the act, or who shall be the keeper of a bucketshop, shall be guilty of a felony and, if a corporation, be punished by a fine of not less than $1000 nor more than $5000 for each offense, and all other persons shall be punished by imprisonment in the State prison for not more than five years or by a fine of not less than $1000 nor more than $5000, or by both, for each offense.

Commissioner Daugherty, through the press, heretofore has served notice on those brokers who are operating bucketshops or who have been bucketshopping that he proposes to proceed under the authority given in the act, and that he proposes to utilize the machinery of the Corporation Department for the elimination of bucketshops, bucketshopping or bucketing operations in California.

PROFITABLE INVESTING

Being a Brief Discussion of the Movements in the Security Markets Together With Rules and Guides For the Investor

BY HERBERT R. JACKSON
Brokerage Department, Pacific Bond and Share Company

CHAPTER VII

ECONOMIC MARKET FACTORS

The fluctuations of the stock market are naturally of vital interest to the investor, but they hold much of timely interest to the merchant, the banker, the manufacturer, the jobber and, in fact, every type of business or professional man. For the security markets reflect the same fundamental conditions that affect business in general. The market for securities rises and falls as business throughout the country becomes more prosperous or depressed. The trend of business tells the story, for, as the market always anticipates the future, we have but to gauge the present trend in order to forecast the future. To put it another way, the trend of security prices over a period of time represents the collective judgment of thousands or even millions of minds as to the outlook for business, based on deductions from the accumulations of facts on business, building and real estate; on bank clearings, business failures, money conditions, foreign trade, gold movements, commodity prices, investment markets, crop conditions, railroad earnings, political factors and social conditions.

WALL STREET

To go further into a discussion of security markets without referring to Wall street is like enumerating the ingredients of bread without mentioning flour, for Wall street is the principal market of the world. The actual length of Wall street is but little more than half a mile. At one end is a cemetery, at the other the East River. In the mind of the wit that originated this phrase, this is rather significant. Fiction gives a conglomerate impression of bulls and bears and lambs and wolves, of Ali Baba and the forty thieves. It would have us believe that the machinery of Wall street is made up principally of weapons of warfare. In this conception much of our modern fiction is guilty of slight exaggeration.

The real Wall street is not merely that half-mile strip, but a broad belt of commerce, finance and industry that circles the world. It is not a coterie of bankers and promoters that realizes huge profits by foisting securities of doubtful value on a gullible and unsuspecting public. It is a conservative force which brings capital to industry, a public utility in the strictest sense, if you please. It is not the purpose of this chapter to surround Wall street with a halo of virtue, but Wall street must not be condemned because of its financial charlatans. Because he knows that its credit and integrity are the best in the world, the swindling stock promoter uses a reputable address in the financial district. The one great, legitimate function of the real Wall street is the distribution of capital.

INSIDE INFORMATION

A word about Wall-street tips and "inside information." No man or group of men can control prices or trend indefinitely in defiance of fundamental economic factors. They can manipulate prices temporarily, that is, in a limited number of issues, but they could not begin to finance a bull market lasting several months with transactions aggregating over 1,000,000 shares a day. In the final analysis, it is the public that makes the market. As Hamilton expresses it, "The market is made by the saving, investing

BOND QUOTATIONS

Exchange Declines
[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—French and Belgian bonds declined 1 to 4 points in moderate trading on the New York Stock Exchange today despite successive declines, followed by the drop of French exchange to a new low level for all time and the news from abroad there was no evidence of general liquidation. Offerings were in small volume but sellers had to take substantial losses to find buyers.

Domestic bonds were little affected high grade investment issues holding firm, while the more speculative bonds moved irregularly. Mexican 4s advanced a point.

Net changes among the railroad mortgages generally were small. Central Pacific first 4s moved up 1-4, while Northern Pacific prior lien 4s fell off 2 points and the St. Paul issues yielded a point or more. Industrial liens were dull and price changes relatively unimportant.

Active United States government bonds held relatively firm, fluctuations being confined to 3-32 of a point.

BOND QUOTATIONS

Exchange Declines

[BY A. P. PRIVATE WIRE]

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—French bonds declined 1 to 2 points in moderate trading on the New York Stock Exchange today, successive declines, caused by the drop of French bonds to a new low level for all time, the news from abroad being the evidence of general selling. Offerings were in small lots, but sellers had to make liberal losses to find buyers.

Outside Sundy were little affected, high grade investment issues firm, while the more speculative bonds moved irregularly. Gains in advanced a few points.

Price changes among the railroad issues generally were small, Northern Pacific first 4s moved up a point, while Northern Pacific prior lien 4s off 2 points and the St. Paul issues yielded a point or more. Industrial issues were dull and the changes relatively unimportant. United States government bonds were relatively firm, fluctuations being confined to 1-32 of a point.

Careless With Money

Would you let an employee gamble with your money? You would not!

You reserve that right; maybe you gamble with it yourself.

No one can blame you, but don't you sometimes blame yourself?

Money—at least in this country—is such a reliable worker that it deserves reliable employment.

DEALING IN AVERAGES

THE PRICE you pay for life insurance is determined by the law of averages; from thousands of records, insurance companies have computed the average number of years you may be expected to remain on earth paying premiums, and they base their rates accordingly.

FURTHER applying the law of averages, insurance companies are large buyers of bonds. Experience of many years has proved that, as a class, soundly selected bonds provide better investments for their surplus funds; that the average element of risk is smaller; that, over a period of years, net income from bonds averages greater than from other securities.

WHY NOT permit these principles to work for you? No matter how large or small the amount of your surplus funds, you can select bonds that fit your needs exactly—yielding a good average income, safely—from our list of current offerings.

MARKET REVIEW

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Radical developments in the foreign situation over Sunday which included the fall of the Cuno cabinet and the publication of the British note to France, of much more determined character than had been anticipated, gave American markets today a sharp test. In the face of excitement weakness in the franc and of irregularity and weakness in French and Belgian external securities, the stock market as a whole remained consistently firm throughout the day. Price movements, with the exception of fluctuations in three or four specialty stocks were neither wide nor important, and the total turnover on the stock exchange was the smallest of the year. In view of the extremely grave situation abroad and of the unsettlement in our domestic problems, featured just now by a price war in the oil industry and the possibility of further difficulty in the coal industry, the market appeared to be entirely calm. It is doing little more than marking time.

The decline in the franc to a new low record for all time was the day's outstanding financial development. The new low record for the French franc was 5.5 1-2, which compares with a year's high of 7.44 cents and 6 cents at the end of January. In the list of external bonds of both France and Belgium extreme weakness was reflected. The French 7½s declined 1 1-8 points while all of the external issues which have been sold for municipalities of France were extremely soft and ragged.

This development doubtless was a reflection of the sentiment in the financial districts the world over of the difficulties now facing France in balancing her budget, for one of the day's cables brought the information that Germany had informed the allies that no more reparations payments will be immediately forthcoming. At any rate, the situation appears to be more grave than at any time in the past two or three months, not alone because of the absolute breakdown and chaos in Germany, but because of the ill-feeling engendered in France by the well-established belief that she has been deserted by her allies.

The market responded more readily to the fact that a coal conference has been called than it did to the grave news from abroad, and while dealings in stocks and bonds were on an extremely limited scale, they gave no evidence whatever of nervousness or apprehension over the immediate future. Wheat gained sharply, as did cotton, the latter in response to continued drouth in Texas, and the former in responses to official statistics from Canada, estimating the final crop cut turn at 382,514,000 bushels, or 17,272,400 bushels less than last year's crop.

Dull Day on 'Change

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Prices moved within a narrow and irregular range in today's stock market, one of the dullest full-day sessions this year. Trading was almost entirely a professional affair with little disposition to extend commitments being shown by either the bear or bull speculators.

The week-end political developments in Europe had no effect on stock prices but resulted in French francs dropping to a new low record for all time and brought about some sharp recessions in the French and Belgian bonds. French francs were quoted as low as 5.53¼ cents. Demand sterling held steady around $4.56¾ and Belgian francs advanced nearly 10 points on reports of a 500,000,000 franc loan from France to Belgium. German marks dropped from 35 to 27 cents a million and then recovered to 33 cents.

Widespread agitation for lower gasoline prices, which has resulted in State intervention in South Dakota, was held responsible for the liquidation of oil shares by frightened investors but the recessions in active issues were held to a point or less. The unfavorable trade developments in the oil industry, arising from the heavy over-production of crude oil in the California fields, have been well discounted by the oil shares, some of which are reported to be in an oversold condition. This probably accounts for the caution exercised by professional bear traders in extending their operations in this group.

United States Steel was in fairly good demand during the morning, touching 89⅝, but it dropped back later to 88⅝ where it was up ⅜ on the day.. A flurry of buying also took place in Baldwin, which registered a similar net gain on the day. American Locomotive, Studebaker and American Can registered nominal losses.

Rubbers again yielded to pressure, United States Rubber common dropping 1⅝ and the 1st preferred breaking 3 points to a new low record for the year. Kelly Springfield yielded ¼ on the day. Coppers were firm, Utah closing a point higher.

July copper shipments, foreign and domestic, by American producers approximated 167,500,000 pounds as against 185,000,000 in June and 195,000,000 in May. Total shipments for the first seven months of the year approximate 1,335,000,000 pounds, the highest for any similar peace-time shipments in the history of the industry.

Rails showed a little change on the day.

Call money held 4½ per cent all day.

Time money market was dull with plenty offered at 5¼ per cent for all maturities. The demand for commercial paper was brisk with the bulk of the prime names commanding 5¼ per cent. Out-of-town bankers are the principal takers.

Total stock sales 212,700 shares.

Two industrials averaged 88.95; net loss .16.

High 1923, 105.28; low, 86.91.

Twenty railroads averaged 78.10; net loss .01.

High 1923, 90.63; low, 76.75.

Heavy Buying Sends Wheat to New Level

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Heavy buying of wheat by houses with eastern connections carried prices up rapidly at the top, September touching 1.01⅝, the best since July 10, and all deliveries were up 6 cents from the recent low point, representing an increase of nearly $50,000,000 in the value of the wheat crop due largely to speculative trading. Part of the buying undoubtedly represented short covering, and there was also some that suggested that eastern operators were going long. Closing trades were at net gains of 1@1⅝ cents with September 1.01⅛, and December 1.04⅝@1.04¾.

The thaw also bought some corn but not in as heavy volume, and it gained ¼ to ⅝ cent, the latter on December. Oats finished unchanged to ¼ cent higher and rye up ¼ to ⅝ cent.

Canadian government crop report showed 383,000,000 bushels wheat for that country was 17,000,000 bushels less than last year's harvest and was construed as bullish by many traders, as with the United States crop the aggregate yield in North America is 89,000,000 bushels less than in 1922. Liverpool, however, regarded it as bearish and it was largely responsible for a break of ⅝ to 1¼d in that market. Political developments in Europe caused some uncertainty among the trade early, as few know how to construe the news, but later the belief was expressed that the crisis was the first step necessary to bring about a solution of the difficulties which have been largely responsible for the unsatisfactory stage of affairs for some years.

Favorable crop reports came from the greater part of the corn belt and the market was slightly easier early. When wheat started up corn followed with the same houses buying the latter grain as took the wheat, and forced considerable to short covering. Corn was stronger early but more than lost the advance later, although the shipping demand was keen with sales of 350,000 bushels, including sales after the close. Receipts, 224 cars.

Much poor quality oats will be marketed this year as the result of recent persistent rains in some parts of the Central West. Messages from the interior indicated that very little No. 2 white would be secured where the bulk of the crop has been caught in the shock. Central Illinois reported an excellent shipping demand. Futures were dull and cash lots easier due largely to receipts of 274 cars here.

Rye was dull and featureless with a light trade. Strength in wheat was the main influence. Further purchases of Russian grain by Germany in exhange for agricultural implements are expected.

PORT NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. William Wrigley, Jr., and J. H. Parrish, president of the Wilmington Transportation Company, are expected to return at 10 a.m. today from the Wrigley home, Mt. Ada, at Catalina Island. After a short business visit at Los Angeles Harbor, the Wrigleys will go to Los Angeles, leaving for the North and East Thursday.

In connection with Mr. Wrigley's visit, announcement is made by David P. Fleming, secretary and director of the Wilmington Transportation Company, of orders for two more towboats, in addition to the David P. Fleming, engines for which are installed recently, and the Orient Ranten, which will be launched in thirty days. Each of the new towboats will cost $75,000 to build, and the company also is building two more lighters, thirty by ninety feet, and has ordered two additional as soon as the first two are completed.

Sunday saw the greatest number of persons on record transported between Los Angeles Harbor and Catalina Island by the Wilmington Transportation Company's three pleasure vessels, Avalon, Cabrillo and Hermosa. More than 2000 took passage to the Islands, while more than 5000 returned, many of whom had made the trip over among the 2200 Friday and the 3700 taken over Saturday. The Avalon and the Cabrillo each made two round trips, the Hermosa one.

Hugh F. Fitzgerald, Southern California manager for Swayne & Hoyt, left last night for San Francisco following receipt of word that his brother had been killed in an automobile accident. He also will be in conference with the heads of the company while there.

Los Angeles Harbor's San Pedro Chamber of Commerce yesterday forwarded recommendations to the Los Angeles city Board of Freeholders asking that the proposed new city charter include district representation. The harbor communities cast a heavy vote in favor of such legislation during recent elections in which the issue was the seat of government, twenty-three miles off, was too far away properly to look after harbor interests without a heavy vote in the city's affairs. The nearest approach to any representation or any voice in municipal affairs is that of the present appointment of C. J. Colden as Harbor Commissioner. Up to that time the harbor communities had no resident in high municipal office for more than ten years.

The steamer Point Loma, which arrived here Monday yesterday with 3600 tons of general cargo for Los Angeles, is on her initial visit to this coast, after being tied up in the Great Lakes two years by the Shipping Board. She is destined to engage in the coastwise lumber trade out of Los Angeles Harbor after being refitted and remodeled by San Francisco. The vessel is said to be a new type, and particularly fitted for the lumber trade.

The Andrea F. Luckenbach is on its first trip under command of Capt. A. H. Sears, who formerly commanded the Dorothy Luckenbach. Capt. Sears sailed the Pacific years ago in command of the steamer F. A. Kilner in the coastwise trade out of Los Angeles Harbor.

BANK FOR SOUTH GATE

Lot is Purchased; Money to be Raised for Building

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SOUTH GATE, Aug. 13.—This city is to have a bank, the first institution of the kind here, and it will be established in a few weeks. An option was obtained recently on ground for the erection of a building and the lot now has been purchased.

A building association is to be formed to raise money to erect the structure, and subscription lists soon are to be started. The plan is to have as many stockholders in the concern as possible. As soon as the capital stock is obtained the bank will be started in a store building until the bank structure is erected.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13.—Swayne & Hoyt, Inc., have been officially notified by the United States Shipping Board that they have been permanently assigned the freighters West Nohus, West Japan and West Camargo, and the passenger liners President Harrison and President Hayes. The five vessels have been allocated to succeed in the company's Pacific-Argentine-Brazil line.

The Japanese steamer Taiyo Maru, with about 500 passengers, arrived here today from Hongkong and way ports.

The Oceanic liner Sonoma, with a fair passenger list and large cargo of freight, arrived from Australia and way ports today.

Taking the delayed schedule of the Pacific Mail liner President Wilson, which was damaged by fire last Saturday, the President Lincoln will sail from San Francisco tomorrow afternoon. The Lincoln has abandoned a capacity cargo transferred from the Wilson, in what is said to have been record time. The passengers due to sail on the Wilson are to depart on the Lincoln.

A. G. Cunard, descendent of Sir Samuel Cunard, founder of the Cunard Line, one of the oldest ship services under the British flag, arrived here today from New York. He is succeeding his cousin, Sir Ernest Cunard, who is retiring from active association with the concern.

Sir Cunard is visiting all offices of the Cunard Line in the United States. The main offices are in New York.

VICTORIA (B. C.) Aug. 13.—A "reasonable trip," remarked Capt. A. J. Halley of the Canadian Pacific Empress of Canada, which arrived here last night and came to wharf today. "We had fog during the entire trip, except for Friday and Saturday, when we took our first observations."

Before leaving Hongkong for Victoria the Canada was compelled to put in for shelter from the typhoon. It became too risky to stay at the wharf, so the vessel shifted for safety to Junk Bay, a few miles out from Hongkong. The Canada has 220 first-class, eighty second-class, thirty-five third-class and 275 steerage passengers. There were a few Russians in the steerage.

Lieut.-Joseph P. Robecca of the Portugese government staff in Macao, who arrived here by the Empress of Canada today, said that a modern port was being built at Macao by the Portugese government, to be equipped with every facility for the wharfing of large ships and the handling of cargo.

ASTORIA, Aug. 13.—The Norwegian steamer Storviken arrived today from Colon, and after loading flour at the Astoria terminals for the Orient, will go to Portland to take on freight.

SEATTLE, Aug. 13.—The Siberian liner Irtysh, which went on the rocks near Victoria, July 29, was floated at 9 o'clock this evening, Frank Waterhouse & Co. of this city, owners, were notified. The cargo had been lightened. It was reported that the vessel was punctured and was leaking considerably, but was not in danger of sinking. Conveyed by the Canadian Wrecking steamer Algerine, the Siberian Prince was being taken to Esquimalt for repairs.

The H. F. Alexander, arriving here today from California, brought more than 500 passengers. She had a capacity cargo.

The President McKinley, which yesterday left Yokohama for Seattle is carrying $3,000,000 worth of silk and has 413 passengers, according to advices received from her today by the Admiral-Oriental line.

The full-rigged ship Benjamin of the Pacific of the Northwestern Fisheries Company left Naknek Thursday with 62,000 cases of salmon, according to advices received today by the company. The bark Guy C. Goss departed from Nushagak August 4 with salmon, and the full-rigged ship St. Paul is to leave Kenai this week. Alaska fish and fish products now occupy practically all of the available cargo space in all of the vessels coming to Seattle from Alaskan points, and this situation promises to exist for the next month at least.

Bringing nearly $1,000,000 worth of Alaska canned salmon and a great variety of other cargo, and posted to load more than 10,000,000 feet of lumber on Puget Sound for California and the east coast, thirty-six deep-sea vessels will arrive in Seattle this week, according to shipping reports.

The vessels are coming from California, Alaska, the East and Gulf coasts, the Orient, South and Central America, Australia, the United Kingdom and continental Europe.

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Aug. 13.—Wheat exports here for the season of 1922-1923 totaled 19,169,838 bushels, according to the Vancouver Merchants' Exchange. Of the total, 14,894,052 bushels went to the United Kingdom and Europe, 3,920,661 to the Orient, and 354,815 to South America.

COOS BAY, Aug. 13.—The steamer F. A. Warner, which loaded lumber here, left today for Bay Point.

The steamer C. A. Smith arrived today from Los Angeles to load lumber.

The steamship Acme arrived last evening from Bandon, bringing a cargo of logs.

PORTLAND, Aug. 13.—The British steamer Willisden has arrived to take lumber to Australian ports.

The Swedish motorship Bullaren arrived today and will take on 27,000 feet of lumber for Australia. The vessel will also load salmon at Astoria.

The Hamburg-American Line steamer Sachsen, loading at terminal No. 4, will leave here tomorrow night for continental European and Mediterranean lumber and mixed freight.

The Matsuyama Company, agents for the Yamashita Kisen Kogyo Kaisha, trans-Pacific steamship operators, will likely open a chartering department at Portland shortly, according to K. Uchida, vice-president of the firm. Uchida returned today from Japan, where he has been for several months.

The Japanese steamer Kuvo Maru of the T. K. K. fleet, arrived today to complete its cargo with lumber and flour. General cargo was loaded at Baltimore.

TACOMA, Aug. 13.—The Arabia Maru sailed this afternoon for Japan with a full cargo of general freight, including 150 sheep for the Japanese government.

The Frank Lynch sailed for other sound ports this afternoon, after taking on 500,000 feet of lumber.

The Charles R. McCormick completed her cargo with 500,000 feet of lumber and left for the east coast.

The Robert Luckenbach sailed Sunday night for the east coast with a large quantity of lumber. She is the Santa Barbara is completing the loading of 800,000 feet.

The Baron arrived Sunday afternoon for a general cargo of shooks, lumber and ores.

The President Madison arrived at the smelter this afternoon to load copper and sailed tonight for the Orient, via Seattle.

MOIST EYES TRIBUTE TO BLACKWELL

Work of Actor in "Beloved Vagabond" Causes All Who Watch to Weep

In all London there were very likely no half-dozen places where so many tears were shed as there were within an area of thirty square feet at St. Margaret's-on-Thames during the last week.

It was the saddest place imaginable, and every one of the fifty or more people present was deeply affected.

Nothing tragic in real life had happened, but the great sorrow of one of the most beloved characters in modern English literature was being so poignantly visualized in film scenes that hardly a person in the scenes or looking on was able to hold back the tears.

Carlyle Blackwell, appearing as Paragot in his own film production based upon William J. Locke's novel, "The Beloved Vagabond," was enacting the scenes where the intellectual and artistic hero is lapsed into degradation after the strange and unhappy ending of a love affair.

The scenes were in the Cafe Delphine, Paris, with many habitues of Montmartre present, and so full of pathos and human appeal were the incidents depicted and so vividly did Mr. Blackwell simulate the heart-breaking tragedy of the soul-battered artist that every one playing in the scenes wept uncontrollably. No glycerin tears were needed.

Absolute quiet prevailed, save for the soft strains of Massenet's "Meditation" from "Thais," or of Schumann's "Traumerei," played by an orchestra, and the low, pleading tones of Fred Le Roy Granville, who is directing the picture, as he reached the emotions of the players with gently spoken descriptions of the tragedy being presented—words so low and full of feeling that they drifted off into whispers.

Blackwell in these emotional scenes gave a magnificent performance. Phyllis Titmuss, Madge Stuart, Madame Irene Tripod and Master Albert Chase were the other chief players whose talent for acting of great feeling was put to an extraordinarily severe test.

ADMITS HOLD-UP GUILT

No Fraund in Scope Canyon Filing. Postoffice Robber Enters Plea Before Judge

Procupio Rico was the only one of the three men, charged with the hold-up of the Arcade Postoffice, to enter a plea of guilty before Judge James yesterday. At the request of his mother the imposing of sentence was postponed until September 3.

Thomas B. Lyles pleaded not guilty and plans to offer a plea of insanity, it was stated. Myers M. Morris has not entered a plea.

The hold-up took place on July 12. Fannie Schofield, the cashier of the postoffice, and Owen A. Weirbach, a clerk, were the victims. The robbers obtained $1570.

LEFT LARGE ESTATE

According to the petition to probate her will, Josephine B. Watson, who died August 6, left an estate valued at $100,000. To her husband, S. H. Watson, 337 South Alvarado street, $10,000 was bequeathed by the terms of the will, and the residue of the estate is to be divided between a number of nephews and nieces.

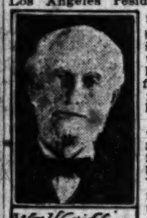
CIVIL WAR VETERAN IS DEAD HERE

William H. Griffin Came Here in 1884 and Viewed Growth of City

William H. Griffin, 82 years of age, Civil War veteran and pioneer Los Angeles resident, died Sunday morning at his home, 1309 South Manhattan street, of heart disease, following several years of ill health.



Wm H Griffin

Mr. Griffin was born near St. Albans, Vt., in 1841. Just before the Civil War the family moved to Illinois, where he enlisted in the Army of the Cumberland on the outbreak of the war. He fought in eighteen battles.

Coming to Los Angeles in 1884 he became interested in the realty business and soon opened an office of his own. Since that time he had lived here continuously, and had watched the city grow from a population of a few thousands into a great metropolis.

Mr. Griffin was a member of the Staten Post, G.A.R., and an active charter member of the First Congregational Church. He is survived only by his widow.

Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock from the funeral parlors of W. A. Brown, 1335 South Flower street. Interment will be at the mausoleum in Inglewood Park Cemetery.

Williams Has Finished 'Day of Faith' Role

Wally R. Williams has just finished "A Day of Faith" with Tod Browning and is preparing to start on a well-earned rest.

He has worked almost continuously since the start of the "Hunchback" and recently did the Drill Sergeant in Clyde Cook's latest comedy "Under Orders," going from there to Goldwyn for "A Day of Faith" and has been working for Hal Roach on the Edna Murphy serial. Mr. Williams has been in pictures since the old Biograph Days. He will return to the Goldwyn studios for the next Browning picture in September.

Vic to Write "Strangers of Night" Score

Victor Schertzinger is writing the music score for "Strangers of the Night."

Fred Niblo and Louis B. Mayer decided that the composer was the only man to give a lilting swing to "Captain Applejack's" song. They paged Schertzinger up and down the Coast, found him at Santa Barbara and set him to work.

Schertzinger wrote the score for "Robin Hood" and also the haunting "Marcheta."

BOULEVARD STOP PLAN MADE LAW

Mayor Signs Ordinance Compelling Drivers to Halt at Three Streets

Mayor Cryer yesterday signed an ordinance setting aside three through traffic arteries as boulevards over which the boulevard stop plan of traffic regulation will be tried. The three streets are Wilshire Boulevard, from Westlake Park to the city limits; Figueroa street from Washington street to the south city limits, and Mission Road, from Alameda street to Alhambra avenue.

Under the boulevard stop plan vehicles entering the boulevards must come to a complete stop before crossing or entering.

The Police Department will mark the intersections and will patrol these boulevards to instruct drivers as to the new regulations. The boulevard stop plan has been successful in eastern cities in speeding up traffic and reducing the number of accidents. If it is successful here the plan will be extended to other through traffic highways.

The ordinance signed by Mayor Cryer yesterday will take effect September 15.

Rail Plea Halts Excavating by Gravel Company

The Los Angeles Rock and Gravel Company has been temporarily restrained from making excavations along the line of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway, on the line running through the Arroyo Seco to Pasadena.

The order was granted by United States District Judge James yesterday when the railway company asserted the excavations were so close to the track that they threatened the safety of the road bed and made travel dangerous.

The gravel company has until the 23rd inst. to show cause why the order should not be made permanent. The matter was presented to Judge James in chambers.

These six representatives shall choose a seventh member who will be chairman of the committee, and the committee will work in co-operation with the Board of Public Utilities and Chief Engineer Lorentz of the board in the survey as to traffic conditions and the new no-parking regulations necessary to move traffic more speedily through the downtown streets. The final recommendations will then be approved by the Board of Public Utilities and will then go to the City Council for incorporation into a new comprehensive no-parking ordinance which will replace and supersede all present no-parking restrictions.

MARY MINTER PLANS FIGHT

Film Star to See Lawyer Today to Bring About Money Accounting With Mother

Mary Miles Minter and her attorney will confer today on plans for such legal steps as may be needed to bring about an accounting of funds the screen star declares were earned by her since attaining her majority and which she asserts her mother, Mrs. Charlotte Shelby, is withholding.

Miss Minter declares that she will have no further statement to make until after the conference. Yesterday was a busy day for her. Newspaper interviewers competed with a long series of calls from her friends who became much concerned when the news of the possible effort to shoot her a month ago became known. Miss Minter again went over the series of strange noises which disturbed her both in her Argyle avenue home and later in the pretty Pasadena bungalow, in which she has been the guest of friends for the last two months.

SILENT IN TAYLOR CASE

Noting the reference of her sister Margaret to the fact that Mary has never discredited the mother's business ability, Miss Minter said:

"Certainly I have never even inferred that mother is not a good business woman. To the contrary I have said she is a good business woman. That is the very reason why I cannot understand what mother means when she tells me that all I have is $165,000, while she has $175,000. That is what I want explained. I know she is a good business woman and I am willing to give her credit for having cared for my funds better than that. What I want to know is where they are and why I cannot have them. I worked for the money, days and days. I missed the childhood which the average girl has—all I knew was work, work, work. And the result of it all is the home which mother and Margaret operate and in which I never have been welcome unless it be under a promise that I would obey orders."

References which have been made to connect the shooting of a month ago with the tragic death of William Desmond Taylor are given but little credence by Miss Minter. She has refused to make any statement on the Taylor case, declaring that at the time of the murder of the picture director she

VOLLMER USING SEARCHLIGHTS

New Signal Plan Between Police Stations Proves Effective

One of the first of Chief of Police Vollmer's innovations appeared last night, when searchlights playing across the sky carried signals from Central Police Station to outlying stations in the Wilshire, Hollenbeck Heights and Lincoln districts.

Previous experiments in other cities have indicated that messages can travel faster by searchlight than by telephone. In spite of the fog last night, the demonstration was entirely successful and officials stated that records were broken for speed in transmission of messages to other stations.

BANK IS ECONOMIC PANACEA

Organizer of New Financial Institution Will Offer Workers Active Interest in Enterprise

Cure of social unrest among industrial workers through the fixation of economic responsibility that comes from a financial interest in banking enterprises is the basic idea in the mind of Walter F. McCaleb, chairman of the board of the Federation Bank of New York, who is here to organize a bank in which "limited dividends and profit sharing" will be fundamental principles by which the organizers will appeal to prospective purchasers of the bank's stocks.

Mr. McCaleb, who has organized or has been instrumental in the formation of fourteen banks in which labor unions are largely interested, declares emphatically that the Los Angeles bank he proposes to found will have no direct connection with labor unions. Rather, he says, there is a distinct lack of class appeal in banking project here, as he desires all workers or men of small means to acquire a financial interest in such an enterprise. He intends to have several prominent local business men serve on the board of directors in addition to the representatives from the working classes owning the stock.

EXPLAINS PRINCIPLES

"Give the boys who work with their hands for a living a chance to become partners in a bank, where they will be represented on the board, where they will receive limited dividends on the investment and where they share in economic responsibility and you have the solution of the biggest problem confronting the world today," Mr. McCaleb said in explaining the ideas actuating the organization of his banks.

"The control of credit is vital to the functions of the business community. There is a strong analogy between the operations of the credit mechanism and the circulatory system of the human body. If either one is out of order the whole being is disturbed. Application of a corrective produces immediate relief, and well-regulated operation of the entire system."

By the principle of limited dividends on the investment, Mr. McCaleb declares he is not following a radical banking policy, but a most conservative one. The shareholder receives a return in proportion to the expansion of the investment, or the capital and surplus combined, which, as he says, is a dividend to which the investor is entitled. However, in the banks already established, the directors have followed a conservative policy in the payment of dividends, having regard for the proper administration of funds and the growth of the institution.

FEATURES OF POLICY

Payment of interest on savings deposits from the date of the opening of the account and elimination of provisions which, according to Mr. McCaleb, often prevent the depositor from realising a legitimate interest return, are features of the banks already doing business in other cities. He observes that in each instance the competing banks have promptly adopted these policies.

Of the fourteen banks organized

NEW SHIP FIRM INCORPORATED

California - New York Line Buying Seven Boats

Organization Capitalized at $7,500,000

C. S. Whitcomb President; Home Office Here

With the incorporation of the California-New York Steamship Company for $7,500,000 and the election as president of C. S. Whitcomb, vice-president of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange of Los Angeles, this city adds notably again to its long list of major industries with home offices here.

Mr. Whitcomb is now in Washington, D. C., arranging for the purchase of seven large vessels from the United States Shipping Board. These will ply between the western and eastern coasts via the Panama Canal, carrying Pacific Coast fruits and other perishables to the eastern ports of Philadelphia, Boston and New York City. They will bring back assorted cargoes of merchandise to the Pacific ports of Los Angeles and San Francisco, as well as carrying passengers both ways.

TO START IN JANUARY

According to F. N. Bigelow, State market director and executive secretary of the new company, operations will start in January. At the present time the headquarters of the new corporation are at 307 Merritt Building, Eighth street and Broadway. Offices will be opened in San Francisco within a few days, according to the announcement of A. P. Hammond of Los Angeles, first vice-president and general manager.

At the present time Pacific Coast ports to be made by the vessels will consist only of Los Angeles and San Francisco but later as the business expands it is planned to include Portland and Seattle. The loading districts have been divided into two sections. All fruits and perishables north of Tehachepi will be shipped to and loaded at San Francisco and all from the Southland will be shipped from Los Angeles. All vessels used will be equipped with large refrigeration holds and facilities for passenger service.

TO RESIGN STATE POST

It is understood that Mr. Bigelow will resign his duties with the State to take care of the business of the new company. E. M. Sheehan, president of the California Grape Growers' Exchange is second vice-president of the organization.

Mr. Hammond said that the company will not be a direct competitor of the railroads in carrying Pacific Coast products but will be more of a relief to them, inasmuch as the railroads usually are swamped during the fruit and vegetable seasons.

A board of fifteen directors will control the destinies of the new concern. Among those whose names have been announced are Erwin H. Rice, president of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association of Los Angeles; Charles Eygabroag of the First National Bank of Anaheim; C. H. Williamson, president of the S. H. Williamson Company of this city; Alex Genovan, capitalist; E. L. Goodsell, manager of the Fruit Auction Company of New York City, and Llewellyn A. Banks, president of the Citrus Growers' Cash Association of California.

WHERE CRIME COMMISSION STANDS IN CAPT. HEATH'S CASE AND TOWARD POLICE

The Crime Commission of Los Angeles yesterday issued the following statement:

The Crime Commission of Los Angeles was organized in January, 1923, for the purpose of constructively applying its every energy and resource to the suppression of violent crime in Los Angeles; to aid existing agencies for law enforcement and to correct as far as possible any deficiencies that may exist in this machinery to the end that lives and property in Los Angeles and community will be not only as safe as elsewhere but safer.

The Crime Commission was organized by the Community Development Association and is not the outgrowth of nor the successor to any organization that has heretofore applied itself to this important phase of our city's development.

The commission has labored, arduously and patiently, for eight months with the result that fundamental improvements have been effected. Some weeks ago the commission realized that it had gone as far as it could until the almost impenetrable barrier of politics and factional strife could be eliminated from within and without the police department.

In respect to its purposes and activities the Crime Commission considers the charges against Capt. R. Lee Heath merely an incident, but is interested in them to the end that the charges against Capt. Heath by former Chief of Police Oaks be fully and impartially aired and that the true conditions in our police department be known to the people of Los Angeles.

The Police Commission is responsible to the citizens of Los Angeles to see to it that this is done and should determine to bring out during the Heath hearing all information that may properly be introduced evidencing the existence of pernicious politics inside and outside of the police department which have been essentially responsible for the department's demoralization and its ineffectiveness in combating violent crime in this city.

The Crime Commission has not in the past nor does it at this time align itself with any particular individual or faction in this or any other controversy and it seeks only facts which may lead to remedies. It was organized and is laboring purely in the interests of the general public of this community.

Let the Heath hearing develop what it may; and let the duly constituted authorities take advantage of any such developments to vigorously eliminate politics or any other form of corruption inside or outside of the police department of Los Angeles, and any immoral, dishonest or inefficient officers, regardless of whom such action may affect. Until this is done the citizens of Los Angeles will not get the full benefit of the constructive improvements which have been instituted in the police department in past months and for which the Crime Commission has steadily labored, nor will further efforts to bring the efficiency of the department up to its proper point be possible of realisation.

The Crime Commission will assist any official body or official to the end that the staggering increase of violent crime in Los Angeles will cease.

For the above reasons the Crime Commission is intensely interested in the Police Commission's hearing of the charges against Capt. Heath in order that in the interests of the public important facts relating to conditions in the police department may be brought to light.

MUNICIPAL POWER BUREAU ADMITS IT IS "BROKE"

Political Spendthrifts Ask City to Relieve Them of Bond Charges, Lend 'Em Two Millions

Admitting that the Municipal Power Bureau is "broke" and must have cash to carry on its business of supplying power and light to its consumers, the Board of Public Service Commissioners has called into most serious conference members of the City Council, told the story of the power bureau's poverty and begged for relief. The conference held last week between the Public Service Commissioners and the second one to be held later this week are interesting and illuminating in view of the reckless political expenditures of the Power Bureau and of its repeated declarations that it is making enormous profits out of the municipal power enterprises. These statements bristled with figures and placed the annual profits of the city's power business at anywhere from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 plus. Still the Power Bureau has no cash with which to extend transmission lines and to make other additions and repairs to its equipment. It spent about $50,000 of public money on its futile campaign for the $35,000,000 power bond issue.

At the conference last week with President Workman and Councilmen Criswell, Mushet and Gregory, the Public Service Commissioners outlined an elaborate scheme of high finance whereby the Council could, if it would, hand over oh, say about $2,000,000 in cash to the power department so as to repair its equipment and lines which are apparently now being held together by faith, hope, charity, chewing gum and string.

"The downtown lines," said one commissioner—possibly Dr. John R. Haynes, step-father of the late unlamented $500,000,000 Water and Power Act and god-father of the dead and possibly-to-be resurrected $35,000,000 power bond issue which was defeated at the city election on June 5, "are so overloaded that they are actually hot to the touch. Something must be done, or we'll have a blow-up."

The commissioner did not say whether he meant the commission would blow up, the Power Bureau would blow up or the lines would blow up.

"PLEASE EXCUSE US"

The first step the commissioners asked the Councilmen was to be excused for oh, say, a while, from keeping the commission's loudly-heralded pledge made solemnly by resolution adopted on May 23, 1922, that after June 23, 1922, the commission would, from the power revenues overflowing from its coffers, kindly relieve the taxpayers from paying any of the interest

ESCAPED BANDIT IN TWO HOLD-UPS

Bank and Dairy Are Robbed; $5600 Taken

Convict is Identified as Jesse Taylor

Desperado Broke Away From Officer Saturday

Jesse Taylor, notorious gunman and bandit, who made a spectacular and successful break for liberty from a speeding train at Madera Saturday, after robbing a bank and a dairy in Los Angeles yesterday added another job to his list last night when he robbed a filling station of the Standard Oil Company at Long Beach. In the Long Beach job he obtain $30 from Fred Darby, on duty at the station.

Jesse Taylor

Yesterday morning the Folsom prison life termer held up the Fifty-seventh street and Central avenue branch of the California Bank and the Jersey Dairy Farms Company at 1008 West Slauson avenue and escaped with approximately $5600. Taylor accomplished both robberies singles-handed, acting with utmost coolness in each case. Less than two hours elapsed between the first and second robbery, the bandit making his escape in a stolen car each time.

COVERS TWO MEN

The Jersey Dairy Farms Company offices were held up shortly after 10 a.m. Taylor, wearing a dark blue suit and tan cap, entered the offices through the front door. William Gemmell, secretary of the company, and Charles Lawler, an employee, were working over accounts.

Taylor approached the two victims and covered them with a blue-steel revolver.

"Put 'em up and keep still!" he commanded.

The two men, taken completely by surprise, obeyed. Keeping his gun trained on both victims and warning that he would shoot at the merest break, the bandit forced Mr. Gemmell to open the two safes in the office and to hand to him the money in each, totaling approximately $1600.

The money he stuffed into his pockets. Then he commanded Mr. Gemmell to cut the telephone wires. Under threat of death he forced Mr. Gemmell to tie up Lawler with these telephone wires.

This work completed, Mr. Gemmell was warned by Taylort o remain in the office for at least ten minutes or he would be shot "full of holes." The bandit warned that he would remain by the door for a few minutes to see that this order was obeyed. Then turning nonchalantly about he walked out and disappeared.

Two hours later a Ford car drove up to the branch of the California Bank. The bandit jumped out of the machine and hurried into the building. A revolver, the same he had used in the dairy company hold-up was in his hand. Immediately after entering the bandit shouted out:

"Stick your hands up and keep still!"

JUMPS OVER RAILING

Without waiting to see whether his command had been obeyed, Taylor hurdled the railing separating the lobby of the bank from the offices and landing lightly on his feet, swung about and covered the four officials and employees with his gun.

"Give me all your money, and be quick about it. If you try any funny work I will send you to h—— so fast you won't know what happened."

In the bank at the time were I. H. Sproul, manager; E. H. Smith, assistant manager; Miss Edna Hackett and Grace Walton, clerks.

They were all lined up against the rear wall and the bandit darted behind the cashier's window, scooping up all the money in sight, approximately $4000, and stuffing it again into his pockets.

The robbery occurred during the busiest hour of the day and many pedestrians, looking through the window, but too frightened to in-

LONG BEACH GAS FIGHT ENDS

Citizens to Vote Today in Proposed Bond Issue For $3,000,000 Plant

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Aug. 13.—The campaign for a $3,000,000 municipal gas plant which has been in progress here for the past four weeks terminated tonight, and tomorrow voters will ballot on the project. Two meetings tonight, a mass meeting at the pier auditorium, and a debate before the Long Beach Advertising Club, brought to a close one of the most spirited campaigns in the beach city in years.

The election is the result of the development of great volumes of flush gas on Signal Hill. When the initial gasser came in late in 1921, the movement for lower gas rates and municipal ownership of the Long Beach gas distribution system started.

Last November the City Council appointed a gas committee to investigate beach gas conditions. The committee called at the general offices of the Southern Counties Gas Company in Los Angeles and asked that the rates charged for gas be reduced or the city of Long Beach be permitted to purchase the company's plant.

NO APPLICATION FILED

President F. R. Bain of the gas utility stated that the company's property in Long Beach was not for sale, but advised the committee that the State Railroad Commission was the proper regulatory body, suggesting that an application for a rate adjustment be filed with that body. The records of the commission show that the city of Long Beach filed no application at that time.

On the advice of the Council, the committee, through an engineer whose name was not divulged during the campaign, made a study of the gas situation and prepared a report in which it was stated that a duplicate distribution plant could be built for $2,500,000.

AGENCIES FIGHT LAW ON JOB FEES

Employment Offices Obtain Restraining Order

State Limit on Concessions Dcelared Too Low

Labor Bureau Official Says Regulation Needed

Action anticipated after the last session of the State Legislature was taken yesterday when W. W. Payne, director of the firm known as the Fisk Teachers' Employment Agency, filed action in the Superior Court for a temporary restraining order to prevent the State Labor Bureau from carrying out the provisions of the amendment covering "employment fees." The Attorney-General's office consented to issuance of a stipulated injunction, effective until the final hearing, September 5.

Consent of the Attorney-General's office was in order to save time and argument, and the stipulated injunction was granted by Judge King of Madera, sitting in Department Thirteen of the Superior Court in the absence of Judge Dorn. The consent of the Attorney-General's office means that there will be only one argument in the case, that at the final hearing.

Mr. Payne is supported in his action by most of the employment agencies of the city, he simply acting as agent for all in bringing the action as a test case. The purpose of the test is to determine whether or not the enactment of the Legislature is constitutional.

Section 11½ is the enactment attacked. This is an amendment to the former law covering employment fees and provides that an employment agency is limited to a fee of 10 per cent of the first month's pay of the applicant for whom a situation is secured. It is reported that the custom has been to charge from 25 to 50 per cent of the first month's pay, while another report is to the effect that in some instances a fee of 5 per cent per year has been charged, this payment as long as the position is held.

The amendment to the labor laws covering employment fees is known as the "private employment agency fees amendment." It was to become effective August 15, the same date a number of other enactments and amendments are to become effective.

That the action of the employment agencies yesterday was fully anticipated by the Labor Bureau is indicated in the fact that State Labor Commissioner Walter G. Mathewson came down from San Francisco Sunday to be present at the hearing yesterday. In connection with the amendment, Mr. Mathewson stated yesterday:

"There is a crying need for the regulation of employment agencies and of these fees in the State of California. Last year in this State more than $1,000,000 was paid by men and women out of jobs to obtain employment. Many of the fees have been excessive, from 35 to 50 per cent of the first month's pay being charged, while I have reports that even more excessive fees have been charged.

"The employment agencies have attacked the amendment on the ground of 'common sence.' They contend that they cannot do business at the rate fixed by the amendment. Yet there are two known agencies in San Francisco doing business successfully at the 10 per cent rate."

The temporary restraining order granted yesterday means that the Labor Bureau cannot interfere, and that any fee may be charged until the final hearing in District Twenty-five of the Superior Court, September 5. However, if the amendment is then held constitutional, it will be retroactive and employment agencies will be required to refund any fee in excess of 10 per cent collected between August 15 and September 5.

John D. Fredericks and Byron Hanna represented the plaintiff in the injunction suit yesterday. The Labor Bureau was represented by Erwin W. Widney, Deputy Attorney-General. These attorneys will carry the case through the final hearings.

BANK TO CURE SOCIAL UNREST

under Mr. McCaleb's principles, several are paying dividends. The Cleveland bank, known as the Engineers' National Bank, in two and one-half years has accumulated total resources of $24,000,000, and is paying 8 per cent to stockholders. This bank also originated the savings dividend check, paying an extra 1 per cent to savings deposits above the customary 4 per cent.

The San Bernardino bank, with branches at Barstow and Needles, paid 5 per cent last year, and has paid 3 per cent so far in the current year. Other banks are located in Birmingham, Ala., Philadelphia, Chicago, St. Louis, New York, (two,) Nottingham, O.; Cleveland, Cincinnati, Pittsburg and Hammond, Ind. Of these institutions the St. Louis, Pittsburg and Chicinnati projects are just beginning operations.

The details of his Los Angeles venture will be announced by Mr. McCaleb in a few days after he has conferred with local business men. The form of the charter, whether national or State, the capitalization and the title are yet to be determined. The stock will be sold at $125 a share, with partial payment privileges permitted where proper arrangements are made with outside banks or individuals by the investor. Few of the other banks, Mr. McCaleb says, have had to accept any great amount of partial payment purchases.

Mr. McCaleb has been identified with banking enterprises for some time, having had considerable experience in Texas, where his last connection was as acting vice-chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas. He is author, among other works, of "Present and Past Banking in Mexico" and "A History of Mexican Finance."

LEAST HE COULD DO

"Do you stand back of every statement you make in your newspaper"? asked the timid little man. "Why—er—yes," answered the country editor. "Then," said the little man, holding up a notice of his death. "I wish you could help me collect my life insurance."

terfers, saw the desperado at his work.

The bandit, after taking the money, again leaped over the railing, sprang into his car and drove away, proceeding down Central avenue to Forty-ninth street and turning.

Shortly after the two robberies photographs of Taylor were submitted to all victims who identified him as the bandit who robbed them. Assistant Captain of Detectives Vernand declared that the identification of Taylor was positive and left no room for doubt as to the bandit's identity.

Taylor escaped from Deputy Sheriff Larimer Saturday while being taken from Folsom Prison, where he was serving a life sentence, to testify in a case in Superior Court. The train had slowed down at Madera and Taylor, seizing this advantage, suddenly swung on his guard with a monkey wrench, knocking him unconscious. Then he darted through the aisle of the train and leaped off. Notices of his escape were broadcast immediately by the Sheriff's office here to almost every peace officer in the State. Taylor was sentenced for about thirty robberies and hold-ups committed here in a short time. He is known to police throughout the West.

Long Beach police also are seeking Taylor in connection with a hold-up near that city Sunday. Partial identification of Taylor as the bandit who robbed him has been made by the victim.

ROBS OIL STATION

Positive identification of Taylor as one of the three bandits who Sunday night held up and robbed the Standard Oil Company station at Forty-third and Main streets also has been made. Taylor and the other two desperados drove up to the station in a stolen automobile, covered the attendant with revolvers and escaped with approximately $150.

The photograph of Taylor was picked out from forty others by the station attendant as that of one of the three bandits. In the belief that Taylor would attempt to escape to Mexico, Deputy Sheriffs Dewar and Aguirre left last night for San Diego. Taylor was first arrested by Deputies Dewar and Stensland.

ELKS PLAN LUXURIOUS CLUBHOUSE

Local Chapter of Order Will Erect New Building Near Westlake Park

Negotiations have been virtually completed for the erection of a large new clubhouse for the Elks on the southwest corner of Sixth street and Parkview avenue, according to rumors current in building and real estate circles yesterday. It is estimated that the approximate sum involved in the transaction will be close to $1,000,000, including costs of construction and purchase of property.

Members of the Elks stated that arrangements have been in process of formulation for several months since the sale of their property on the corner of Eighth and Flower streets, where a spacious structure for the organization had been contemplated. The downtown property was resold to capitalists for a substantial profit.

It was stated by C. G. Pyle, secretary of the local Elks, that the transaction for the acquisition of the site had not yet been placed in escrow, but he explained that such action might be taken within a few days. The lot involved in the new deal is 120 feet wide and 150 feet deep and is directly opposite Westlake Park.

At present the local club has its home at 300 South Olive street, at the top of Angel's Flight, where it has been located for many years.

ROCK CONTROVERSY IN COUNCIL AGAIN

BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS REPORTS FAVORABLY ON CHANGES

The controversy in the City Council over the adoption of the amended specifications for the furnishing of rock for city street work and other public improvements is expected to be renewed at this morning's session of the Council when the Board of Public Words' report is read transmitting the proposed changes in the specifications. Of these changes the board, in a letter to the Council which will be read this morning, says:

It is our belief that the adoption of the amended specifications will not result in the furnishing of an inferior quality of rock for use in connection with the work of street improvement in the city of Los Angeles and that the said action by your honorable body will be for the public good, insomuch as it will open up a wide field of competition and assure an adequate supply of rock for municipal purposes.

ORPHANAGE FUNDS SOUGHT

Rabbi to Conduct Campaign Here for Institution to be Started in Jerusalem

A campaign to raise in Los Angeles the sum of $35,000 toward the building fund for a great Jewish orphanage in Jerusalem was started yesterday with the arrival of Rabbi Selig Lider, field director of the Ukraine War Orphans' Committee, who will be in charge of the work.

The great Palestine Diskin Orphanage Society, headed by I. I. Diskin, chief rabbi of Jerusalem, operates both in Asia and America, and centers of the organization have been established in all the principal cities of the United States. The local committee, consisting of Saul G. Klein, Samuel Hersh, David Kaplan, Rabbi S. M. Neches, yesterday secured quarters at 412 Bumiller Building and the campaign will last for nearly two months.

The main object of the international organization now is to build at Jerusalem an orphange to cost $1,000,000, for which ground has already been broken and which, when completed, will accommodate all of the most needy cases of Europe and Asia.

Rabbi Lider, who recently returned from a trip throughout Palestine and the war-stricken countries of Europe, said yesterday that the Jewish people of Palestine are now experiencing the most serious crisis in the history of that section.

"The European markets being crippled and their exchanges closed, thousands of Jewish pioneers are not only enduring the pangs of hunger but are being compelled to witness the ruin of those beautiful colonies which they have sanctified with their sweat and blood," said Dr. Lider. "As a result, suicide among the zealots is not an uncommon occurrence.

"The greatest problem on our hands, however, is that of our war orphans," said Dr. Lider. "They have come, and are still coming from ravaged territory to find a haven of rest for their weary bodies and minds. We must provide them not only with food and shelter but also with technical training that will make them self supporting. There are many crippled children who require constant medical care and orthopoedic treatment. The eyes of those unfortunate waifs are turned toward their more fortunate co-religionists of happier lands and, God helping us, we shall not fail them."

did everything in her power to aid authorities in solving the mystery.

That it has anything at all to do with difficulties which now exist between her and her mother, she denies.

"NOT UNDERSTOOD"

"This money matter is not a thing of just a few moments or of the last few weeks," she said "It has been of long standing. I have always been treated like a child, never having been given credit for having a mind of my own. Finally it dawned on me and I began to ask for information about affairs. Then trips were proposed and various other means used to put me off. The China trip was one of those trips. My mother either does not or will not understand me. We have come to the end of the road. I hope that we will be able to settle things amicably. Just how it will be done will be the subject of my conference with my attorney today."

At the South New Hampshire-street home Mrs. Shelby is reported to be rapidly convalescing from her illness which necessitated an operation at Good Samaritan Hospital a week ago. Both Mrs. Shelby and her daughter reiterate their belief that difficulties with Mary will be settled readily as soon as the three have a meeting.

Pleads Guilty to Getting Cash by Shady Means

Admitting that he obtained $400 from R. W. Parsons, R. C. Rector and R. W. Steadman on the pretense that he had an option on a valuable parcel of land in the Santa Fe Springs district, H. D. Long pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge Reeve to a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

It was charged that Long told various persons that he could buy the land for $20,000 and needed some money to take up the so-called option.

Plea on other counts of the same nature will be heard on the 30th inst. Long filed an application for probation and will be given a hearing on the 30th.

The case was prosecuted by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Moroney and Jordan.

MICHIGAN SOCIETY TO MEET

PHYSICIAN'S YOUNG WIFE SUMMONED

Death of Kin to Church Founder Due to Overwork Aiding Sick as Nurse

Long hours by the side of her husband, Dr. H. Bruce McDaniel, administering to the ill and disabled, broke the health of Mrs. Doris Martin McDaniel, who died at her home 1823 west Pico street yesterday. As a trained nurse, Mrs. McDaniel had specialized in Bacteriology and laboratory research work and had for five years assisted her husband in his vocation.

Daughter of F. Wesley Martin, noted organist and voice culture instructor, in both England and America, Mrs. McDaniel before her marriage was accompanist for her father, appearing in this city in the Pro-Cathedral. Jolly Martin, as she was known to intimate friends, was active in out-of-door sports a few years ago, taking part in golf and tennis tournaments of this city.

Mrs. McDaniel was a descendant of Chares Wesley, brother of John Wesley, founder of the Methodist Church. She is survived by two brothers, Regonal and Hurbert Martin, her father and husband. Funeral services will be conducted from the Graham and Isbell Funeral Chapel, 915 West Washington street, at 11 a. m. Wednesday. Mrs. McDaniel was 29 years of age.

Police Believe Dead Foreman Was Murdered

The body of E. M. Salzabar, a foreman for the Pacific Electric, was found in Elysian Park last night by small boys at play. Salzabar had been dead several days.

Detectives investigating are convinced that Salzabar was murdered. The shrubbery in the vicinity had been torn up as if a terrific struggle had preceded death. The foreman apparently had been killed by choking.

In his pockets were found his card and the picture of a beautiful Spanish dancing girl, which is regarded an important clew in the case. The dead man is believed to have been unmarried. He had been residing at the Alberta Hotel up to the time of his disappearance several days ago.

POWER BUREAU OUT OF MONEY

and sinking fund charges on the outstanding $25,000,000 power bonds. The Councilmen said nothing to this proposition. If it is adopted by the Council, taxation will be increased this year to the extent of $1,693,277.50 to meet the interest and sinking fund charges for one year on the power bonds. The same pledge was made in the $100,000 worth of literature and propaganda and the "jazz" band musicians played it on their saxophones during the campaign for the $35,000,000 power bond issue in May and June, but evidently the voters did not think much of the promise, for the bonds were defeated. That the "hunch" of the voters that the promise that the bonds "would cost the taxpayers nothing" was simply campaign "bunk" was evidently correct was shown by the commissioners' plea that the Council pay the outstanding power bond charges from taxation for a while until the Power Bureau gets on its financial feet. It has been "getting on its feet," or trying to, for the past ten years.

NEED $2,000,000 LOAN

Then the commissioners hurled at the Councilmen another bright idea to pump financial life into the expiring bankrupt, the Municipal Power Bureau, namely, that the Council should loan the Power Bureau, oh, say $2,000,000 for a while.

"Yes," said the Councilman," a bright idea, but we have no bananas today, which is to say, cash."

The commissioners then suggested that the city sell out of its sinking fund for cash $2,000,000 water bonds recently placed there and the cash turned over to the water department, and that this $2,000,000 could be given to the Power Bureau. The Councilmen left the conference ruminating over this suggestion for providing a life rafe for the Power Bureau.

The Power Bureau's financial difficulties, up to this time stoutly denied by Dr. John R. Haynes, follow as the result of its carrying out its determined effort to take over the Los Angeles business of the Southern California Edison Company for $11,000,000, which the Power Bureau did about a year ago. When the transaction was consummated, the Power Bureau received 110,000 new cash customers for its power, and then to show the glories of political ownership over mere business such as administered by the Edison Company, the Power Bureau promptly and loudly reduced its rates, thus cutting down the bureau's income more than $600,000 a year. The bureau at once began to fall behind financially and clutched gladly at $750,000 handed back to the city by the Edison company to cover adjustments in inventories and also the bureau leaped upon the premium of $495,450 which was received for the $13,500,000 power bonds, which the bureau had secretly attempted to sell to the Hellman syndicate at a discount. The bureau evidently staggered along for awhile with these two donations, but finally in desperation was forced to call the Councilmen into conference and lay bare the fact that Mother Hubbard's Power Bureau cupboard was bare, and please, couldn't something be done about it. The Councilmen, sitting as a committee in bankruptcy, will again meet the Public Service Commissioners to ascertain if any new semi-like scheme has occurred to the commissioners to bring in some cash.

The one solution from which the Board of Public Service Commissioners shrink with horror is to ask the Council for permission to increase the light and power rates, publicly thus admitting that in order to make votes for political ownership the commission has been selling power below cost and has wasted its revenues on propaganda, political engineering both at the power plants and at Washington and at Sacramento, and in gifts to political ownership organizations such as the Boulder Dam Association, which is to receive $1500 a month from power revenues, or until Congress meets again.

First Molasses Cargo Ushers in Era for Harbor

Los Angeles Harbor this morning will open a new era as the great molasses port of the Pacific when the Union Oil tank steamer Montebello arrives from Hilo (Hawaii) with 4000 tons of the cane product.

It is the first shipment of a 100,000-ton consignment which will be rushed to this port from the Hawaiian Islands during the next few months, later to be transshipped inland throughout the Southwest and east to St. Louis. The arrival of today's consignment will also mark the opening of the new plant of the California-Hawaiian Sugar Refining Company's on Terminal Island, adjoining directly the new $10,000,000 terminal of the Union Pacific system.

Tank cars have already been spotted by the Union Pacific near the huge molasses tanks and soon after the shipment is pumped from the tanks of the Montebello it will be transferred to cars and rushed inland for distribution.

The diversion to Los Angeles Harbor of the Hawaiian molasses output will add several millions of dollars annually to the commerce of the port, according to J. V. Carroll, harbor head of the Union Pacific.

HOPI DANCE WARNING

Tourists Must Carry Camping Equipment Along

The Hopi Indian snake dance, one of the most interesting of Arizona tribal customs, will be conducted this year on the 24th inst. at Walpi, Ariz., with preliminaries on the 23rd, it is announced by the Holbrook (Ariz.) Chamber of Commerce. Walpi is 100 miles north of Holbrook, from which there is a good stage road.

The Chamber of Commerce warns tourists that there are no accommodations at Walpi and that those who make the trip should carry full camping equipment. Those going by train should arrange with the chamber for transportation and should bring equipment with them. Most of the cars bound for the affair will leave Holbrook the 23rd inst.

EX-SERVICE MEN PAY NO SELLING FEE

Disabled Veterans' Right Expressed in Opinion by Attorney-General

Disabled veterans are permitted to peddle without the payment of any license fee, according to an opinion given by Atty.-Gen. Webb and filed here yesterday. The opinion was in reply to a query by William C. Morse of the Sawtelle Soldiers' Home.

In his opinion Atty.-Gen. Webb calls attention to Section 3336 of the Political Code. He quotes from this code as follows:

"Every honorably discharged or honorably released soldier, sailor or marine who is physically unable to obtain a livelihood and who shall be a qualified elector of the State of California, shall have the right to distribute circulars and to hawk, peddle and vend any goods, wares or merchandise, except spiritous, malt, vinous or other intoxicating liquor, without payment of any tax or fee whatsoever, whether municipal, county or State."

The opinion goes on to state that the code applies to all soldiers, sailors or marines of the United States or Confederate States who served in the Civil War, any Indian war, the Spanish-American War, any Philippine insurrection, with the China Relief Expedition or in the World War of 1914 and the years following. Such disabled veterans need only apply to the Board of Supervisors or other Legislative body and the license will be issued without cost.

GAS FIGHT ENDS AT LONG BEACH

The committee set forth in its report that the company was making a net profit of $4000 daily in Long Beach and recommended a bond issue of $3,000,000 for a municipal gas plant.

On February 2, last, the Southern Counties' Gas Company applied to the commission for an adjustment of its Long Beach rate charges and six days later, the records show, the City Attorney of that community filed a similar application. On June 26, last Commissioners Brundige and Whittlesey reviewed the case and promised a temporary rate reduction within forty-five days and a permanent rate decision later.

On the 1st inst., the commission reduced the Long Beach gas rates 15 per cent. This reduction did not satisfy the Council and the 14th inst., was set as the date for the bond election.

COMPANY STARTS DRIVE

The proponents of the bond measure, headed by Scott Alexander, chairman of the gas committee, opened a campaign with a series of mass meetings. The gas utility at first did not enter into the controversy, but charges by the municipal gas supporters that the company was earning $4000 a day in Long Beach and other statements caused the company to set forth its side in a spirited publicity campaign.

Tonight, before the Long Beach Advertising Club, Frank H. Bivens, vice-president of the Santa Barbara Rotary Club, denied the charge that the Southern Counties' Gas Company was making $4000 daily, stating that the company's gross earnings there were considerably less than that sum. He also attacked the report of the municipal gas committee and challenged it to name its engineer. He charged that the report was compiled by a meter reader who had no engineering experience.

Bivens also attacked the local municipal water department's record which, according to the city auditor's report, issued last Saturday, showed a deficit of $145,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30, last.

"The Long Beach municipal water department stands in the same class with the municipal power and light bureau of Los Angeles," he declared. "In 1911, $850,000 was asked and voted. In 1914, $200,000 more was asked and voted and again, in 1920, $500,000 more was asked and voted. Notwithstanding the fact that the estimated cost of the water department has been increased 100 per cent in bonds, more than 100 per cent in oil revenue has been added and still one-third of this city faces a water shortage."

Councilman Condit presided at the auditorium meeting. He appealed to voters to support the gas bonds, declaring that by so doing they "would put a club in the hands of the city administration and force the gas company to come to terms" Other speakers were William J. McNamara, former Mayor of Edmonton, Can., W. C. Edrington of Alaska and Prof. James Hyde of Stanford University. Prof. Hyde declared that municipal ownership was a success generally and that the government's operation of the railroads during the war and of the Panama Canal were fine examples of its success.

OPPOSITION STRONG

Mrs. D. M. Shreve, founder of the Women's City Club, has attacked the proposed bond issue and in a recent debate with Prof. Hyde cited the fact that only forty American cities today operate municipal gas plants, despite the fact that more than 300 have attempted it. She pointed out that Avalon, Coalinga, Huntington Beach, Palo Alto and Santa Clara, California cities owning municipal plants have higher gas rates than those charged by the Southern Counties' Gas Company in Long Beach.

The merchants' and manufacturers' branch of the Chamber of Commerce has passed resolutions opposing the gas-bond measure. M. O. C. Hull, Long Beach manufacturer and commander of the American Legion, has openly attacked the municipal gas committee's report. Hull is chairman of the Community Development Committee which has fought the passage of the gas bonds.

Proponents and opponents of the bonds are well organized for the election and a heavy vote is expected. Councilman Condit and several other members of the city government are taking an active part for the bonds and are urging voters to support the administration. A two-thirds majority is necessary to carry the bonds.

TUESDAY MORNING

DANCE ROW AT BURBANK END

T.N.T. Affair is Nothing but Dead Shell Now

Church Shaken to Base by Terpsichorean Act

Result Mystic Smile Now Independent

For several months residents of the city of Burbank, especially members of the Methodist Church of that community, have been discussing "that dance." At times the conversation has become a trifle heated but now the wave of excitement has passed and mention of the subject brings nothing more dangerous than chuckles.

All of which makes the thing suspicious for an account of the affair which at the moment aroused ladies with T. N. T. and other high explosives. The story will be told chrinologically.

MYSTIC SMILE IS BORN

Early last year, the young people of the Methodist Church of Burbank organized the Order of the Mystic Smile. The organization had its origin within the church and in order to become a member there was a requirement of four consecutive Sunday mornings spent in Sabbath School. Joseph Ewing, a land salesman and a teacher in the Sunday School, was the organizer and it was hoped an annex would to make the order a permanent affair within the Methodist church.

When the membership of the organization had reached approximately thirty, it was proposed by the pastor of the church, Rev. Thomas F. Allen, that he give his sanction to a series of entertainments to be given under the auspices of the Mystic Smile.

"I asked them what kind of entertainments they desired to stage and they told me boxing bouts," said Dr. Allen yesterday. "I vowed to give my sanction, as boxing and prize-fighting have no place in the Methodist church."

MAKE SECOND PLEA

Later, however, the leaders of the organization came to the pastor for the second time and asked approval of another type of entertainment. They wanted to put on for two nights a show in the grammar-school auditorium, the proceeds to go to the coffers of the organization for the purpose of new-room furnishings. It was granted.

The leader of the Methodist church consented and helped with the sale of tickets, according to his own statement. Then came the night of the first performance.

Dr. Allen with his family was present. Likewise many of the members and their families. There were a couple of home-talent solos and then "that dance."

"THAT DANCE"

Imported from Los Angeles, a young woman "properly garbed," according to the members of the Mystic Smile, and "nearly nude," according to Dr. Allen, appeared on the stage. The director of the orchestra raised his baton. "That dance" began. According to members of the Mystic Smile it was an authentic interpretation of the passion of the seasons. Others present declared it was "just awful."

"I remained but a few minutes," Dr. Allen stated, "and then with members of my family I departed. I could not witness such a thing, and we were not alone in leaving the room. I should say that at least a score departed before the dance was completed."

SPLIT IN FORCES

The next day leaders of the organization giving the show were called before the minister and asked to cancel the second performance to be given that night. They refused, according to Dr. Allen, and he immediately went on record as denying any allegiance of the church to such an interpretation. "And the church board stood behind me like a man," he declared.

However, but the Mystic Smile performance was given, and proved to be an organization of the Methodist Church. It was immediately turned into a nonsectarian organization and moved into clubrooms in a downtown building. The following Sunday Dr. Allen spoke of the performance, which he termed a disgrace, and several members of the Mystic Smile took exception to his remarks. There was much discussion but no withdrawal of church memberships, according to the minister.

MYSTIC IS INDEPENDENT

The Mystic Smile continued to function as an independent organization, however, and some time later had a convention in Burbank, at which delegates from several Southern California cities were present.

"That dance" is a thing of the past, according to Dr. Allen, but he admits that he was right in regard to the performance. Members of the Mystic Smile likewise admit that it was "proper and in good taste of beauty."

Back yesterday from a six weeks' vacation, Dr. Allen willingly revealed all the details of the affair and further stated that he thought it was just some comedians intent gone wrong. He has taken another charge in the fall, and denied that his leaving Burbank was in any way connected with the affair. He had asked for a change a year previous, he stated.

Husband Ignored Forks at Table, Says Complaint

Rotting utensils were entirely ignored by Christopher James Scott, when he ate his meals in "an inhuman manner," using only his fingers for conveying food to his mouth, according to the divorce complaint filed by Eunice Scott.

Scott also had a repugnance for bathing, his wife asserted, and went days without bathing or cleaning his teeth, although she begged him to do so. To her intense chagrin he would refuse to don his soiled working clothes when he came to their house, the complaint stated.

Mrs. Scott asserted that during the four years of married life they had domestic troubles often interfered in domestic relations, and as a result of all her domestic trials her health broke down and she suffered a nervous relapse.

THE RULING HABIT

If jay-walking is to be utterly forbidden some folks may have to stay home altogether.

BETTER AND BETTER

One of the leading agricultural weeklies of the country remarks that the movies are certainly getting better. If the farmers have noticed it there is a chance for the rest of us.

SALAD DAYS

In Wisconsin most of the natives eat their lettuce with cream and sugar, but we are informed that Senator La Follette is in no wise responsible. He serves pepper with all his green goods.

COLD FEET

A good many people get their fear of a World Court from their own experiences in the aisles of justice. They heard the judge exclaim: "Thirty dollars or thirty days" and it gave them a chill.

THE SONG HITS

Several of the so-called song hits are said to have been written by a 9-year-old girl. Possibly they are the best ones, at that. Some of the others hint of being dashed off by the wild man of Borneo in combination with a laughing hyena.

THE FIRST BATHROOM

An American has just built himself a cute little cottage in a French village, duly installing a bathroom. It is the first ever seen in those parts and the villagers have journeyed from miles round to inspect it. They had read about such things, they admitted, but had never quite believed in them until now.

There has never been any doubt about France's status in civilization. Yet some people consider that bathrooms are the very pivot, the keystone, the basic foundation of cultured civilization.

SOMETHING ON FOOT

According to a trade survey the men of New York have the littlest feet of any city in the country. At any rate, the New Yorkers have the smallest soles. Odd to relate, the men of Philadelphia, which is not 100 miles from Gotham, are said to have the largest tootsies of citified folk. The Quakers average a No. 9 shoe, while the New Yorkers swathe their pedals in a No. 6. Chicago used to boast of possessing the biggest feet in the country and the girls may still claim this glory, but the men in Philadelphia admit a broader understanding than those of their sex in the western metropolis.

A RACY ATMOSPHERE

In an eastern community there is considerable turmoil over the circumstance that some citizen is broadcasting profanity and indelicate stories by radio. The peaceful residents are shocked to have their bedtime tales interlarded with a glittering array of cuss words or a bit of coarse and confusing scandal. The Prosecuting Attorney has been appealed to, but thus far the sinner has not been identified. When wild and wicked men noxiate our senses with vicious verbiage by wireless our very air calls for fumigation. When this offender is located he is likely to burgeon forth in tar and feathers, as the Prosecutor is not sure of the efficiency of printed law to cover the offense. This will have to be looked after. Our broadcasting must be made safe for society.

THROWING THE BULL

Americans have been prone to jest at the hazards of bullfighting as practiced in Spain. They have said that a trip to the stockyards furnished more real action. They have alleged that the animals are feeble and mangy and the toreadors pompous and bombastic. But just now Spain is in real mourning and all because within the last two weeks in four big cities no less than ten popular matadors and picadors have met violent deaths in the arena. The Andalusian bulls have been wreaking their revenge. It may be that these tragedies will crystallize popular sentiment in opposition to the ancient sport. But bull-baiting has been the national pastime of Spain since the days of the great Cid himself—nearly 1000 years—and it is mighty hard to dislodge a sport so strongly entrenched in the minds and hearts of the masses.

HISTORIC HIGHWAYS

One of President Harding's last speeches, in the little town of Meacham, Or., was a rededication of the Old Oregon Trail. There a tablet was unveiled in memory of the pioneers of 1843, who journeyed over deserts and through mountains to reach what was to them a promised land—the land of gold and glory. The trail was made by the horses and oxen they drove and now it is being turned into a national highway. The portion through the State of Oregon is a stretch of 193 miles, extending from Pendleton to the Idaho line. It will cost about $3,500,000, of which Oregon pays $2,000,000. The Federal government contributes $500,000 and the rest is paid by the counties through which the road passes. When the whole project is complete it will be a part of a transcontinental highway of scenic splendor and romantic recollection.

EUROPE AND THE WEATHER

In reading our cabled news of the European situation we lucky Southern Californians find it difficult to have a sympathetic understanding of the curious irritability that seems to pervade them all over there.

But if we realize that many parts of Europe, and especially England, have been passing through the throes of a heat wave and that a heat wave is a very unusual and humidly devastating thing over there it will help us to appreciate conditions.

And heat waves affect the Latin temperament very differently from the Saxon and Teutonic temperaments. The Latin usually gets rambumptious and slyly enterprising—a la Central American republics. They not only want to start something, but they want to keep it up. They become violently conscious of their wrongs and touchily critical about everybody else's right. They not only have a chip on their shoulder, but they crave some reckless fool to knock it off. They are not in the market for peace—even at bargain prices.

Whereas the Saxon feels disturbed and uncomfortable and craves nothing so much in all the world as peace. He wants to come to terms with as few words and as little dickering as possible and get it over with. He has a marked consciousness of the need of self-control. He knows he doesn't shine at his best when he is hot. He has the same sense of futile insecurity that an unprotected pat of butter has during a heat wave. He is very resentful of anyone who wants to lure him out of the ice box and start something. Especially if they expect him to do anything about it. His spirit of compromise, of weary concession, of "All right, dear old thing, have it your own way—but don't push me too far" is very much in evidence. He feels resentful and touchy and a bit moralistic, but he would rather postpone a fight till the weather is cooler, if there really must be a fight.

The Teuton again gets feverish, excitable, cross as a bear, frightfully conscious of his wrongs, a bit explosive, but he is more apt to take it out on his own family or some patient being that won't fight back much than upon uncertain strangers. He has the chip on his shoulder, too, but he sincerely hopes no fool will dare to knock it off. He just wants to grouch along till the heat is over—a nice, passively, quarrelsome sort of peace in which things are unpleasant, but not dangerous.

All of which will account for France's rambumptious activities and attitude in the Ruhr, for England's touchy patience and reproachful indignation and for Germany's internal explosiveness and family rows. To say nothing of our daily "Crises" headings on the European situation.

We must remember that they can't sleep when they have anything approaching a heat wave over there and their nerves are all on edge in their own peculiar ways. In a case like that the French always want to fight it out at close quarters, the Germans merely want to spit and snarl across the fence, and the English yearn to shake hands and take a hammock chair, a pipe and a whisky and soda until they have had a good night's rest.

So, although our headlines are sensationally alarming, the heat wave may subside any day. If it lasts, of course, and the Saxon and Teuton get pushed beyond their national endurance, these crises may materialize. On the other hand, all crises may be modified into mere "regrettable incidents" tomorrow morning if the temperature drops below the insomnia level tonight.

And heat waves never last long in Europe. A jolly thunderstorm usually clears the air. God send them thunder.

THE WAYFARER

Preparations for staging the religious pageant play, "The Wayfarer," in the second week of September are going energetically forward. This is to be entirely a Southern California enterprise, given by the people and for the people of this community. There are many reasons why it should receive the united support of the citizens of Los Angeles, both in supplying the necessary performers and in providing competent attendance.

Because this pageant play is unique in its aims and objects no less than in its presentation it makes a special appeal to the civic pride and religious sentiment of a city noted for both.

It is not a commercial venture in that it is not run for monetary profit. To stage it on the colossal scale required for its adequate portrayal will cost a considerable sum of money, part of which is already pledged by well-known Los Angeles citizens. Should there be any excess of receipts over expenses the balance will be turned in to the endowment fund of the University of Southern California.

The whole object of "The Wayfarer" is to carry a message of hope and encouragement through a world that has not yet shaken off the vague unrest and apprehension inspired by four years of fearful warfare. And the message is just as appealing to the individual struggling with personal trials and perplexities.

Possibly no entertainment has ever been promoted in so purely an altruistic spirit. The play consists of five of the most dramatic scenes in the Bible, with a prelude depicting an incident in the great war and a sequel visioning the Golden Age of a perfect civilization.

Into the completion of the picture are drawn all the arts, music, song, the drama, literature, pageantry, poetry and prophecy. It is historically accurate and profoundly religious. David Belasco says of "The Wayfarer," "it is a presentation not merely for one creed or one faith. Its lesson is for humanity and its dramatic appeal is as sure as human sympathy itself."

"The Wayfarer" is the spirit of religion going out into the highways and the byways employing the methods of business and trade to satisfy the higher aspirations of a people subconsciously straining after something above and beyond these commonplaces.

THE POPE AND THE LEAGUE

In his recent Encyclical, "Studiorum Ducem," Pope Pius XI, in honoring St. Thomas Aquinas, points out that the saint's doctrines set forth in 1323 belong to no one epoch, that they are just as applicable today as in the thirteenth century. His views on law, government, public affairs, war and peace, on the rights and duties of nations toward one another are the fundamental principles of the League of Nations, which, if scrupulously carried out, would be all that is necessary to bring about the "peace of Christ in the kingdom of Christ" for which the whole world is yearning.

At the same time George W. Hillman, [illegible] cussing in the Hearst papers the unaccountable gloom and foreboding in American business circles, ascribes this dismal outlook to the pernicious advocacy of the League of Nations by pastors from their pulpits and college professors who insist upon believing that the "curse of Europe is also ours." And this gentleman offers a simple remedy for these "dangerous utterances"—in large black type—"straight and loud speaking on the part of all American business men who know the facts and conditions of American business."

This, he assures the public, will soon dispel all foolish altruistic delusions which are now occasioning the gloom complex.

But the Hearst papers do not stand for "big business," but rather are they complete humanitarians, considering always "the greatest good for the greatest number." They have said so many times—but they count alone in American money and take no cognizance of American hearts and souls.

JAZZ BOOK-KEEPING

A general announcement for the week late in July in Berlin was "15,000 times the prices marked."

A bit sweeping, of course, but pity the poor price-ticket man who had to go over the entire stock and re-mark every item of goods whenever the mark took another dive on exchange.

Once again it is the misused white-collar man who is bearing the brunt of the suffering in Germany in these hectic days. Picture the seeping sweat of the bank clerk, the book-keeper, the auditor as he daily faces his appalling task. Could any little bobbed-haired American cash girl, even those cafeteria geniuses of ours, cope with the frightful confusion of 1900-mark plates of soup, 420-mark slices of bread, 490-mark pats of butter and 500,000-mark bits of roast chicken?

The extra consumption of ink and pencils, to say nothing of the wear and tear on cash and adding machines, must be appalling. And the wielding of a pencil or pen and ink must have automatically become hard physical labor.

Just picture the utterly staggering dimensions of a modest grocery check in Germany today. Housewives sally forth and purchase a couple of million marks' worth of family nourishment—a couple of days' supplies—probably with no thought of the physical and mental anguish entailed upon the wretched clerk who must figure out their little bills.

Of course, it may be that Germany has already adopted the neat little "star" sign to represent the millions—even as we have on our automobile license plates.

But, even so, if Germany's housewives are as rocky on arithmetic as some of our own, explanatory sessions must be long and arduous.

We have known bright women become violently confused and argumentative over change for $5. It simply boggles the imagination to consider what may be their reactions when it is change for 1,000,000-mark bill that is under consideration.

Just exactly what effect it has to receive a bank statement running in to 500,000 marks, when one is, say, a struggling newspaper man with a wife and seven children and a mother-in-law, all of whom declare they have nothing to wear and whose general appearance bears out the fact that the statement is merely a trifle premature, is past contemplation. But even his emotions can be nothing as compared to the oppressed statement clerk responsible for this utterly boggling display of arithmetical wealth.

One hotel book-keeper in Berlin committed suicide. He couldn't keep up with it. His education had been completed in a mere business college, poor fellow. The rest confidently expect to end their days in lunatic asylums. It is bad enough to keep one's own accounts in Germany just now, but trying to perform that service for the general populace must be beyond ordinary human capacity.

OPPORTUNITY AND OFFICE

America stands for equality of opportunity, but, after all, there are differences in opportunities and there is a difference in the manner in which they are approached by humans. Upon this thought one of our eminent educators urges the value of public service. This is something that no good citizen should reject when called. The professor says that public office is a public duty and no decent patriot should attempt to dodge or evade its responsibilities. It would be a fine thing if the office always sought the man—and found him—but the streets are so cluttered up with men who are looking for office with flashlights, lanterns, sandbags and other equipment that the office does not have a chance to conduct a quiz or quest of its own.

HOW IT STARTED

BY JEAN NEWTON

The Legislative "Whip"

It is curious, indeed, the office that the "whip" in the lower house of Congress holds. Of course, the legislative "whip" is not a switch, strap or any other weapon of offense or defense. The "whip" is a real person whose duty it is to round up the members of his party and see that they are present to vote on important questions when they come up. Naturally, he takes no particular pains to secure the presence of members of the opposition on such occasions.

It was in the English House of Commons that the party "whip" originated, the title being bestowed upon him probably from the fact that shepherds rounded up their herds by means of a whip.

There have been many famous English "whips." From 1850 to 1857 Sir William Hayter served as the Liberal "whip" in the lower house of Parliament and his work was so efficient and so much appreciated by his party that he received a handsome testimonial.

The Rt. Hon. William Paden was another famous parliamentarian "whip" who, as a reward for his services, it is said, was made Governor of Madras.

RIPPLING RHYMES

LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT

They loved each other when they met, Jane Doe and Richard Roe; "A wedding is the safest bet," he said, in accents low; "I never met a damsel yet who charmed and pleased me so." "You are my peacherino boy," the lovely maid replied; "such honeyed language you employ you cannot be denied, and it will fill my heart with joy to be your blooming bride." They came to me for seven bones to pay the pastor's fee, for wedding rings with plate-glass stones and veiling fair to see, and I exclaimed, in ringing tones, "What fools you mortals be! Go, court each other for a year and take long moonlight walks; let Richard whisper in Jane's ear the gushing tosh that knocks; let Jane be sure he is a dear, let Richard save the rocks. This marriage graft should be approached by slow and sure degrees, the young man should be wisely coached,
the girl should strive to please; the subject never should be broached as one would speak of cheese. And marriage is a house of groans unless true love is there, and hearts grow hard as paving stones that no affection share; I shall not lend you seven bones—I have no bucks to spare." The young man soaked his fountain pen, the damsel pawned her hat and they were spliced at half-past ten and settled in a flat; and now they live apart again, divorced, and that is that.

PEN POINTS

The average man is mighty shy about being seen in a bathing suit.

Hi Johnson has both ears to the ground listening for the call of the "pepul."

So far nobody has been able to take the "Cool" out of President Coolidge.

Possibly the Japanese are financing the kick of the Filipinos for independence.

Thieves are now robbing the chain stores. They are even carrying off the chain.

What is more awkward than a woman learning to swim? Possibly a man learning to dance.

The early fall fashions wink toward Chinese designs. Bring on your mah-jongg waistcoats.

It is proposed to have Jack Dempsey fight at Fort MacArthur, a military reservation. It is something to have Jack look fondly on a military reservation.

Politically, Wisconsin is a one-man State. Everybody is for Batting Bob La Follette or against him. There is no Democratic party. La Follette knocked it over the ropes.

The situation in Alaska has been a constant source of debate in a half-dozen administrations. President Harding went up there and secured much valuable information, but it died with him. What will President Coolidge do about it?

While the local police are trying to regulate the automobile traffic, why not take a look at the sheiks who park their cars for hours at a time along the unfrequented side streets. Girls should not accept an invitation for a "little ride" from men they never saw before.

Business methods, economies in cultivation and shrewd economics in marketing are the farmers' aids in profitable production. Give the people what they need, but not too much more than they need, and as directly as possible. That is the road to independence for the farmer.

Senator Couzens, before he sailed away for Europe, said there would be a revolution in this country if the people did not soon get beer. We had not so far understood that the people were ready to fight, bleed and die for a glass of beer. But possibly the Senator is an expert—he knew when to sell his Ford stock.

THIS IS THE DAY

An international army of 30,000 men, American, British, German, French, Russian and Japanese, entered Peking, the Chinese capital, in the year 1900 and ended the Boxer rebellion. The American contingent numbered 6000 men under Gen. Adna R. Chaffee. The Boxers were a secret Chinese society organized to exterminate all foreigners. As one result of the expedition China was forced to open the door of trade to all civilized nations on equal terms.

COOLIDGE'S PHILOSOPHY

[From the "Christian Science Monitor"]

Possibly no better character sketch of Calvin Coolidge, new President of the United States, more clearly defines his philosophy than his own written and published words. A volume, entitled "Have Faith in Massachusetts," was issued in the year 1919, which was the first year of his service as Governor of Massachusetts. It includes many of his public speeches and State papers, all written during a time of intensive activity. In none of them will there be found anything smacking of extravagance or hyperbole. They are the calm and studied utterances of a calm man, and apparently of a man without great political ambitions. Through them all there runs a note of intense patriotism and love of country. What he says of Massachusetts as a State might often have been said of the United States as a whole. With his broadened vision he may find the opportunity to apply to national, and even to world, affairs the same theories which were evolved during the years of his long service to the commonwealth of Massachusetts.

As long ago as 1914, when Calvin Coolidge was first elected President of the State Senate, he took occasion, in accepting the honor done him by his colleagues, to outline what may become a part of a broad national platform. He said:

This commonwealth is one. We are all members of one body. The welfare of the weakest and the welfare of the most powerful are inseparably bound together. Industry cannot flourish if labor languish. Transportation cannot prosper if manufactures decline. The general welfare cannot be provided for in any one set, but it is well to remember that the benefit of one is the benefit of all, and the neglect of one is the neglect of all.

Men do not make laws. They do but discover them. Laws must be justified by something more than the will of the majority. They must rest on the eternal foundation of righteousness. That State is most fortunate in its form of government which has the aptest instruments for the discovery of laws. The latest, most modern and nearest perfect system that statesmanship has devised is representative government. . . . Do the day's work. If it be to protect the rights of the weak, whoever objects, do it. If it be to help a powerful corporation better to serve the people, whatever the opposition, do that. Expect to be called a stand-patter, but don't be a stand-patter. Expect to be called a demagogue, but don't be a demagogue. Don't hesitate to be as reactionary as the multiplication table. Don't expect to build up the weak by pulling down the strong. Don't hurry to legislate. Give administration a chance to catch up with legislation.

In an address delivered at Marshfield, Mass., the home of Daniel Webster, on July 4, 1916, Mr. Coolidge said:

Democracy is not a tearing down; it is a building up. It is not a denial of the divine right of kings; it supplements that claim with the assertion of the divine right of all men. It does not destroy; it fulfills. It is the consummation of all theories of government, to the spirit of which all the nations of the world must yield. It is the great constructive force of the ages. It is the alpha and omega of man's relation to man, the beginning and the end. There is and can be no more doubt of the triumph of democracy in human affairs than there is of the triumph of gravitation in the physical world; the only question is how and when. Its foundation lays hold upon eternity. . . . The light that first broke over the thirteen colonies lying along the Atlantic Coast was destined to illuminate the world. It has been a struggle against the forces of darkness; victory has been and is still delayed in some quarters, but the result is not in doubt. All the forces of the universe are arrayed on the side of democracy. It must prevail. . . . The assertion of human rights is naught but a call to human sacrifice.

In an address before the Amherst College Alumni Association in Boston on February 4, 1916, Mr. Coolidge said:

All growth depends upon activity. Life is manifest only by action. There is no development physically or intellectually without effort, and effort means work. Work is not a curse, it is the prerogative of intelligence, the only means to manhood and the measure of civilization. . . . The growth of a sentiment that despises work is an appeal from civilization to barbarism.

In defining the nature of politics Mr. Coolidge once said:

Politics is not an end, but a means. It is the art of government. Like other values, it has its counterfeits. So much emphasis has been put upon the false that the suggestions of the true have been obscured and politics has come to convey the meaning of crafty and cunning selfishness, instead of candid and sincere service. . . . There is always something about genius that is indefinable, perhaps to its possessor most of all. It has been the product of rude surroundings no less than the most cultured environment, want and neglect have sometimes nourished it, abundance and care have failed to produce it. . . .

It was said of Chief Justice White of the United States Supreme Court, being asked when a youth what he proposed to do when a man, he replied, he had not yet decided whether to be President or Chief Justice. This may be in part due to a general confession of holding to the principle of [illegible] Franklin that [illegible] ther be [illegible] in part to the [illegible] that the people [illegible] own officers so that [illegible] lice is not optional. S PHILOSOPHY

...Science Monitor"]

...the principle of Benjamin Franklin that office should not be sought nor refused, but in part to the American idea that the people choose their own officers so that public service is not optional. . . . Every native-born American, however, is potentially a President, and it must always be remembered that the obligation to serve the State is forever binding upon all, although office is the gift of the people.

In an address delivered before the Roxbury Historical Society at Bunker Hill Day, June 17, 1918, Coolidge, after reviewing the events of 1776, said:

We are beginning to hear of the development of the superman and the claim that he has a sort of right dominion over the rest of his inferiors on earth. This philosophy denies the doctrine of equality and holds that preeminence is not based on service, but on compulsion. It holds that the weak must serve the strong, which is the law of slavery; it applies the law of the animal world to mankind and puts science above morals. This sounds the call to the Bolshevik. It is not an advance in the morning, but a retreat in the night. It is not the light of human reason, but the darkness of the wisdom of the serpent. The law of progress and civilization is not the law of the jungle. It is not an earthly law, it is a divine law. It does not mean the survival of the strongest, it means the sacrifice of the fittest.

In Mr. Coolidge's final speech in the campaign of 1918, when he was a candidate for reelection as Governor, the main issue, as he defined it, was one of law and order. There had been the defiance of law resulting from the police strike in Boston, which began in September and the establishment, brought through the efforts of Gov. Coolidge himself, of order in the city. The Governor had been bitterly assailed because of the firm stand he had taken in refusing to permit the reinstatement of striking police officers. Defining his position in the campaign, he said:

Those who are attempting to wrench the scepter of authority from the representatives of the people, to subvert the institution of her laws, are the enemies not only of progress, but of all present achievement, not only of what we hope for, but of what we have. . . . It is the people win, who can lose. They are awake to the words of Daniel Webster, "None can ruin the country if the people themselves will undertake its safety, and nothing can save it if they leave that safety in any hands but their own." My fellow-citizens of Massachusetts to you I commend this cause. To you who have added to the glory of the hills and plains of France, to the glory of Concord and Bunker Hill, to you who have led when others followed, to you again is the leadership . . . Make it decisive. Make the discharge of the great trust we now hold an example of hope for righteousness everywhere, a new guaranty that the government of America shall endure.

"Grandpa" Clown Is Still a Trouper

George Hartzell and Audience

HEY, KIDS, CIRCUS'S COMIN'

Funny Grandpa Who Has Been Here About Twenty Times Will Return With Ringlings

Grandpa and Grandma Hartzell are coming to Los Angeles September 11 for five days. They have been here many times before—as many as twenty times, perhaps. But never until now in the role of grandparents. Which means that a grandson has been born to George Hartzell, veteran clown of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus, and his wife, the sweet-faced woman with the white hair who is mistress of the show's vast wardrobe.

In clown alley—that portion of Spangleland's dressing tent where the hundred merry mummers don grease paint and domino—it means much more. It means that tradition is upheld. It means that, following George I and George II has come George III to perpetuate that profession which brings joy to little children.

Grandpa Hartzell joined the Ringling Brothers forces forty years ago. He has seen their troupe of clowns grow from a mere half dozen to more than five scores of funny fellows. When Grandma Hartzell first came in charge the wardrobe was carried in a few dozen trunks. Now twenty vans transport it. So the two have seen the great show grow and themselves rear a family. Their son, George II, became a clown and followed the "white tops" for several years.

And will George III be a clown, too?

"Why, the little rascal is one already," declares Grandpa Hartzell. "When he was but two weeks old he cried for his powder puff. And faces! He makes the funniest you ever saw. Never was a better one for clowning."

George III will not be here with the show. Instead he will be back in the "home town," Philadelphia, with mother and father. But he has already "trouped" twice this season—once in Philadelphia and later again in Newark. And if you are at all curious to learn more about him just ask any of the clowns when the Greatest Show on Earth comes to town. All predict that George III will be the favorite "joey" of the season of 1945.

PAY BOOST URGED FOR ENGINEER

Council's Finance Committee Adopts Recommendation for Increase

The salary of City Engineer Griffin will be increased today from $6000 a year to $7500 a year if the recommendation of the City Council's Finance Committee, adopted yesterday afternoon, is approved by the Council. Chairman Mushet, President Workman and Councilman Baker, members of the committee, agreed that the City Engineer should receive a salary of $10,000 a year, but the Councilmen held that an increase now to $7500 would suffice until Efficiency Director Eldridge completes his survey of the salaries paid in the entire engineering department as a basis for an expected revision upward.

City Engineer Griffin, with the indorsement of the Chamber of Commerce, has long urged the Council to increase the salaries of the technical men in the department so that expert engineers can be retained in the city service, and the present City Council has made a start toward a general revision. At yesterday's session of the committee, Chairman Mushet pointed out that Chief Engineer Mulholland of the water department receives $15,000 a year, Chief Electrical Engineer Scattergood of the city power department receives $12,000 a year and Sewer Contruction Engineer Van Norman receives $10,000 a year.

FEDERAL OIL FRAUD INSPECTORS IN CITY

MEN WHO CLEANED UP TEXAS FIELDS TO START DRIVE IN LOS ANGELES

A number of postoffice inspectors who aided in the clean up of fraudulent oil promoters in the Texas field have joined the local corps of Federal investigators to aid in gathering evidence against crooked promoters in local fields. Their assistance is expected to prove of great value because of their acquaintance with the general situation and their familiarity with the methods of many of the operators who were driven from the Texas field. It is known that many of the speculators forced to leave Texas have established headquarters here.

John H. W. Crim, special assistant to Atty.-Gen. Daugherty, sent to the Pacific Coast to aid in investigations, is cleaning up accumulated business before tackling the local situation. It is understood that he will have a conference today with U. S. Attorney Burke on local investigations.

SOCIETY

BY CORA YOUNG

Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Bixby make formal announcement of the betrothal of their daughter, Katherine, to Mr. J. S. Preston Hotchkis of this city. The wedding will be a December event. Miss Bixby, with her parents, left Sunday for the Bixby country home, Rancho Los Alamitos. Mr. Hotchkis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Finlay Montgomery Hotchkis, and secretary of the Pacific Finance Corporation and the California Delta Farms.

Complimented Guest

Mme. Estelle Heartt-Dreyfus is the inspiration of many charming affairs during her stay in the Hawaiian Islands. Among the hostesses who have entertained for her are Princess Elizabeth Kubio, Mmes. Chillingworth, M. McIntosh, Walter Drillingham, M. Lymers, Jack Warren, Francis Gay, Howard Landers (Maybelle Ryland.)

Marriage Announcement

In the Church of the Immaculate Heart on Friday morning Father Martin read the nuptial mass uniting in marriage Miss Bessie Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Thompson, and Mr. Frank Rowan-Webb, son of Mrs. Mary Webb of this city. After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Webb will make their home in Los Angeles.

Betrothal Announced

The Hotel Miramar at Santa Monica was the setting for the large tea given Saturday afternoon by Miss Florence Melcher of this city and Miss Mildred Allen of Pasadena to announce the bethothal of Miss Marie Bloom of Pasadena and Mr. George Hurley of Chicago. The date for the wedding has not been set.

Home from Orient

Judge and Mrs. J. W. Hendrick are now at their home on Alvarado Terrace after a year in the Orient. Their son, Lieut. E. W. Hendrick, accompanied them home to stay two months, and will then go to Fort MacArthur, where he will be stationed for the next two years.

Bridge Luncheon

Tomorrow Mrs. Ira Pence Keiger will entertain with a bridge luncheon at the Mary Louise, complimenting Mrs. Wilbur Coper and her mother, Mrs. Julia Horner of Wichita, Kan. Mrs. Keiger and Mrs. Cooper were schoolmates for a number of years, and they are planning to spend the remainder of the summer touring California together, prior to Mrs. Cooper's return to her Wichita home.

At Del Monte a new summer fad is the "personal motion picture." Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hill are devotees of the new fad and their son, Louis Hill, Jr., is the cameraman of the family. He has made a series of films of the Hill family and their guests, filming their every diversion from the morning gallop to the evening dance, including their play on the golf course and in the swimming pool.

Interesting Guest

An interesting guest at Del Monte this week was Marion Hollins, former national women's golf champion and one of the best-known sportswomen in the country. Miss Hollins, who recently organized a $1,000,000 women's golf club in New York, has been spending most of her time on the links at Pebble Beach, which, she declares, has no superior in the East.

Art Critic Arrives

Prof. Alfred Chatain of Chicago, famous are expert and critic, who came to California to inspect the art collection of Mrs. Adolph Spreckles, has been spending a few days at Del Monte. Prof. Chatain, who is accompanied by Mrs. Chatain, prolonged his stay at Del Monte to browse among the art studies of Carmel and Monterey.

Engagement Celebration.

An interesting dinner party at Del Monte last night included Gouverneur Morris and his fiancee, Miss Ruth Wightman, and Charlie Chaplin. The occasion was made the celebration of the recently announced engagement of Mr. Morris and Miss Wightman. Other guests at the dinner were Mr. Hugh Drury and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stanley.

Late Arrivals

The invasion of Del Monte by Los Angeles and Pasadena is a notable feature of the present summer season. Among the latest arrivals from the south at Del Monte are Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Clark, who motored up from Santa Barbara; Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm McNaughton of Los Angeles, who are planning a stay of several weeks, and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Major of Pasadena. Other well-known Los Angeles people now at Del Monte are Mr. and Mrs. A. Hayes Bush, Mrs. F. Nash, Mr. Carton and Mr. Ben E. Ward.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Gunn and their three children of Grand Rapids, Mich., who have been staying at Pebble Beach for several weeks, have decided to pass the remainder of the summer there. The Gunn family are world travelers, Mr. Gunn having a record of forty-eight trips across the Atlantic. And he declares that nowhere in their travels have they found any place to equal California in the summertime.

Returning from Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stern (Alyne Leamer,) who were married on the 9th inst., are on their way back from their honeymoon trip and will be at home to their friends after September 1 at 623 South Gramercy Place.

By Airplane

Col. and Mrs. Robert Morse of Chicago, who are stopping at the Ambassador Hotel with Mrs. A. Frank and Miss Louise Frank, went to Catalina Saturday by airplane. They will spend the week there enjoying the fishing.

Enjoying Polo

Polo, which invariably compels the attention of the smart set, made Del Monte this week-end the mecca of enthusiasts keen to see the famous internationalist, Tommy Hitchcock, Jr., of Meadowbrook in the saddle. The entire Pebble Beach colony and a large contingent of polo lovers from the bay district made a gay fringe to Del Monte polo field Saturday and Sunday to see exhibition games between Hugh Drury's Del Monte team, on which Hitchcock played, and a team from the Eleventh Cavalry of Monterey.

Supper and Musical

Mrs. Kenneth Preuss entertained a group of friends Saturday evening at her home on Franklin avenue with an informal musicale and supper, complimenting Mme. Cezo Sopin, the well-known mezzo-soprano, until recently with the Boston Opera Company. Mme. Sopin is the house guest of Mrs. R. O. Butler, who will soon move into her handsome new home in Hollywood, which she is furnishing with rare old pieces that she has gathered during her trips abroad.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

In My Garden
By Jessie A. Currey

A few slugs in the garden can do no end of damage in a short time and, in fact, the havoc they can make in one night among young seedlings is most discouraging. In my own garden the best force I have in fighting snails are a few garter snakes. They not only keep down the snails, but possibly we all cannot have such valuable allies and I will tell you of a trap that a friend of mine uses. He hollows out pieces of potato and places the pieces near what he considers the haunts of the snails. He examines these at intervals and kills the pests which have been captured in this simple trap. Another friend of mine who was bothered by snails eating the tops of his dahlias as they appeared above the ground, lays two small boards on each side of the dahlia shoots and in the morning he turns them and usually finds the snails.

ROMEOING AND JULIETING

Romeo and Juliet rather well on Monday night. Los Angeles rose to the occasion with eclat. Never let it be said that we do not appreciate Shakespearean highbrow and the nobler drama. Indeed, the creme de la creme of us, in our best clothes and our best cultured enthusiasm, to pay tribute to America's finest "legitimate" actresses, Jane Cowl—and incidentally magnificently recognized, honored its "sister art," the movies, in condescension.

Of course, we were very, very good. We could not quite forget the ultra-modern reaction to Romeo's manners and morals. We could our cutey flippant remarks and our smarty critical observations. Which were quite distinctly overheard by the most socially select matrons giggling behind their fans. "Oh, Romeo's hair! Look, I have hair like that! Do you suppose that Romeo's all her own? And isn't she little Juliet cap?" "Listen to that passionate balcony scene. Juliet is telling Romeo to the right ale, right out before all the neighbors before—can hear all about it. Gosh, Hollywood and its spaciliess in haughty manners," murmured. "Well, you can't run away with that in my time."

The prize came in for some caustic remarks, too: "Why, the idea of a regular dope peddler's son knew about that!" "Ridiculous looking Adonis for such a very correct evening affair. How if they could get that Judge at Santa Ana to wear an outfit like that, eh!" "He's a little famous for dangying.

Of course, we are exquisite, so we are grateful. I wonder if the directors of Juliet's day ever achieve those wonderful effects! It's the way he does it. You know, Romeo knows all about it. Remember that neatness of the Medieval Daughter?" "Oh, my modists to this designed an ecstatic dream of one of our very own!"

"Remember that painful scene in which Ro waxes very ardent and treats daughter with disrespect. Juliet's something doing if my old bird sprung anything like that!" snorted a sweet young thing, who might have been 13.

One dowager was very worried about Juliet's mamma. Always she appeared in sumptuous purple velvet with a mighty head-dress of elaborate magnificence. Whether it was morning, noon, midnight or dawn, she appeared thus attired.

"Say, the old girl must sleep in it. Or ain't she been to bed and if not, why not?" came a whisper in the darkness from an earnest searcher after truth in detail.

Then there was the flippant person who had captured something crawly on her neck in the darkness.

"If it's a spider it means good fortune. It it's an ant that means industry—more work for poor me. If it's a flea, what's it doing in this classy crowd?" she whispered, right in the middle of the death scene. "I won't let him go till I've seen him. I'm afraid he'll die, but what an exquisite death. He's dying with Romeo, he'll finally expire with Juliet. Oh, insect, what glory is yours!"

And then, when the lights went up and Juliet was bowing to us, and we were all trying to express our very best high-brow enthusiasm, we heard the palpitating news. "It's a spider. Hurrah. That's good fortune—it means money, you know. Oh, I am so glad it wasn't a flea."

"Exquiseete! She is vairy lovely," murmured Pola Negri.

"Astonishing for her age," conceded a tall flaxen and very famous youthful beauty.

"What is her age?" asked an interested male voice.

"Naughty man! I won't tell you."

"Horrid subject—age," remarked a lovely dowager, drawing her ermine cloak around her.

"Bully show, oh, sure. But gee, it's nearly 12 o'clock and I have to be on the lot at 8 a.m.," sighed a handsome actor.

DAILY DOT PUZZLE

Complete the drawing by tracing from figure one to two and so on to the end. Then use your crayons or water-colors and see how nicely you can color it.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Salt for Sour Fruit

If the fruit you are using is very sour, add a little salt. A small amount of sugar required sweetening will be greatly reduced.

Removes the Rust

If a ring remains around the tub that has been cleaned with kerosene, try holding it over the steam of the tea-kettle and see how quickly it will disappear.

Get Hubby on the Job

A hanging shelf in the kitchen is a suitable place for preserving jellies. It is cool and dry, and pretty nearly inaccessible to children and pests.

Poached Eggs

To prevent poached eggs from sticking to the pan, place a little spoon in the boiling water and slide the egg into the spoon. Do this way for an instant and then slide the egg from the spoon into the pan.

A Shining Thought

When sending heated articles to the hemstitcher's, mark them to be stitched with a piece of contrasting color on that they are missed. Silk heading is not much more easily than done in cotton.

Mostly the Accent

If the cake is burned on the edges, do not spoil it by trying to scrape the charred portions off. Instead, grate lightly over the surface, holding it so the scrapings fall off.

Sterilizing Glass

Aluminum pans required for cooking things to boil down this excess heat from them to bulge in the bottom of the pan slowly and evenly around the bottom lifting it to shape with a hammer.

Planned in Advance

A nicely varied table is the result of meals planned a week in advance. One cannot always be exactly to the schedule given on account of not having the exact amount that will be used each meal, but this can be carried over to the following day if necessary and greatly simplifies the matter of buying.

Makes Them Tender

If the raisins are rolled in flour before adding them to the cake batter or pudding, they will not sink to the bottom.

Nourishing Soup

Add a few sliced potatoes and seasoning to the left-over meat and tomatoes and you have delicious chowder for supper.

Why Is It?

We all got rid of our superfluous clothing during the hot days, gave away or threw away those which we had no use for, but why is it that there are always so many nonessentials that are left to us no good and that only serve to crowding our cosy little rooms?

Spots on Furniture

White spots on furniture may be removed by rubbing with a cloth moistened with ammonia. Have a cloth wrung out of clear water ready to wipe off the ammonia, which leaves the surface as soon as the spots have disappeared. Rub dry with chamois.

Fine Stockings

Never hang very fine stockings by the toes to dry. Instead, roll them in a Turkish towel to absorb the moisture and they will dry quickly and in shape so that they will be just ready to put on. Do the same with the blouse that at the moment Mrs. Curtis was visiting this method is quite

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

TEETH—No. II

Thorough mastication has to be taught to children right from the time of giving solid foods, by giving small amounts for each meal. Later, as the children get older, it seems to be almost necessary for them to gobble. Many times it is because they want to get to play, their natural impulse.

During the period they should be taught to chew with them while eating, to see that too much is not taken at a time, that they chew their food well and swallow it before more food is put into the mouth.

Children should be made to stay at the table a certain length of time, regardless of whether they eat or not, before that time or they will teach them not to eat, to play, gain nothing by it.

One important element of the diet which requires much mastification is one of the reasons for the good teeth of certain people.

There is a lot talking about decay of the jaws and the teeth. Are you, mothers, losing your permanent molars. Special care should be given that part of the mouth, for they are the strongest teeth. They are the best to use in chewing, and are a guide for the other teeth to take their positions by. Watch this point, mothers, because, as a rule, they are lost early. If they are lost they never return. The jaw and the teeth will not develop.

Sometimes one of the temporary teeth. That is, the tooth appears to decay so that it must be pulled, the permanent tooth in irregular position of the shrinking gum. It occasionally happens that a first tooth will not loosen and come out when it should; in this case, of course, it should be pulled to make way for the permanent tooth.

THE GOITER TABLETS

The iodine tablets for simple goiter which I have mentioned in this column, have to be purchased by your personal physician, prescribed for you by him and taken under his direction. They are being used with wonderful results. If your physician does not know the type that is so successfully used have him write to me on his official stationery and I will gladly give him the name. But I cannot prescribe them for you who are inquiring about them, I'm sorry.

BOY RANGERS RETURN

Three Hundred Quit Summer Camp at Radford

Tanned, happy and with their knowledge of nature lore considerably increased, 306 Western Rangers returned last week from their summer camp at Radford, four miles from Big Bear Lake.

During the encampment twenty-four boys were taught how to swim, thirty-eight boys received special honor badges for all-around proficiency in water sports, 152 boys climbed to the summit of Mt. San Gorgonio, the highest peak in Southern California, and 375 special badges in athletics, nature study, camp craft and handicraft were awarded.

MOOSE HONOR HARDING

Recording their tribute to the memory of the late President Harding, who was a life member of the Loyal Order of Moose, the Greater Los Angeles Lodge, No. 124, conducted memorial services which were attended by officers and members from all parts of the territory under the jurisdiction of the local lodge. A glowing tribute to the memory of the late President was given by J. Edward Keating, Dictator of the lodge.

MARJORIE RAMBEAU IS ILL

Stage Star Stricken With What is Believed to be Appendicitis; "Goldfish" Opening Delayed

Marjorie Rambeau, stage stage, who was scheduled to open at the Majestic Theater last night in her latest stage success, "The Goldfish," is in St. Vincent's Hospital suffering from what is believed to be appendicitis.

Miss Rambeau, apparently in the best of health, left San Francisco with her company Sunday night. During the night she was stricken with severe pains. A telegraphic request for an ambulance was sent to Los Angeles and when the train arrived yesterday morning Miss Rambeau was rushed to the hospital.

CASE DIAGNOSED

Dr. James A. Dean was summoned to attend her and he called into consultation Dr. Ralph Hagan. Their diagnosis resulted in a statement being issued that Miss Rambeau is suffering from an intestinal condition resembling peritonitis, though the probability is that it is appendicitis.

Miss Rambeau declared her unwillingness to undergo an operation at present and other treatment is being given. She has expressed an intention to open with her play on Friday night. Dr. Hagan declared last night, however, that it is unlikely she will be on her feet again until early next week.

SECOND ATTACK

A year ago Miss Rambeau suffered a similar attack, according to Dr. Hagan.

"The Goldfish" company had been playing in San Francisco for the past four weeks and last night was to open at the Majestic Theater here for a five-week run.

Council Makes No Decision on Truck Purchase

The City Council wrangled mildly yesterday over a proposal to purchase five five-ton trucks for the engineering department, but a motion to adjourn was carried before the usual row, which takes place when the Council buys motor equipment, could get started.

The Council had before it an unsigned report from its supply committee recommending that the low bid be accepted of the Moreland Truck Company to sell the city five five-ton trucks at $4550 each, or a total of $22,750.

Councilman Baker, chairman of the committee, did not sign the report and said: "Why the hurry about buying these trucks?" Councilman Gregory, who was in favor of the low bid being accepted, said that, as it represented a saving to the taxpayers, he could see no reason for not accepting the low bid.

The second lowest bid was from the manufacturers of the Fageol truck, which named a price of $4958 each, or a total set of $23,550.50, and the third lowest bid was from the Garford Company, which has figured prominently in previous city truck purchases, which offered to sell the trucks at $5201.50 each, or a total of $26,007.50. No action was taken on any of the bids.

"SMELLY" WATER IS EXPLAINED

Mulholland Says Condition is Harmless and Will Disappear Soon

In reply to complaints from consumers that city water in various sections of Los Angeles is "smelly," Chief Engineer Mulholland of the bureau of water works and supply said yesterday that this is an annual condition resulting from comparatively low levels in the storage reservoirs but that the city water is pure and that no fears need be felt by anyone that the water supply is not clean.

"At this time of the year," said Mr. Mulholland, "we always have odors from water in some of the reservoirs, but steps are taken now to reduce this condition to a minimum by opening gates of the reservoirs at various levels.

"In the city proper we have had this year no reports of 'smelly' water, but we have had some from the west end of the San Fernando Valley section of the city. Chemical tests of the city water supply are made constantly and show that city water now being served consumers is absolutely pure and even where the 'smelly' water is complained of the water itself is clean.

"In a few days the consumption of water for irrigation purposes will fall off for the rest of the season and more new water will be pouring into the reservoirs than is going out and the 'smelly' condition complained of in spots will entirely disappear. The reservoirs will then gradually fill up and reach their normal levels."

CONFESSES BUT WANTS PROBATION

Ex-Convict Admits Bad-Check Charge; Asserts He Foiled Jail Break

Tom Vernon, an ex-convict with terms in five different prisons to his credit, pleaded guilty in Judge Hardy's court yesterday to passing a worthless check and his trial was continued until the 20th inst. In order to give him a chance to enter his plea for probation which he will ask on the grounds that he was instrumental in preventing a jail break on July 8.

Last February Vernon presented a check for $670 in payment for a small herd of cattle he purchased. He said they were to be used in motion pictures. When the check proved worthless, Vernon was arrested but told authorities that he gave it in good faith on a promise of one of his friends that the check would be covered.

According to the story told by Vernon, who asserts he has traveled with Wild West shows, each of his former arrests was brought about by men who wished to get him out of the way. He also showed a number of letters from former army friends who vouched for his honesty and from deputy Sheriffs who admitted that it was through his aid that the attempted prison break was revealed.

Letters from wardens in the various prisons where he has been, assert Vernon is a menace to society and recommend that no clemency be shown him.

Armenian, Denying Wife's Charges of Cruelty, Says Fortune is Lost

Opposing his wife's plea for temporary alimony on the grounds that in the last few months he had lost a fortune amounting to $100,000, and that his health had broken down so that he was unable to get work, Krekor Alslanian was granted a continuance yesterday by Judge Summerfield until September 11.

The wife, Sultana Arslanian, who asked a divorce on the grounds of cruelty, testified that when the couple separated her husband took away her wearing apparel as well as the furniture and bed clothes. Arslanian denied taking any of his wife's clothes, and said that he took only enough furniture to keep house by himself.

In her complaint Mrs. Arslanian asserted that he threatened to kill her, and burn their home, and that he kicked her and beat her, and threw a loaf of bread and a bottle of milk in her face.

The husband denied most of these charges, although he admitted that he was under a strain because of the losing of his life savings represented by a vineyard in Tulare county, where he had lived for thirty years. He testified that the vineyard had been ruined by disease and rendered virtually worthless.

In 1907, after he had become prosperous in this country, he returned to Armenia and there married his wife and brought her back to this country. The couple separated May 7, the complaint states.

COMBINE OF SCHOOL DISTRICTS DISCUSSED

The question of whether the Sierra Madre and Pasadena school districts should be combined was discussed before the Board of Supervisors, yesterday. It was argued that the combination of the two districts would increase the efficiency of school administration. Representatives from the Sierra Madre district opposed this view. The board continued the case for final hearing, until September 11.

Venetian Afternoons

In Los Angeles . . . . . you may spend an afternoon in the Italian Garden of the Mary Louise . . . . . and be transported (mentally) to that romantic, far-away land.

For here, too, the lazy lapping of the water . . . . . the gently gliding boats . . . . . the graceful swans . . . . . soft music and the subdued murmur of happy voices intermingle and cast that same glamour that makes an afternoon in Venice one long to be remembered.

. . . . . and tea-table confidences take on an added piquancy to the accompaniment of Mary Louise's "tea-time tidbits."

100 per cent Cows' Milk

Carnation gives complete milk and cream service—the only milk supply needed for your household.

CARNATION MILK is just pure milk—100 per cent cows' milk. It contains all the food elements in the fresh whole milk.

Nothing is added to Carnation, not even sugar. Only part of the natural water is removed to reduce the bulk and give you doubly rich milk in convenient-sized containers. Carnation is then sterilized (heated) to keep it pure and absolutely safe.

Removal of part of the water leaves twice the proportion of cream in Carnation as in whole milk. Thus Carnation is twice as rich as ordinary milk. For cream purposes, use it as it comes from the can; for whole milk, put back the water we removed (equal parts); for cooking uses add from 3 to 4 parts of water.

The high quality of Carnation is due to the excellence of the fresh whole milk and to our extreme care and long experience in preparing Carnation by the most modern sanitary methods.

Millions are using Carnation because they have found it the economical and dependable Pure Milk Service.

You, too, will find that Carnation Milk is just "100 per cent cows' milk," rich, safe, convenient, economical. Order a supply from your grocer and learn the food value of Carnation for all of your daily milk and cream needs.

Cream of Spinach Soup

2 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 cups boiling water, 2 quarts spinach or ½ pound, pepper, 2 teaspoons salt, 3 cups water, 1 cup Carnation Milk.

Wash spinach thoroughly and cook 30 minutes in boiling water. Drain and rub through sieve. Melt butter, add flour, then milk, and cook 5 minutes; add the spinach and season with salt and pepper. This recipe serves six people.

Scalloped Potatoes

1 tablespoon salt, 4 medium sized potatoes, 1¼ cups water, ¾ cup Carnation Milk, ⅛ tablespoon butter. Wash, pare and cut potatoes in thin slices. Put a layer in buttered baking dish, sprinkle with salt and dredge with a small amount of flour. Add milk and butter and bake until potatoes are soft. This recipe serves six people.

Cream White Sauce

2 tablespoons flour, ⅛ cup Carnation Milk, 2 tablespoons butter or substitute, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup water.

Melt butter or butter substitute, add flour and stir until thoroughly mixed. Add the milk and cook about five minutes or until the mixture thickens, then add seasonings. This recipe makes one cup of white sauce.

Creamed Cauliflower

1 head cauliflower, 2 cups cream white sauce.

Remove outer leaves, soak thirty minutes in cold water with the head down and cook with the head up, twenty minutes or until soft, in boiling salted water. Drain and heat in the cream white sauce. This recipe serves six people.

Fish Souffle

2 cups fish, 1½ cups white sauce, parsley, 2 eggs beaten separately.

Flake the cooked fish and season. Cool the white sauce, add the fish, then the well beaten yolks and mix. Fold in the whites of eggs beaten stiff. Bake in buttered individual baking dishes or in a pudding dish set in a pan of hot water. Bake twenty minutes or until puffed and brown. Serve immediately. This recipe serves six people.

Corn Bread

½ cup flour, ½ cup water, 1 cup cornmeal, ½ cup Carnation Milk, 1 egg, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 2 tablespoons butter or substitute.

Mix flour, cornmeal, salt and baking powder. Add unbeaten egg and liquid. Add melted butter and beat vigorously. Pour into shallow pan which has been well oiled and bake in a moderately hot oven. The mixture must be thin.

Cafe Mousse

1 cup sugar, ½ cup water, 1 cup whipped Carnation Milk, 1 teaspoon gelatin, 3 beaten egg yolks, 1 cup strong coffee, ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Boil sugar and water 5 minutes. Pour onto egg yolks and cook in a double boiler until mixture coats the spoon like cream. Soften 1 teaspoon gelatin in 2 tablespoons cold water and dissolve with boiling coffee. Cool, add egg mixture, whipped Carnation Milk and vanilla. Pour into a mould and pack in equal parts ice and salt at least 3 hours. This recipe serves twelve people.

If you desire a recipe for any special dish, I will try to send it to you. Address me care Carnation Milk Products Co., Stuart Building, Seattle, Washington.

DATE LANDS HEARING TODAY

Inquiry at Request of Imperial Promoters Expected to Influence Industry Development

Edwin T. Keiser, State Real Estate Commissioner, will conduct a hearing in his offices at 10 a.m. today which will have considerable bearing on the sale of date lands and will be watched with interest by date growers throughout the State. The hearing is on the lands of the Imperial Valley Date Gardens.

The hearing is to be held at the request of representatives of the Imperial Valley Date Gardens. They assert that publicity attached to the report of Commissioner Keiser anent date lands in Imperial Valley, which report included reports from date growers of that section, has so affected their business that they will be compelled to withdraw from the sale of date lands unless the Real Estate Commissioner grants them "a clean bill of health."

One of the reports received by Mr. Keiser was to the effect that date growing was a "perilous undertaking, financially, except under highly favorable conditions." It also intimated that some of the land planted in offshoots and being sold in the Imperial Valley might not have the required number of female trees, which are fruit-bearing.

In his report on the hearing Commissioner Keiser states that: "Mr. Overton, representative of the Imperial Valley Date Gardens, has demanded a rigid inquiry into his operations in order that he and his company may be vindicated of any suspicion the people may have regarding his good faith and ability to carry on the project."

In its report to Commissioner Keiser the Imperial Valley Date Growers assert that the lands being sold are properly planted in female offshoots, with only the required number of males to furnish pollen. In support of this statement there is submitted a permit to transfer female offshoots from female date palms on the Bill Roy and A. P. Higgins ranches at Brawley. It is asserted that the Imperial Valley Date Gardens land has been planted in these female offshoots.

MAN ADMITS GUILT

To Ask Probation on Charge of Embezzlement

Admitting he had defrauded Don Lee out of an automobile valued at $1800, R. C. Miller pleaded guilty yesterday in Judge Reeve's court to a charge of embezzlement. Miller, a university graduate, had previously been granted probation in San Bernardino on a charge of passing a check without sufficient funds. He had been paroled to the custody of his wife. He was permitted to file an application for probation on the embezzlement charge and will receive a hearing the 27th inst.

Ex-Legislator of Peru Comes on Buying Trip

Among the distinguished visitors to Los Angeles who will arrive from South American ports on the passenger liner Anyo Maru next Saturday will be Gustavio A. Pinto of Lima, Peru.

Sr. Pinto, who is an ex-Senator and ex-Congressman of Peru, also at one time was president of the Southern Regional Peruvian Congress. He will represent his country in Los Angeles as a purchasing agent and will buy several million dollars' worth of different commodities for Peru and for large importing firms of that country.

While in Los Angeles Sr. Pinto will stay at the Los Angeles Athletic Club as the guest of his cousin, Dr. V. M. Egas of V. M. Egas & Co., local importers and exporters.

Admiral Looks Over Facilities of Harbor Base

Rear-Admiral Ashley H. Robertson, commandant of the Eleventh Naval District, yesterday paid his first official visit to Los Angeles Harbor in an inspection of the submarine base. He returned to San Diego last night after surveying local facilities and arranging with Lieutenant-Commander Eric L. Barr, commandant, for the transfer of the base to that port.

The U.S.S. Henderson, crack transport of the Navy and the craft that was to have carried the late President Harding home via Panama Canal, will arrive here today from Puget Sound. The Henderson is bringing naval stores for this base, and will take to the East Coast a draft of enlisted men for discharge. She will sail southbound tonight.

PROFITS ON LAND SALES ARE TAXED

Taxpayers Are Warned to Make Income Returns on Real Estate Gains

Reports made by internal revenue field deputies indicate that many income taxpayers in Southern California have neglected to include as income in their returns for 1920, 1921 and 1922 profits realized from the sale of real estate.

The investigation has been on a wholesale plan.

In order to expedite the inquiry, a transcript is being made of all realty transfers, Collector Goodcell said yesterday that a fair investigation would be made of his files, to determine whether these sales had been reported upon income tax returns. He suggested that any person who failed to include the profit realized from the sale of real estate call at his office and file an amended return.

Where the taxpayer does not voluntarily disclose items of income that were omitted and where the gains from the sales of real estate have not been reported, the collector said that it would be necessary to assess full penalties upon all returns where the investigation disclosed the failure of the taxpayer to comply with the plain letter of the law.

Prompt and voluntary action by taxpayers who have not declared their real estate profits will save them thousands of dollars in penalties, it was stated.

MELODY MAKES CHOICE OF MEAL

Orchestral Strains Implant Definite Desires

Railroad Agent Gives Talk on Yellowstone

Artistic Triumvirate Offer Early Program

BY BEN A. MARKSON

Illustrating the power of suggestion is well-played music be it known that I steered into a Boos Brothers' Cafeteria for dinner one evening with the idea of a steak firmly implanted in my mind. The orchestra, led by Pryor Moore, began to play "By the Brook," I promptly ordered trout. When I parked in front of the desserts, indecisively, the musicians let loose with "Cut Yourself a Piece of Cake." Thus promptly made up my mind, showing the value of an orchestra in helping you to choose when there are so many varieties of edibles.

Were I to include the courses of the repast I could mention that when I paused for soup the strains of "The Campbells Are Coming" influenced me in the direction of tomato bouillon, and that the melody of "An Old Fashioned Garden" reminded me not to omit a vegetable salad.

Perhaps this levity is inappropriate in view of the outstanding excellence of Boos Brothers' Cafeteria Orchestra and the high merit of Pryor Moore's leadership. In a series of concerts at KHJ this organization has demonstrated sound musicianship in classical delivery, tempered lightly and delightfully with a knack for presenting popular selections. They have the same happy faculty for variety in music that Boos Brothers' chefs have for dishes.

VARIETY IN OFFERINGS

Last night, for instance, the ensemble members included "Largo from the New World Symphony," by Dvorak, as contrasted with "On the 5:15," a specialty selection; "Serenade," by Drigo; "Old Timers' Waltz," "Amaryllis" Air Louis XIII, by Ghys, and "En Mer," by Augusta Holmes.

The personnel of the orchestra is: Pryor Moore, violinist; Juan Aguilar, pianist; Paul Elliott, cornet; C. G. Stewart, cello; J. Pierce, bass; J. Dotzel, flute; J. Okel, clarinet; Lorn Steinberger, trombone; and Charles White, xylophone and drums.

Mr. Moore, leader and violinist, arranged the program, presenting as soloists William Hamer, tenor, Paul Elliott, cornetist, Charles White, xylophone, and Harvey Westgate, harmonica.

"Billy" Hamer will be remembered by theatergoers as the brilliant young tenor who appeared two weeks ago with Trixie Frigansza at the Hill-Street Theater. He pleased last night with "Smilin' Through," by Penn, and "Mexicali Rose," a new waltz ballad by Jack B. Tenney.

The cornet solo was "Little Gray Home in the West," by Lohr, and the xylophone offering was "Aloha Oe," both finely rendered.

PARK TRAVELOGUE

Harvey Westgate, advertising manager of the cafeteria corporation, coaxed tuneful numbers from the harmonica. He's a big fellow to be playing such a small instrument, but the laws of contradiction seem to work out that way. Midgets have a penchant for the bass drum.

A. T. Jackson, division passenger agent, Union Pacific, gave a travelogue on "Yellowstone Park."

Three staunch friends of KHJ, an artistic triumvirate, presented the noon and matinee programs. They are Tilda Rohr, Swiss contralto, Mary Christine Albin, pianist, and Marjorie Verhes, violinist. Listeners-in know their ability well and admire them for the genuine programs they give.

The contralto imparted the clear, appealing beauty of her voice to "L'Heure Exquise," by Poldowski, Heimleig," a Swiss folk song, "Twilight," by Glenn, "My Adobe," by Schubert—haunting in lonely grandeur—and "Jean," by Burleigh, containing the sadness and longing of love.

SOLOS PLAYED

Miss Albin's renditions were accurate and lovely in melody as always. She played "Humoresque," by Dvorak, "Aeolian Harp Etude," by Chopin, and selections by Grieg and Schumann.

Miss Verhes was excellent in violin solos, inclusive of "Souvenir," by Drdla," "Orientale," by Cui, "Minuet," by Beethoven, and "Serenade," by Schubert. Her tone and interpretation have a charming quality.

Dickie Brandon, one of the cutest youngsters you could hope to hear, appeared on the evening program and recited for juvenile listeners-in. He is half-past-three years of age.

Eleanor Krol, pianist, a pupil of Harry Nielson, provided the musical part of the childrens program, playing "Waltz in A Flat," by Chopin, and "Maiden's Wish," by Liszt.

The bedtime story fell to the lot of "Cousin Jim," Harry James Beardsley, and naturally, was interestingly told. Wasn't it Mr. Beardsley? He says yes.

'WAYFARER' TO BE DETAILED

Public to be Acquainted With American Pageant at Philharmonic Auditorium Tonight

Final plans for the mass meeting to acquaint the public with details of "The Wayfarer," America's passion pageant which will be produced next month in the Coliseum at Exposition Park, were arranged last night. The meeting will be held in the Philharmonic Auditorium at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Rufus B. Von Klein Smid, president of the University of Southern California, who is president of the Wayfarer Society of California, and Dr. J. E. Crowther, author of the play, will be the principal speakers. The former, who will be chairman of the meeting, will tell something of what it means to Los Angeles and Southern California to have "The Wayfarer" produced in this city, while Dr. Crowther will outline the purpose for which the play was written, its plot and production, and how the play was received in the other cities in which it has appeared.

TICKETS SELL FAST

That Los Angeles is interested in "The Wayfarer" was evidenced yesterday when tickets went on sale at the Philharmonic Auditorium box office. The first day's sale was so great that it rivaled that of New York City, where in Madison Square Garden, more than 500,000 persons were turned away for five weeks, it was said.

It is hoped that the production will clear $100,000 in Los Angeles, according to Merle Armitage, secretary and business manager. It is said that $40,000 was cleared in Seattle, where the pageant was witnessed by 128,000 persons in the University of Washington Stadium. The Los Angeles Coliseum, as arranged for the pageant, will seat 42,000 persons, and as there will be seven presentations it is expected that close to 300,000 Angelenos and their friends will witness the performances.

PROFIT NOT OBJECT

"I wish to make it clear," said Armitage yesterday, "that 'The Wayfarer' is not to be produced for profit. The only beneficiaries will be the Community Development Association of Los Angeles and the University of Southern California. In other words, the money taken in at this production, over and above the estimated expenses of $125,000, will go toward paying for the new Los Angeles Coliseum and the furthering of education."

REHEARSALS PROGRESSING

Those in charge of the production announce that rehearsal plans are progressing nicely. The chorus is rehearsing every Monday and Friday nights at Bovard Hall, University of Southern California, and those in the pageant are working in the university gymnasium every Tuesday and Thursday night.

There are 2000 voices in the chorus now and as many more are needed. Those desiring to enroll are requested to report at 410 West Ninth street or at the time of rehearsal.

Winners in the recent try-outs for leading parts will be announced soon.

To Wash Corsets

Spread the corsets out flat on the kitchen table, removing the laces, but not the boning, and scrub with a brush and warm soapy water. Rinse quickly in warm water and dry in the sun, spread out flat.

Found Wine Jar Sunk in Vat, Dry Agent Testifies

A five-gallon jar of real wine, sunk in a vat of highly diluted product of the grape, was discovered by a revenue agent's gauge dipped into the vat, according to testimony yesterday in the case of Frank Coopo, arrested for selling, illegal possession and shortage of wine in Winery No. 33 at Wineville, owned by his father, Carlo Coopo. A warrant was issued for the arrest of the father.

The agents charged that the Coopo father and son had sold several hundred gallons of the wine and had replaced it with water, sinking the jar of real wine in the vat to deceive the government officials.

Advance in Pay for Teamsters Expected Today

The City Council is expected to adopt an ordinance today increasing the pay of city teamsters from $7.25 to $8 a day. This amount includes the teamster and his team and the upkeep of the horses and equipment.

The City Employees' Benevolent and Protective Association yesterday forwarded to the Council a notification of the association's resolution extending a vote of thinks to Chairman Mushet and President Workman of the Finance Committee, and to the Council members as a whole for their action tending to increase the pay of the teamsters.

FIGHT PLANNED ON CROSSINGS

Rail Body to Hear Santa Fe Harbor Line Case

Planning Commission Would Eliminate Grade Evil

Overhead Tracks Suggested as Possible Remedy

An important phase of the fight to eliminate dangerous grade crossings will come before the State Railroad Commission here at 2 p.m. tomorrow when a hearing will be conducted on the proposed Santa Fe Railroad extension to Los Angeles Harbor, in which the Regional Planning Commission is seeking to compel raising the grade of the extension ten feet at road intersections.

As the proposed extension crosses the region in which the planning commission has proposed to extend important traffic arteries to the sea, such as Figueroa street, Vermont avenue and Western avenue, the commission declares the elevation of the tracks is not only extremely important but necessary for the preservation of life and limb. Raising the tracks will eliminate twenty-six grade crossings provided by the railroad's revised plans which provide for a new route at the southerly end.

MANY TO APPEAR

The hearing will bring in a large array of interested parties and is likely to last some time unless the Santa Fe concedes the points at issue. Among those notified to appear are the Los Angeles City Attorney, the County Board of Supervisors, the Board of Public Utilities Commissioners, the Board of Trustees of Torrance, the Automobile Club of Southern California and the Pacific Electric Railroad, all of whom are interested in one way or another in the proposed extension and in the grade-crossing fight.

The plans of the railroad for the extension contemplate four grade separations, where the tracks cross Redondo Boulevard near Cullem, another near El Nido, another just west of Harbor Boulevard and the fourth at Harbor Boulevard where the tracks enter Wilmington. Four crossings at grade are proposed in Wilmington and seventeen between El Segundo and Wilmington.

All twenty-one of these will be eliminated by the raising of the tracks, the Regional Planning Commission declares, permitting the highways to be carried under the tracks. The planning commission points out that the grade separation can be acomplished much more cheaply now than after the tracks are built, and that the separation is bound to be required sooner or later as that section of the city develops.

Permission for the extension of the Santa Fe into Los Angeles Harbor was voted by the people at the referendum election May 1. The original proposed route carried the line down west of Harbor Boulevard, but the route now proposed crosses that thoroughfare a little north of Wilmington. There are four more grade crossings on the plan now before the Railroad Commission than there were in the original plan.

Commissioner Brundige will conduct a second hearing here tomorrow morning. This will be in the application of the California Warehouse and Distributing Company to issue stock. At a previous hearing the company was granted authority to issue part of the stock for which permission was asked. The hearing tomorrow is for the purpose of obtaining authority to issue the remainder of the original amount sought.

MOTHER OF LOCAL MINISTER PASSES

Mrs. Mary A. Lilley, 71 years of age, mother of Rev. James E. Lilley and Rev. Thomas A. Lilley of St. Vincent's Church, died Saturday at her home on Eighteenth street after an illness of some duration. Funeral services will be conducted from the chapel of Cunningham & O'Connor, 1031 South Grand avenue, today, at 8:30 o'clock. A requiem mass will be held at St. Vincent's Church at 10 a.m. Interment will be in Calvary Cemetery.

POLLYANNA AGAIN

FRESH-AIR FILM AT GRAUMAN THEATER

By Edwin Schallert

The title sounds cheerful, no doubt, because it is Irish. Otherwise, unless one happens to be familiar with the writings of Gene Stratton-Porter, it would be difficult to tell why she named her photoplay, which is showing this week at Grauman's Third-street Theater, "Michael O'Halloran." We know after seeing it, though, that there's something in names, for never, for a day, has there been such a Pollyanna feature as this.

The film is on a rather engaging program, thanks to the presence of another of those breezy "Fighting Blood" stories, with George O'Hara, Clara Horton, Albert Cooke, plus the pugs and the character actors. There are also musical meanderings by Edward House at the organ, and the old reliable overture to "William Tell" played by the orchestra with William Lawrence directing.

"Michael O'Halloran" is a Pollyanna tale that's utterly glad. It's filled with young happiness and springtime life. It does everything but start a back-to-nature and the farm move, and after you've looked at it you want to move right out to the country or bust. Life in the country is heaven, that's sure, let the yellow jackets and the wasps light where they may. You simply can't resist the attractions of the babbling brook, and the fine rich milk, and the glorious healthy natural surroundings of the stable and the barn, especially after you've looked on one of those pictures that tell you how fine and wholesome everything out there is.

There are lots of pleasing human touches in "Michael O'Halloran" for all of that. Some of the kid stuff looks very sincere, which is more than can be said for lots of kid stuff on the screen. If the youngsters weren't forced to speak so many smart-cracking lines the impression might be even better, but as things stand, most of them seem to act their parts effectively, and the general results, while not mentally exciting, are fair to good. The cast with the youngsters, True Boardman and Ethelyn Irving, who both seem to please; Irene Rich, Charles Clary, Claire McDowell, William Boyd and others, is capable. One or two players like Mr. Clary and Miss Rich are not cast to just the best advantage, but that will perhaps pass.

"A Grim Fairy Tale" is the "Fighting Blood" picture. The barnstorming satire is great. The fight is a knockout. It's good to know there's another coming next week.

CAST ALL SET FOR ZANE GREY STORY

The leads will be Richard Dix and Lois Wilson for the picturization of Zane Grey's novel, "The Call of the Canyon," which will be made under the direction of Victor Fleming for Paramount release, according to announcement by Jesse L. Lasky yesterday. Mr. Dix will play the role of a war veteran seeking to regain his lost health in the open spaces of Arizona, and Lois Wilson a society girl. The plot hinges on the conflict between her love for this soldier and the sometimes equally potent lure of life in New York.

The first Zane Grey picture made by Famous Players-Lasky was "To The Last Man," completed but not yet released. "The Call of the Canyon" is the second.

The heavy in the new feature will be Noah Beery. Ricardo Cortez will play a metropolitan man-about-town, and Charles Ogle, Alma Bennett, Lillian Leighton, Helen Dunbar, Leonard Clapman, "Eddie" Clayton and Arthur Rankin are others in the company.

They will go to Flagstaff to film the exterior scenes.

Pep A-plenty Is on Tap at Hillstreet

There's a bully good show at the Hillstreet this week. The vodville has snap and the photoplay won't die a natural death from lack of action, either. Everything moves right along with plenty of Jamaica.

Eva Shirley, with Oscar Adler's orchestra and Al Roth, dancer, entertain in an act of classique, jazz, high stepping and song. Eva Shirley sings beautifully and cleverly. Her voice is really a voice in a thousand or two, and she uses it well. The orchestra really should cut down just a little in that last song or two, if little Eva keeps the velvet on those rich tones of hers. Otherwise the jazzists make the most of pianissimo with piquant explosions of brass, while the banjo tangoes a neat little rhythm all its own, and the saxophone soars wildly over all. Al Roth steps high, wide and handsome and now and then actually almost forgets to come down.

There are about six dancers, two singers, a variety of instruments of other sizes and families, a violinist and half a pianist on the bill. The Four Camerons entertain with lots of foolishnesses in "Like Father, Like Son." They are loads of fun and keep the laughs on the warpath against gloom the whole time they are behind the footlights.

Fradkin, violinist, plays a variety of well-known violin numbers, and he plays them with rhythmic individuality; he believes that accents wild and strong aren't—instead he cuts down the juice between them!

A snappy dancing act is put on by the two Ramadell girls and Geo. Graceful pep and pretty costumes, principally. Harry Rose gives a Broadway dude act that is foolishly amusing.

The picture attraction is Harry Carey in "Crashin' Thru," and he is supported by a strong cast. The plot has to do with an outdoor red-blood western story, and is one of the best of this type. There is originality in the get-up, and an unusual turn or two in the way things develop. If the proof of the pudding is in the eating instead of the digesting, then this is remarkably good to look at. It has a conventional ending that is almost weak. But the finish of a story is the least important part of a rousing outdoor drama. It's the kick they get out of living that counts.

Other short attractions fill out the program.

ASSIGNING THE BLAME

If anybody ever calls Dinky Dean, 4-year-old star of "Gigi," the screen adaptation of Abbie Farwell Brown's "John of the Woods," by his right name the little shaver won't know he's being spoken to.

Dinky's real name is Dean Franklin Reisner but he's been called Dinky Dean ever since he can remember and it looks like he won't ever shake the cinema dc plume this side of the matrimonial altar, which, of course, is a long way off.

Before Dinky was born, his parents, who, by the way, are Chuck and Mimi Reisner, spent months trying to decide on an appropriate name for a baby boy. And, after they had decided on some dozen different ones, Mimi took the bull by the horns and named the youngster Dean Franklin in honor of the judge who so securely tied the Reisner matrimonial knot in the Chicago City Hall.

Not being able to suggest anything more appropriate Chuck acquiesced but just then Charlie Chaplin called to pay his respects to the newly-born infant and dubbed him "Dinky" because he was so tiny. The name has stuck and, probably always will.

Dinky, who has just completed the featured role in "Gigi," is soon to start on his second five-reel production, the title of which will soon be announced by his manager, Lew Lipton.

AND NOW HE'S THE RULER—

George Archainbaud, director of "Cordelia the Magnificent" and "The Common Law," the Selznick picturization of the famous Robert W. Chambers novel, is one of those young men who prefer to start from the bottom up, rather than the top down. Mr. Archainbaud is the stepson of Emilie Chautard, the veteran French motion-picture director. Early in life he made known to his stepfather his desire to become a director.

"Fine," said Mr. Chautard. "You shall learn all about it."

He did. His first job was that of washing film in a Paris laboratory. The work is confining, done in darkness broken only by dim ruby lights. It was as a film washer that George came to the United States with Mr. Mr. Chautard. He held practically every kind of studio job calling for hard work and long hours.

Then he was made Mr. Chautard's assistant. Shortly afterward he received his first opportunity to direct. A director had fallen ill in the midst of a picture, and Mr. Archainbaud was delegated to finish the picture. On the strength of his initial showing he was given a three-year contract.

Included in the cast of "Cordelia the Magnificent," which is a Harry Garson production for Metro, starring Clara Kimball Young at the Kinema this week, are Huntly Gordon, Lewis Dayton, Lloyd Whitlock, Jacqueline Gadsdon, Mary Jane Irving, Carol Holloway, Katherine Murphy, Elinor Hancock and others.

"Cordelia the Magnificent" was adapted by Frank S. Beresford from Leroy Scott's novel. The picture was photographed by Charles Richardson, with Joseph Wright as art director.

Acts Create Riot of Fun at Pantages

Georgia minstrels, in full regalia, are the main attraction at Pantages this week. Starting off with a regular jazz band and putting on finishing touches with a chorus of men's voices, the organization of joy dispensers manage to put on an entertainment that is refreshing as well as interesting. Although the act runs rather slow in parts and lines seem a trifle out of fashion, the show is a big hit as all vehicles of this nature usually are.

Of course, credit should be given to certain members of the cast who carry the fun to tumultuous heights. Ed Tollivar with his sad facial adornment and pliable mouth, Thomas Harris with his lively motions, and Duke Johnson and Press Harding, syncopated strutters, provide considerable merriment.

A hit is made by the Myron Pearl troupe, dance creators, who offer many new stunts in the light fantastic. While the main part of the act is supposed to feature dancing, a number of piano solos are given by a fourth member of the company.

The usual skit of song, mirth and melody, are presented by Jimmie Casson and Fred Klem, who end with a series of snappy songs and clever steps. Nada Narraine is a girl who claims a phenomenal voice. Maybe she has a voice that is a little different, but where the phenomenal part comes in can only be explained by viewing her presentation.

La France and Byron in a comedy skit entitled: "Party of the Second Part," would make their audience believe that the pugilistic industry is a dangerous proposition. By sending off a number of difficult words of first magnitude in rapid succession they prove it.

Among the special novelties of the program is the showing of "His Nibs," a unique picture of its kind. The entire cast is composed of Charles (Chic) Sale, C. Sale and Mr. Sale. He takes the part of eight or more characters in the same play, being hero, villain, heroine, tramp, censor, theater manager, songster, et al. To see it is to appreciate it.

BUG STUFF IS SUCCESS AT PREVIEW

Three of "Secrets of Life" Series Shown to Crowds at Ambassador

The premiere showing at the Ambassador Theater Friday night of three of Sol Lesser's "Secrets of Life" series packed the playhouse to the doors with an audience that overflowed into the lobby. And the beholders were as notable in enthusiasm as in numbers, each picture, "The Bee," "The Spider" and "The Ant," being followed by prolonged applause and finally calls for Louis H. Tolhurst, the young Los Angeles scientist whose processes and inventions have made microscopic motion photography completely revealing and adequate.

It was explained that the pictures were not addressed to the technical mind, but to the average layman; that a series of classroom nontheatrical pictures on the same subjects was in contemplation, but that the purpose in introducing and presenting this series was to entertain and excite popular curiosity in a new world opened up by the marvels of the Tolhurst light and microscopic motion photography.

The audience in attendance was representative of all classes of theater-goers and of all grades of life and employment. Among the invited guests were members of the Academy of Sciences, local Board of Education, professors of entomology, zoology and biology from the University of California, Southern Branch, and the speaker of the occasion was Dr. Mars Baumgartz, a local astronomer.

Mr. Lesser will take these three pictures East with him to arrange for distribution and he will also take them to Europe, there also to effect their distribution. Mr. Tolhurst was the recipient of a flood of congratulatory comments and was assured that the motion-picture public will reward his eight years of experiment, research study and patient, hard labor.

SOPHIE ROMPS TO GLORY AT ORPHEUM

By Kenneth Taylor

Maybe the new bill at the Orpheum is just a little bit shorter than usual, but it is a little bit better than usual, too, so the balance remains just about the same.

Of course Sophie Tucker, with her radiant personality, and her unfailing ability to put over every song in her repertoire and get every laugh on the list, headlines the whole bill, but there are two or three others who run Sophie a close race for popularity.

The big blonde comedienne is assisted very ably by Ted Shapiro and Jack Carroll, at two pianos, who are masters in their line, and very pleasing. But it is Miss Tucker herself who stops the show in her own act and very nearly does in the afterpiece.

That irristible comedy pair, George LeMaire and Joe Phillips, who were hits of last week's bill, are still with us, but this time in a new act. They call it "Bananas," and it isn't as riduculously funny as the other, but it has a large number of laughs. Coming just before the afterpiece, in which most of the acts of the bill take part, George and Joe have very cleverly combined the two, which gives the final act more continuity than is usual in offerings of this kind, and detracts not at all from their own success.

Calling a typical song and dance act "A Musical Comedy Revue" is not the extent of the humor offered by Fiorrie Millership and Alfred Gerrard. They sing a number of songs with gags in them, and Miss Millership does some interesting dances. Eddie Moran accompanies the pair at the piano, and incidentally does some solo work of merit.

A varied array of jazz, song and dance is offered by Billy Sharp in his "Twentieth Century Revue," in which his jazz band, the two Darling sisters (they are) and Mlle. Marionne are featured. The band and the two girls are the best, with Marionne and Sharp in some dances that pass.

Another holdover is Jack "Rube" Clifford as "Camera Eye" Carter, assisted by Russel Hird. The act is the same as last week, and while funny at the time, is nothing to lie awake nights laughing at after it's all over.

For those who like the crashing notes of an accordeon the act presented by Mildred and Dorothy Browne should be doubly pleasing, for they both perform on the instrument—simultaneously. They do it a little better than the usual artists of this kind, however, and are well received on the second spot.

Armand and Perez open the show with a demonstration of difficult athletic feats. Most of their stunts are routine, but they do one or two things out of the ordinary, and have no trouble in entertaining the early-comers.

As for that afterpiece, it is one of the snappiest things of its kind the Orpheum has produced in some time. On the whole, folks, it's a good bill.

To See Girls in 'Sea Girls,' Says Century

"Sea Girls," the working title of Al Herman's first Century Comedy with the Follies Girls, is under way, after some time was devoted to preparing a suitable story for the first of the new series of girlie comedies.

Herman was chosen to direct this picture for his exceptional handling of Buddy Messinger, whose last picture was completed two days before work on "Sea Girls" commenced.

Mr. Herman chose Bert Sternbach, former casting director for Century, as his assistant. Henry Murdock of Christie comedy fame, George Monberg of Hallroom Boys fame, Fred Spencer and Bessie Welch are the first ones to have been engaged to play in this picture. Others are scheduled to appear as the picture progresses.

"Notre Dame" Showing Will Aid Veterans

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—The veterans' mountain camp in the Adirondacks will receive the entire proceeds that will be taken in at Carnegie Hall, when the Universal's super production "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" will receive its first public showing on Thursday evening the 30th inst. It is through the generosity of Carl Laemmle that the program for the first showing of Victor Hugo's masterpiece has been arranged. Mr. Laemmle is the first film producer to tender the proceeds of a theatrical event to the veterans' mountain camp drive of the American Legion.

Carnegie Hall was chosen because of its large seating capacity.

RIN-TIN-TIN RISES TO FAME AS ACTOR

Rin-Tin-Tin, the versatile canine actor, continues to break records at the Alhambra Theater in his initial starring vehicle, "Where the North Begins," a Warner Brothers' screen classic.

The dog has securely established himself as a permanent favorite among fans and has succeeded in enshrining himself deep in the hearts of all who have witnessed his performance in this tale.

The cast includes Walter McGrail and Claire Adams. It is a Harry Rapf production and was directed by Chester M. Franklin.

"MERRY GO ROUND" STARTS THIRD WEEK

"Merry Go Round," the production which Rupert Julian directed, started its third week at the Mission Theater yesterday.

"Merry Go Round" is the first picture the Mission has played that drew a heavier attendance the second week than the first. On the same program Ben Turpin's latest comedy is having its world premiere. It is titled "Where is My Wandering Boy this Evening."

STAR IS HOST

Joe Phillips, Orpheum star, will be host tonight at the dancing contest at the Winter Garden.

B. G. C. NO. 1.

Offsetting Julian 4 and 5, and Russell well and Foster's Yankee hit what looks like the oil sands while drilling bunday at about 4600 feet deep. The ditch was full of oil all day and the well is drilling with tremendous gas pressure now. Bob Cook, our driller, put twenty-one leads of mud in the hole Saturday night to prevent a blow out. This is a small capital, one well syndicate, quick action on your money. Call or write.

APARTMENT SITE.
ON WEST WASHINGTON ST.
The highest point of elevation in Los Angeles outside the mountains. On Washington St., west of Western, on route to the beaches. A particular part of Los Angeles where all apartments built are leased before half completed at splendid rentals. Washington St. is destined to be to Los Angeles exactly what Sheridan Road is to Chicago. No street in the city has made more profits to the investor the last two years than Washington, west of Western. First-class apartments badly needed now. This street to be the big main street east and west in Los Angeles, and now being made 100 ft. wide to the Ocean, paved from curb to curb and lighted with ornamental lights all the way.
We have a lot 62 ft. on Washington, on the crest of the hill, 160 ft. in depth, and can deliver it at $300 per front foot. Wonderful site for first-class apartment. Will be double the price in 18 months. Another big lot 90 feet on Washington, 156 feet deep, at $350 front foot, 2 blocks west of Western.
We need some big apartment houses here and have the sites. Phone for appointment.

CUTICURA HEALS SCALY ECZEMA

On Brother's Face and Hands. Itched and Burned.

"My brother was bothered with eczema all his life. It broke out in a dry, scaly form on his face. Later it spread to his hands. It itched and burned causing him to scratch the affected parts, and the scratching caused eruptions. His hands pained when he put them in water.

"He began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment he was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Predia Lyons, Thurman, Iowa.

Cuticura Soap daily, with Cuticura Ointment occasionally, prevents pimples or other eruptions. They are pleasing to use, as is also Cuticura Talcum for perfuming the skin.

Sample Free by Mail. Address: "Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. X, Malden 48, Mass." Everywhere. Soap 25c. Ointment 25 and 50c. Talcum 25c. Cuticura Soap shaves without mug.

ANNEX PLANNED AT AMBASSADOR

Officer of Hotel Company Tells of Project

Here to Float Building Loans, He Says

Expresses Great Faith in Los Angeles

Tentative plans for the improvement of the Eighth-street frontage of the Ambassador, including the building of an annex, are under consideration by the Ambassador Hotel Corporation it was stated last night by S. J. T. Straus of Chicago, vice-president of S. W. Straus & Co., which firm constitutes the hotel corporation.

"The project as yet has not assumed definite form," said Mr. Straus, "but the structure we have in mind probably will add from 300 to 500 rooms to our present capacity. We have not decided just when we will begin building operations but it will be before long as the need for increased accommodations at the Ambassador is urgent, and we have had the improvement of the part of the grounds facing Eighth street under consideration for some time."

Mr. Straus, who is accompanied by Mrs. Straus, is spending a short time in Los Angeles on a vacation trip.

"My physician told me I needed a rest," he said, "and I thought I would spend it on a tour, though I must say traveling isn't the most restful occupation in the world. We came West by way of the Canadian Rockies and have spent some time in Seattle and other northern cities prior to reaching Los Angeles."

BUILDINGS FINANCED

The S. W. Straus company, which is one of the largest bond houses in the country, financed buildings throughout the country to the amount of nearly $200,000,000 last year.

"A large part of our operations was conducted here in Los Angeles," said Mr. Straus. "Thus far we have confined ourselves mainly to the financing of apartment-houses in this city, but from now on we will devote more attention to commercial enterprises. Your central manufacturing district here offers one of the best investment opportunities in the country, in my opinion. Los Angeles should develop into an important manufacturing center. You possess every advantage for making a big success in industrial lines.

"No other city in America enjoys such universal favor and is being so rapidly built up by an army of persons drawn from all walks of life. It presents to the business man, the financier, the realtor, the merchant, advantages peculiar to this city. As a financing concern, our company must exercise care before underwriting any enterprise. We have applied our test to Los Angeles, and it has made good. As a result of our loans there is under construction here at this time new buildings representing an aggregate investment of nearly $20,000,000 and before I leave I expect to approve further loans totalling several millions for more housing."

UNPRECEDENTED ACTIVITY

Speaking of building conditions throughout the country in general, Mr. Straus said that activity in this line during the past year had been unprecedented in the history of the country.

"It was brought about by the pressing need of more buildings in all sections," he said. "So far as the East is concerned, the building demand has in large measure already been met by recent construction. But it's different with you in the West. Your construction work hasn't caught up with the building needs as yet, and with the constant increase in population, especially in Southern California, it is hard to say when there will be a lull in operations.

"In the East we are now hearing talk of curtailment of building construction, but such a policy certainly would be a mistake in Los Angeles, in my opinion. The only curtailment in building that should be observed in Los Angeles, in my judgment, is to see that operations be restricted to the most needed structures. Housing certainly is needed here and Los Angeles should build homes, apartments and hotels, but of the types most generally required. Such investment in Los Angeles I regard as safe, and it should be continued.

"That the farseeing people of this city are alive to the situation existing here is evidenced by the remarkable monthly reports of new buildings activities, which established new high records with consistent regularity, a procedure that seems likely to continue."

Mr. Straus says the finances of the country never were in better condition than at present.

"Business prosperity prevails in every section," he declared, "and I can see no sign on the financial horizon indicating a flurry. The change of Presidents has not caused a ripple in the money market.

"The only situation anywhere that I know of that might be regarded with concern is the condition in Europe. Their demoralized finances over there, aside from their other difficulties, present a problem that has to be reckoned with even on this side of the water. But I am inclined to view even the European tangle with optimism. I believe the whole matter will rectify itself in time and that the final solution, whatever it may be, will be satisfactory not only to the countries involved, but to the whole world."

WOUND MAY PROVE NEMESIS

Police Expect Momentarily Arrest of Bandit Shot by Hollywood Man in Act of Rifling Auto

The arrest of the burglar who yesterday morning was shot and apparently seriously wounded by C. B. Juneau of 1543 Genessee street, Hollywood, is expected momentarily by police today.

The burglar is believed to be in urgent need of medical attention and police are convinced he will apply to some physician for treatment in a few hours. Accordingly, they have sent out a general warning to all physicians and hospitals requesting them to report any man suffering from a bullet wound who applies for treatment.

Juneau shot the bandit when the latter attempted to rifle the pockets of his automobile, parked about twenty feet from the house on the garage driveway. The burglar staggered as if struck, Juneau told the police, but despite his wound managed to escape.

A short time later Patrolman Wilson, walking his beat within a few blocks of the scene of the shooting, saw an automobile drive past him at a high rate of speed. A woman was driving the machine and at her side, with his arm about her shoulders as if for support, was a man. The man, police are convinced, is the burglar shot by Juneau and the woman, they believe, is his confederate.

Juneau stated that he was sleeping near one of the windows of his home when a noise near the garage awakened him. He looked out and saw a man going through the pockets of the car. He obtained a gun and fired through the screen of the window. Because of the short distance between the spot where the burglar stood and the fact that no bullet marks were found on the machine, police have concluded that the bullet found its mark in the burglar's back. This conclusion is strengthened by the actions of the burglar after the shooting, as described by Juneau.

A dragnet for the wounded burglar was thrown out by Hollywood police immediately after the report of the shooting was received. The entire neighborhood was combed by a squad of police under the direction of Police Sergeant Stevens, but without results.

JOURNAL OF SCHOOL OUT OF POLITICS

Pledge to That Effect Made When Association Head Asks New Contract

A pledge that the High School Journal, official publication of the High School Principals' Club, Elementary Principals' Club and the High School Teachers' Association, will stay out of politics was made to the Board of Education last night by G. I. Raybold, president of the High School Teachers' Association.

Mr. Raybold offered the pledge in asking for a renewal of the old contract to publish reports for the board. The contract offered contains the provision that there will be nothing in the journal to "approve or disapprove of any candidate for office."

Decision to stress this pledge was rendered wise and advisable, according to Mr. Raybold, due to the unhappy situation in the election last June when a list of candidates for the school board appeared in the journal as having been granted the indorsement of the teachers' association. This led to much criticism of the journal and some of the teachers active in school politics, it was stated. The board withheld action.

The board modified the recommendation of the Finance Committee for the sale of $3,850,000 worth of bonds and voted to ask the Board of Supervisors to advertise to sell bonds to total $1,960,000.

The recommendation requests the Supervisors to offer $1,200,000 worth of city school district bonds and $760,000 worth of city high school district bonds. The original recommendation was for $2,250,000 elementary and $1,600,000 high school bonds. The business manager agreed that the figure adopted will be sufficient to care for all needs until another lot may be sold.

The report of the Finance Committee showed that of the total of $17,400,000 for both elementary and high school bond issues, a total of $11,800,000 has been sold, leaving a balance unsold of $5,600,000.

Dr. Allyn Magee Is to be Buried in Glendale Today

Funeral services for Maj. Allyn Claude Magee, 46 years of age, prominent Los Angeles physician and surgeon, will be conducted at 11 o'clock this morning at Forest Lawn Cemetery, Glendale.

Dr. Magee died Saturday night at his office, 1624 West Sixth street, as the result of a sudden attack of oedema of the lungs. Drs. R. O. Sheldon and W. E. Williams, who were among his intimate friends, were called but were unable to do anything for him.

Dr. Magee was a former student of Leland Stanford University, a graduate of the Physicians' and Surgeons' College of Los Angeles and had taken a post-graduate course at Mayo Brothers. He was well-known in San Diego, where he had practiced for eight years previous to the outbreak of the World War, having served four years in the capacity of police surgeon.

In 1917 he obtained a commission and was sent to Fort Douglas, Utah, later being transferred to Fort Pike, Arkansas, and to New Orleans. During the war he contracted an asthmatic trouble from which he never fully recovered, and which was one of the causes contributing to his death.

During the past three years Dr. Magee has practiced in Los Angeles. He was a member of the Little Rock Lodge of Elks, American Legion, Athletic Club, Sunset Canyon Club, Automobile Club, City Club and the Western Golf Club.

He is survived by his widow, his father, Dr. Thomas L. Magee, Santa Fe surgeon at San Diego, and two brothers, Maj. Chester L. Magee, M.D., of San Gabriel, and Delos Magee, a San Francisco attorney.

The body is at the funeral parlors of Bresee Brothers.

Valley Water Supply Will be Curtailed

According to word emanating from the Board of Public Service Commissioners yesterday, it will be necessary to curtail the supply of aqueduct water available for irrigation purposes for the balance of the season, due to the heavy demands. The effect of the cut will be felt chiefly by the alfalfa growers of the San Fernando Valley and other points now served with city water. It is not expected that orchard irrigation will be affected.

Notices to this effect will probably be sent out to farmers today.

PROMOTER ACCUSED OF FRAUD

Oil Man Charged With Racetrack Swindle Gives Bail for $25,000

Kent Marshall, said to be a Los Angeles oil promoter, gave $25,000 bail yesterday before United States Commissioner Long on a warrant issued by a United States commissioner in New York charging him with using the mails to defraud. Marshall was out on $30,000 bail on an indictment by the United States grand jury at Miami, Fla., charging him with swindling H. M. Snyder, an attorney of Columbus, O.

His arrest yesterday is the result of a charge that he sent a check for $12,500 from Miami to New York asserted to represent the winning of a race-track fraud.

Marshall said he was willing to meet both charges, but wanted to stay in Los Angeles "while the oil game was still good."

Petitions to Recall Venice Trustee Board

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, Aug. 13.—The executive committee of the Venice Improvement Association met tonight and appointed a Committee of Seven, headed by J. J. Reynolds, to circulate recall petitions aimed at the present four members of the Board of Trustees.

They will also name four candidates who will run in opposition to the present holders of the office. The Board of Trustees as it stands since resignation of Mayor John Harrah is as follows: C. Holbrook, Edward Gerety, Fred Church and William T. Luts. The petitions for recall will be circulated on the streets tomorrow.

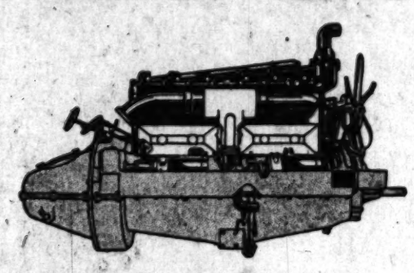
PIERCE



In the Pierce-Arrow six-cylinder engine, dual-valves admit a maximum explosive charge and, after the explosion completely exhaust the dead gases.

Dual ignition—two simultaneous sparks in each cylinder—"rushes" the explosion. A more powerful blow and a complete burning of the gas result.

What 22 years have taught us

Pierce-Arrow has been building automobiles for twenty-two years; has seen every development in motor car practice; has fully investigated and tested every type of engine from one to twelve cylinders. These experiments have always been made with Pierce-Arrow's money; never with the public's.

Today the six-cylinder is the standard, accepted engineering practice. Less than six means far less flexibility; more means lowered fuel efficiency and greater complication without proportionate increase in flexibility or power.

Pierce-Arrow pioneered the "six" nearly twenty years ago and concentrated upon its development. Two almost revolutionary features—dual valves and dual ignition—are the result.

What do these features mean?—what do they add? By actual test, just this: power far beyond the rating of the engine—fifty per cent greater hill climbing ability—twenty per cent saving in gasoline—unparalleled flexibility—quicker acceleration.

We invite you to ride in or drive the modern Pierce-Arrow car with this Dual-Valve, Dual-Ignition Engine. A request is all that is necessary.
